Ask Citizens of Newton to Join New Organization

Information On Government to Be Given by U. S. Society

This week thousands of Newton citizens have received letters asking them to become members of the "United States Society." This society has been organized to keep the people of this country informed on government affairs. It is planned to send out 15,000 letters to Newtonians, Mayor Sinclair Weeks is Chairman of the Society for Massachusetts and Charles B. Floyd of Abundant is chairman for Newton. The committee of sponsors for Newton includes the following—Walter R. Amesbury, William B. Baker, Henry M. Bliss, C. Raymond Cabot, Victor M. Cutter, Ralph C. Henry, Maynard Hutchinson, Philip S. Jamieson, Charles B. Jones, Irving U. Palmer, H. Philip Patey, Norman F. Pratt, R. L. Richardson, Leverett Saltonstall, Mrs. Richard M. Saltonstall, George M. Sneath, Robert A. Whidden.

The circulars being sent out by this organization state that it will distribute bulletins on governmental matters to schools, colleges, industrial plants and societies; that it aims to make governmental affairs more intelligible to every citizen; that it pays no salaries to officers, espouses no cause, is strictly non-partisan and will spread facts and not propaganda.

WEST NEWTON STORE BURGLARIZED

The drug store of Herman Spaulding at 1439 Washington street, West Newton was broken into early Saturday morning; entrance being effected through a rear window in the basement. The thief stole $20 in cash, three fountain pens and other articles. The burglar apparently cut his hand entering the store and bound the cut with gauze taken from a shelf in the store.

Fatal Auto Accident At Chestnut Hill

Half-Mile From Scene of Fatal Crash Few Weeks Ago

About half a mile from where a Newton Centre couple met their deaths a few weeks ago, as a result of an automobile accident, more reckless driving caused the instant death of a young woman about 2:30 a. m. Memorial Day. The girl killed was Natalie Young, 23, who had been residing at 2 Marlboro street, Boston. She was a passenger in a touring car operated by Charles F. Leach, 21, of 206 Beethoven avenue, Waban. Others in the car were Lucy Campbell, 24, a roommate of the Young girl; Agnes Nylén, 23, of Harvard avenue, Allston, and James Shaw, 24, of 619 Chestnut street, Waban.

Patrolman McCormick was standing at the police box at the corner of Beacon and Hammond street, Chestnut Hill, when he saw the car driven by Leach whizz by at high speed towards Boston. The car, operated on the wrong side of the road, crashed head on into a huge milk truck owned by the Deerfoot Farms of Southboro and operated by Charles Messier of Marlboro. McCormick pulled an ambulance call and rushed to the scene at Beacon street, near Lawrence avenue. The car had been reduced to a twisted mass. The left front wheel of the big truck had been knocked off. The Young girl had been hurled from the car and instantly killed. The victims of the crash were rushed to the Newton Hospital. It was found that the Campbell girl had received fractures of the jaw, nose and left leg; Shaw had a fractured skull and a double fracture of the left leg; the Nylén girl had escaped with slight injuries; and Leach escaped with bruises and cuts. After he had been treated at the hospital, he was arrested on the charges of drunkenness and driving while under the influence of liquor. He was released on $600 bail. He was arraigned in the Newton court on Tuesday and his bail increased to $1100. No manslaughter charge was preferred against him, and his case was continued until June 27.

William Bittenbender of Plymouth road, Newton Highlands, told the police that before the accident happened he was driving westerly along Beacon street and had been forced to leave the road, almost hitting a tree, to avoid the car which Leach was operating on the wrong side of the road.

CITY MUST PAY $2000 FOR BROKEN ANKLE

Annie L. Wilbur, of 25 Highland avenue, Newtonville, was awarded $2000 by a jury at the Middlesex Superior Court in Cambridge last Friday. Mrs. Wilbur, age 59, fell on April 7, 1928 while crossing Walnut street, near Madison avenue. She broke an ankle and later entered a claim against the city alleging that a defect in the street caused her to fall. The Board of Aldermen of that year gave leave to withdraw to Mrs. Wilbur's claim, as is done in practically every like claim entered against the city. Mrs. Wilbur engaged an attorney and brought suit against the city.

Memorial Day Parade With Usual Exercises

Covers Longest Route in Several Years

The parade on Memorial Day was impressive. Starting at Elks' Home, Newton Corner; the line of march was the longest in years. By way of Centre, Homer and Walnut streets, the parade proceeded to Newton Cemetery. It was headed by Mayor Weeks as Chief Marshal; Francis Barry, Chief of Staff; Leonard Boyd, Adjutant General. The rapid passing of the survivors of the Civil War was evidenced by the few G. A. R. men in the parade. These included Curtis Abbott, William H. Ayres, Leonard Boyd, George Fiske, Otis Gray, Charles Moore. Familiar figures who participated in parades in years past were missing.

The customary exercises were conducted at the cemetery, including a prayer read by Carolyn Beckwith of the Daughters of Veterans; Lincoln's Gettysburg address, read by Adolph Langow; General Logan's address on the founding of the G. A. R., read by Francis Barry, and the placing of wreaths at the Soldiers' Monument. Following the exercises, the parade proceeded along Walnut street to Washington Park where it passed Gov. John A. Andrew Home, occupied by Civil War veterans and their wives; thence along Washington street where it was reviewed by the Chief Marshal and staff near the fire station. The parade disbanded at the State Armory. Because of the need of relieving the unemployed, no lunch was provided for the marchers, as has been done in former years.

MRS. A. E. CUNNINGHAM TENT 2, D. OF V. OF C. W.

Sunday, May 22, at the Elliot Church Newton, Memorial services were held in honor of Chas. Ward Post 62, G. A. R., and their allied orders. Members of Mrs. A. E. Cunningham Tent 2, D. of V., and W. E. Edmonds Camp 31, S. of V., attended Sunday evening, May 29th. The D. of V. were at the several Fire Stations in the Newtons and made up requests for the decoration of G. A. R. comrades graves the order in which they will march in the parade is as follows: John W. Weeks, Band; John W. Weeks, Drum and Bugle Corps; Levi E. Warren, Drum and Bugle Corps; Levi E. Warren Drum Corps; Frank A. Day, Band; Frank A. Day Drum and Bugle Corps; High School Band. Each band will be easily distinguished by its colors and banners. The Weeks Junior High will be attired in buff and blue; Warren in red and gold; the Day in blue and gray; and the High School in orange and black. The parade will be led by the Chief of Police, and each school band will have its own drum major and director at its head. The Concert will start at four o'clock on Dickinson Field.

WANT OLD BARN REMOVED

A petition has been presented to the Newton Board of Aldermen by a number of Ward 7 residents asking that a large barn on the Whittemore estate between Washington street and Whittemore road, Newton be razed as it is alleged to be an eyesore and a fire hazard. The barn in former years was used to provide quarters for a herd of cows. The signers of the petition live on Whittemore road.

VACCINATIONS

In order to complete the vaccination of the large number of children who need this treatment before the hot weather begins Dr. Fred M. Lowe, City Physician, will devote the forenoon of each day from Monday, June 6 to Monday, June 13 inclusive to this work. Children should go to his office in City Hall at nine o'clock. There will be no vaccinations in July.

School Band Festival to Be Held June 7th

Junior and Senior High School Bands to Demonstrate

The Department of Instrumental Music of the Newton public school system will give its annual public entertainment at the Dickinson Stadium at three o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, June 7. All the Junior and the Senior high school bands will participate in this event for which they have been in training for the past school year. The concert will be under the direction of Charles R. Spalding, Supervisor of Instrumental music in the Newton public schools, assisted by A. D. Parker, C. F. Lower, and F. A. Tanner.

The Demonstration will start with a parade of all the participating musical organizations, as follows: They will assemble on Elm road, by the High School grounds and will parade down Lowell avenue to Washington street; Washington street to Walnut street as far as the Claffin School; down Washington Park past the Veterans' Home to Cabot Street; returning to Walnut street and by the reviewing stand at the corner of Elm road and Washington street; thence to the Dickinson Stadium where a concert will be given by all the bands.

The organizations taking part and the order in which they will march in the parade is as follows: John W. Weeks, Band; John W. Weeks, Drum and Bugle Corps; Levi E. Warren, Drum and Bugle Corps; Levi E. Warren Drum Corps; Frank A. Day, Band; Frank A. Day Drum and Bugle Corps; High School Band. Each band will be easily distinguished by its colors and banners. The Weeks Junior High will be attired in buff and blue; Warren in red and gold; the Day in blue and gray; and the High School in orange and black. The parade will be led by the Chief of Police, and each school band will have its own drum major and director at its head. The Concert will start at four o'clock on Dickinson Field.

TO SPEAK ON CONVENTION

A meeting of the Republican Club of Newton is being planned for Tuesday evening, June 21st, at eight o'clock. The meeting will be held in the Assembly Hall of the High School at Newtonville. Mayor Sinclair Weeks, a delegate from the ninth district to the coming Republican National Convention in Chicago, will be the principal speaker. He will give an account of the convention activities. Efforts are also being made to obtain motion pictures of the convention.

COUNTRY DAY SCHOOL TO CELEBRATE 25TH BIRTHDAY

The Country Day School for Boys of Boston on Nonantum Hill in Newton will celebrate its twenty-fifth anniversary next Wednesday evening, June 8th, at a dinner to be given at the Somerset Hotel, Boston, in honor of Shirley K. Kerns, headmaster and founder.

The Country Day school was founded in 1907 by Mr. Kerns, a graduate of Harvard in the class of 1898 and was modeled after the plan of the Gilman Country School in Baltimore where Mr. Kerns was at one time a master of English. He was acting headmaster in 1900 and later became master at Middlesex School until he left to found the Country Day School. Mr. Kerns will be one of the speakers at the dinner.

Commencement at Various Schools Of Local Interest

Nurses' School, Theological School and Private Schools

Thirty-two diplomas were awarded the members of the graduating class of the Nurses' Training School of the Newton Hospital at its commencement exercises held yesterday. Miss Dorothy M. Whitten of Manchester was awarded the fellowship of the Hospital Aid Association, which amounts to $250, and undergraduate scholarships were awarded Marjorie Rhodes of Attleboro and Hazel Keith of West Acton.

Rev. Ashley Day Leavitt, D.D., of Brookline, was the graduation speaker and complimented the class upon their choice of a profession. Mr. Edward J. Frost, President of the Board of Trustees, presented the diplomas and Miss Nell A. Hostetter, R.N., Superintendent of Nurses, presented the graduates their pins. Miss Mary Riddle presented the scholarships. The exercises, following a time honored custom, were held in a large tent on the hospital grounds.

Commencement week at the hospital began last Friday, May 27, with the Alumni Picnic held at Cedar Hill in honor of the Graduating Class. On Sunday evening the Baccalaureate services were held and the Rev. Dwight Bradley of the First Congregational Church of Newton Centre delivered the sermon. The week closed last evening with a Graduation Party held in honor of the Seniors at Woodland Hall.

The members of the graduating class are: Grace Pehrson, Dorothy M. Whitten, Mildred A. Gerow, Daisy G. Abbott, Mary V. Holland, Constance Hart, Priscilla M. Marshall, Lempi M. Stevanen, Muriel C. Butler, Ruth M. Meade, M. Doris Johnson, Grace L. Holden, Evelyn F. Morris, Gladys Ekman, Ruth V. Wilson, Margaret L. Foley, Ethel E. Murphy, Parise E. Padis, Ruth M. Burr, Edith R. Rediker, Lillian Foster, Helen M. Davis, Lucy R. Kirkpatrick, Kathleen B. Fox, Kathleen Scott, Claire Eaton, I. Myrtle Wilbur, Benita Kinney, Frances L. White, Muriel M. Carson, Lucy E. Lombard, Anna M. Foye.

COMMENCEMENT AT ANDOVER-NEWTON

Arrangements are completed for the first commencement exercises of Andover-Newton Theological School, Andover Theological Seminary founded in 1807 and Newton Theological School founded in 1825 were affiliated in 1931.

The anniversaries start with the baccalaureate service on Sunday, June 5 at 4:00 p. m. at the First Baptist Meeting House, Newton Centre. President Everett C. Herrick will preach the baccalaureate sermon, the subject being "Christ Possessed Men." The academic procession will start from Colby Hall on Andover-Newton Hill, preceding the service.

On Tuesday, the 7th, the alumni of the two oldest theological seminaries in America will be present from many parts of the country and of the world. Separate business meetings will be held by the two societies of Alumni at 10:30. At 11:30 the group will convene in the chapel to hear the address of the Rev. John Wright Buckham, D.D., Professor of Philosophy in the Pacific School of Religion, and an alumnus of Andover. His subject will be "Exploring Personality." Among his best known books are "Progressive Religious Thought in America" and "Personality and Psychology."

A luncheon for alumni and their guests will be held at the Newton Centre Woman's clubhouse. In the afternoon at 3:30 the Rev. Maurice A. Levy, D.D., pastor of the First Baptist Church, Pittsfield, Mass., and a graduate of Newton, 1900 and former member of the Board of Trustees, will speak on "The Range of Faith." Wednesday, the 8th is commencement day. Degrees and diplomas will be awarded to 31 candidates. The exercises will be held in the auditorium of the First Baptist Meeting House. There will be addresses by the graduates and the address to the class of 1932 will be made by Prof. Charles M. McConnell of Boston University and Washington-Norton Theological School. The exercises will be followed by the trustees' luncheon at the Newton Centre Woman's clubhouse, at which several distinguished guests will be present.

The events of the week will be concluded by a reception at 4:00 p. m. at the President's House. President and Mrs. Herrick and Dean and Mrs. Dabney will receive the graduates, guests and friends.

COMMENCEMENT AT DAMON HALL

The festivities of this gala week began with the Tea Dance last Saturday afternoon from four to seven-thirty o'clock. The seventy-five couples of young people participating divided their attention between the dancing and their enjoyment of the rare trees and shrubs in full bloom. At three o'clock Sunday afternoon, the Baccalaureate Service was opened by the strains of wonderful music tendered by an orchestra of symphony players under the direction of Bertram Currier. The address "Americans and Culture" was delivered by the President.

The Art Exhibit was thrown open to the guests at half past four, in the Austrian Room, and was pronounced a very unusual exhibition of talent and skill. President and Mrs. Damon were assisted at the Tea by several well-known people of Boston and Lexington.

Both boys will receive the insignia of a Representative DeMolay which is in the form of a pin to be worn on the coat lapel.

The principal event on Monday was the annual Alumnae Luncheon and Initiation of Graduates. Mrs. Wilbur Richards the Permanent Secretary acted as toastmistress in the absence of the President.

The Alumnae voted to present a silver athletic Trophy Cup to Damon Hall as a stimulus to the spirit of athletics.

Tuesday evening, at the Hunnewell Club, the Damon Hall Players under the direction of Mrs. Joan Damon Richards gave a very splendid presentation of Louisa May Alcott's "Little Women" with a full cast, and specially constructed scenery and appropriate costumes.

Wednesday saw the Class Day exercises at ten o'clock followed by the Commencement Exercises at eleven-thirty.

The former included some unusual features that made a strong appeal to the large number of guests present. In addition to the usual Class Day exercises, there was the presentation of the Alumnae Athletic Trophy, a matter of great interest to the student body.

This was followed by the planting of an Elm tree presented to Damon Hall by the Ladies Association of Mount Vernon. This tree was propagated from one on the estate in Washington's time and it was planted in earth from that shrine of patriotism. This ceremony was concluded by the unveiling of a boulder and tablet suitably engraved.

The third notable feature of the Class Day Exercises was the presentation of the Class Gift to Damon Hall, a magnificent flag pole and the raising of the Stars and Stripes by His Honor, Mayor Sinclair Weeks, to the strains of the National Anthem played by the Symphony Orchestra players, after which the mayor made a brilliant address, in which he drew a parallel between the depression in the early days of our government, the faith of Washington and his associates, and the need today of a similar faith. The mayor concluded amidst a burst of tremendous, spontaneous applause.

The Commencement Exercises began with the Academic Procession, lead by the members of the Junior Class bearing a laurel chain.

Then the Graduating Class in academic garb, followed by Alumnae, Faculty and distinguished guests.

The Commencement Address was given by no less a personage than the distinguished Dr. Tehyi Hsieh known the world over as the "Teddy Roosevelt of China." His brilliant oratory, in the words of the reporters "Evoked a tumultuous ovation."

The diplomas to the sixteen young women were presented by the President of the institution. For the third time Damon Hall conferred the title of Associate in Arts, this time upon Miss Dorothy L. Woodberry, the Director of the Department of Design.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

WALTHAM DEFEATS
NEWTON; SCORE 5-2

Although continually applying the pressure Newton High failed to hit in the pinches last Friday and Benny Martowski of Waltham and his mates returned to the Watch City with a well-deserved 5 to 2 victory. The visitors nipped Phil Giles for six hits in six innings, bunching three in the fourth inning for two runs to tie the score and putting two together in the succeeding inning for another tally to take the lead. In the ninth, with Choquette pitching, three hits produced two more tallies to clinch the game. Newton found Martowski for six hits but they were scattered through five innings, only two coming together in the third in which the home team scored twice for its only runs. Martowski's six passes kept him in considerable hot water but he managed to pull the chestnuts out of the fire.

Newton's two tallies in the third came with one down, Chapman being grounded out via third. Giles was safe at first when Barrows, Waltham second baseman, threw a little wide to pull Lando off the base. Mullen beat out a bunt and Terry came through with a single to score Giles. Mullen taking third. Huston fled to left and Mullen trotted home after the catch. In the first of the fourth, Waltham tied it up. Martowski singled to left and went all the way to third when Mullen booted the ball. Burke beat out a grounder to Huston and stole second. Lando fanned but Murphy singled to left centre to bring home the tying tallies. Killian speared Fahey's fly over his shoulder for the third out.

In the fifth Goode singled to centre and Parker duplicated the blow putting Goode on third. Collura smashed one at Huston which bounced off the latter's glove to Killian who nailed the runner at first although Goode scored. In the ninth the other two Waltham tallies came on a single by Murphy, a safe bunt by Fahey, a sacrifice by Goode, and a single to right by Parker.

Newton got several runners on base after the third through passes and singles but all efforts to work them around failed as Martowski bore down under pressure. The Waltham victory was the first on Newton territory since 1924 and is but the third in the last ten years of competition. Incidentally Martowski got sweet revenge for the lacing the Newton team gave him a year ago in knocking him out of the box.

CLIMBS TO TIE FOR FIRST PLACE

Our Lady High School's baseball team climbed into a tie for first place in the Greater Boston Catholic High School league standing Wednesday by blanking the league leading Immaculate Conception High nine of eleven, 13 to 0 at Victory Field. Jimmy Moran was in great form for the locals, allowing but five singles, three of which came in the ninth. He fanned eight and passed five.

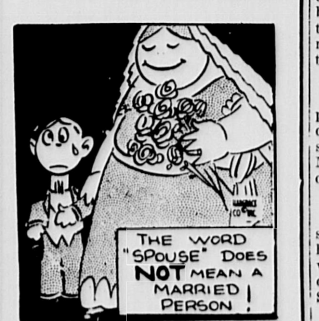

The Newton team started out in the first inning for the victory with Lombardi, the first man at bat, poling a home run over the centrefielder's head into the street. Three more tallies were chalked up before the side was retired to give Our Lady a four run lead. This margin was increased by two more in the second, five in the fifth and a final two-run rally in the seventh. Steve MacLean led the local attack with four hits in four trips to the plate with Tabaldi and Moran close behind with three hits in five attempts.

Our Lady found little difficulty in defeating St. John's High of Cambridge on the holiday at Russell Field, Cambridge, with Jimmy Murphy holding the Cantabs to three hits. He fanned nine and passed seven. The locals staged a game-winning rally of six runs in the seventh inning to set the final score at 8 to 2. O'Connell led the Newton batters with three singles in four trips to the plate while Murphy's three-base blow was the longest hit of any Newton player. Borges hit a triple as one of the three hits off Murphy for St. John's. Our Lady picked up a run in the third and another in the fourth to take a lead which St. John's did not touch in the sixth with a single tally. Our Lady then chalked up its six more tallies while St. John's picked up its second tally in the seventh.

CANTABS POUND
NEWTON HURLERS

The Newton High baseball team tumbled into second place in the Suburban league standing on Tuesday when the Cambridge Latin nine slammed the offerings of the two Newton southpaws, Tommy Rhodes and Cliff Choquette, to eight hits and eleven runs in two innings. Phil Giles was rushed into the breach to be greeted by a single to score the Cantab's twelfth tally. Thereafter Giles held the Cantabs in the hollow of his hand, only two other runners getting as far as second. Meanwhile Captain John "Mugsy" Kelly of Cambridge had the Newtonites eating out of his hands. He chalked up eleven strikeouts, allowed by three hits, and issued three passes in the six innings he worked. Only one Newton runner got as far as the keystone sack. Anderson, a sophomore, pitched the last three frames and held Newton hitless. Only one runner reached second while he was on the mound.

Newton went down in order in the first three innings with Killian the only player to get through a pass. He was doubled off second on a fly to right field. Huston's single with two out in the fourth was wasted as Houghton fanned. Kevorkian's pass in the fifth put him on but Kelly fanned three and he was stranded. Mullen and Terry singled in succession in the sixth with one down but to no avail. Anderson then took over the job. The only man to get on base in the next three innings was Giles, who drew a walk and took second on a passed ball.

All the run-scoring was over before two were out in the third. A fast double play in the first stopped a Cantab threat. Crawley had beaten out a hit to Huston, who missed the runner by inches after making a remarkable stop of the ball and LaRonde lined to Huston, with Crawley being doubled at first. In the second it was a merry-go-round. A single and a hit batsman put two men. Hopkins fouled out to Lyons on an attempted bunt but McMahon doubled and Galluccio, Kelly and Crawley singled to chase four runs over and leave two runners on bases, as Choquette relieved Rhodes. LaRonde fanned for the second out. Powers hit a home run to centre to score three more tallies and Rudgis, up for the second time in the inning was thrown out by Killian to stop the slaughter.

In the third a pass, a double, another pass, and a second home run off Choquette scored four more runs. An infield out, a pass and a hit batsman put two more runners on and Choquette was chased. Giles taking up the burden with the score 11 to 0. Powers singled to score the 12th run. Rudgis forced Powers at second and the other base runner was caught at the plate, ending the rally.

Newton missed an easy triple play in the seventh. Galluccio had gotten a life when Giles fumbled his bunt. Kelly dropped a Texas leaguer in left. Crawley lined out to Huston who tossed to Killian at second, doubling Galluccio. Kelly was twenty feet off first but Killian's throw went over Houghton's head.

Outstanding in Newton's defeat was Huston's play at short. He accepted ten of eleven chances without an error, several being remarkable stops on which he nailed the runner by perfect pegs. His one error came on a Kelly grounder which he fumbled momentarily and Kelly, a fast runner, just reached first by inches. Huston started both the Newton double plays and on two other occasions missed the runner at first by an instant after making pretty stops of two grounders on either side of him.

As Somerville defeated Brookline by a 5 to 1 score with Danny Lynch pitching hitless ball for the 1931 champions the Dickerman outfit moved up into a tie for first place with Cambridge. Each has ten points through its five victories while the Cantabs have lost but two as against Somerville's three. The Cantabs meet Rindge this afternoon and a victory will bring them the championship. A defeat by Rindge would leave Cambridge and Somerville tied and would give Newton a chance to make it a triple tie with a victory over Brookline at Clafin Field this afternoon in the closing game of the season.

Recent Weddings

LEIGHTON-LOVELAND

Miss Elizabeth Loveland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Herbert Loveland of 20 Rutland road, Newton, was married to Dr. William Fiske Leighton, son of Mrs. Charles Leighton of Portland, Maine, and the late Dr. Leighton, on Saturday afternoon, May twenty-eighth, at two o'clock in the Central Congregational Church, Chatham, Mass. Dr. Edward H. Sullivan performed the ceremony. The bride wore a lace gown of egg-shell tint with a train and a lace cap from which fell a tulle veil, which had also been worn by her mother and her sister. Her bouquet was of lilies of the valley. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. David Whiting, Jr., of Providence, Rhode Island, who wore chartreuse green crepe with sash of cerise velvet and hat of chartreuse. Her bouquet was of cerise colored tulips.

Lawrence Leighton, brother of the groom, was the best man. The ushers were David Whiting, Jr., of Providence, R. I., Reginald Swett of Longmeadow, Robert Brock of Worcester, and Richard Chapman of Portland, Maine.

The decorations at the church were of apple blossoms and peonies massed with pine and cedar trees. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Eastward Ho! Country Club.

On their return from a motor trip to Canada, Dr. and Mrs. Leighton will reside at 261 Benefit street, Providence, R. I., where they will be at home after July first.

The bride studied at the Wykeham Rise School in Washington, Conn., and is a graduate of Miss May's in Boston.

Dr. Leighton is a graduate of Bowdoin College, class of 1928 and completed his medical course at Tufts College this year.

PICKARD-ADLARD

Miss Adele Charlotte Adlard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Adlard of West Newton, became the bride of Herbert Thompson Pickard of Dorchester at a ceremony performed in the Second Church in Newton by the Rev. Boynton Merrill at 8 o'clock last evening. The bride was given in marriage by her father, and a reception followed in the church parlors, which were decorated with spring flowers.

Mrs. Frederick G. Bossert of Newton Centre was matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Naomi Andrews of Marblehead; Mrs. Frederick L. Adlard, West Newton, a sister-in-law of the bride; Mrs. Donald K. Mason, South Paris, Me.; Mrs. R. Alfred Stimets, West Newton; Miss Dorothy Tichnor, Chestnut Hill, and Miss Wilhelmina Adlard, a niece of the bride.

Frederick G. Bossert of Newton Centre was best man. The ushers included Hanford I. Pickard of Dorchester, a brother of the bridegroom; R. Norman Clark, W. Hartford, Ct.; Frederick McGall, Dorchester; Charles K. Frost, Wollaston, and R. Alfred Stimets and J. Walter McKelquist of West Newton. The Misses Priscilla Adlard and Shirley Frost were flower girls, and the ring bearer was Calvin Clark, a nephew of the bride.

The bridal dress was of ivory taffeta with a Duchesse yoke and sleeves, with veil and cap of tulle and Duchesse lace trimmed with orange blossoms. The bouquet was of Johanna Hill roses, lilies of the valley and garrigue for a bus at Washington and Prospect streets. Cooper was taken to the Newton Hospital.

A car driven by John F. Marcel of Harold terrace, West Newton, hit Anthony Rizzo of 65 Border street, West Newton, on Tuesday night as Rizzo was crossing Elm street, West Newton, near River street. Rizzo was taken to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance and it was feared he might have a skull fracture.

Day Jr. High School

On May 28, 1932 Katherine Dempsey presented the last of the weekly broadcasts until next fall. She opened the program with her cheery "Good Morning" and then presented the news of the week.

Our Band participated in the field day of the elementary grades on May 24th at Dickinson Stadium. Everyone was thoroughly pleased with exhibitions of the primary grades. It consisted of dances, games, drills, marching and all sorts of exercises and stunts.

The Day Band with Marjorie Gilbert, drum major and Mr. F. A. Tanner, director, will also participate in the parade and music festival at the high school on June 7th.

The ninth grade science classes have planted a Norway maple on the school grounds. The signatures of all members of the class were put in a bottle, and placed in the earth with the tree.

The Day Tennis team lost to the High School Junior Varsity team 6-0. The results were as follows: Spurrer defeated Caruso 6-2, 7-5; Phillips defeated Currie 6-1, 6-3; Higgins defeated Jarrell 6-0, 6-0; Ellis defeated Daniels 6-0, 6-1. In the doubles: Frazier and Cramm defeated Caruso and Currie 6-3, 4-6, 6-4; Cobb and Randolph defeated Huling and VanderWyk 6-4, 6-1. On Monday the team finished its match with Warren by winning two out of three matches of doubles.

On May 27th the Varsity Baseball team met its second defeat of the year at Cabot Park at the hands of the Levi Warren players. Although the Day boys out-hit the Warrenites, they were out-scored 9-3.

Memorial Day Exercises

There were readings on the subject of Memorial Day by John W. Weeks, General Pershing and Abbie Farwell Brown by Fred Fox, Barbara Collins and Grace Rangow.

In conclusion "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" and "The Star Spangled Banner" by a saxophone sextette.

The boys of the seventh grade Practical Arts course are taking a course in cooking. The main object of this five-week course is to teach the boys how to prepare camping foods. They meet once a week and so far have made crispy bacon and toast. In due time they will prepare baked, boiled, and fried potatoes, along with other camp foods. Such knowledge should prove useful in the future.

ANZIVINO, ESCAPED PRISONER, CAPTURED

John Anzivino, 25, of Columbia avenue, Newton Upper Falls, one of four prisoners who escaped from Middlesex County Jail at Billerica on March 7, was captured at Springfield early yesterday morning. A few days ago Anzivino returned to Needham to visit his wife and the Newton police learned that he was in the vicinity. While they were searching for him on Tuesday night an automobile owned by Pasquale DiSabato of 301 Boylston street, Newton Centre, was stolen and information of the theft broadcast.

Wednesday the number plates from this car were found on another car at Charlestown. The numbers of the second set of plates were then broadcast to police and at 3 yesterday morning Anzivino and a companion giving the name of Ernest LaRue of Jersey City were captured by Springfield police when the stolen car stalled in that city. Serg. Crowley with Patrolmen Greeley and Turner went to Springfield and brought the pair back to Newton. They will be in the Newton Court today.

DRIVER INVOLVED IN POLLARD TRAGEDY ON TRIAL

George Heuser, 22, of Rosindale, driver of the car that collided with the car of Frederick Pollard, Jr., on May 11 at Commonwealth avenue, Brighton, resulting in the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Pollard and a companion of Heuser's, is on trial at the Brighton court today. The trial started yesterday. A witness testified that Heuser was so drunk at a party in a Cochituate camp on the night of the fatality, that he tried to set the cottage afire. Another witness testified that prior to the accident he had seen Heuser's car being driven zigzag along a road at a speed of 70 miles. A third witness testified that Heuser was driving at a high speed along Commonwealth avenue on the extreme left of the road just before the crash with Pollard's car.

OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

The Seventy-first Anniversary observance of the founding of the North Congregational Sunday School, together with the annual Children's Day exercises, will be held next Sunday evening, June 5, at 6:30 o'clock in the church auditorium, Chapel street near California.

The morning service begins at 10:45 with sermon by the pastor, Rev. E. E. Buchelder. Subject—"Resting on Sure Foundations." Special music by male quartet.

COMMONWEALTH COUNTRY CLUB

Scraps of Humor

PRETTY APOLOGY

Coleridge, whenever he read a book, would write in the margin any thought that might occur to him.

In one of the books which he borrowed from Charles Lamb (a copy of Donne's poems) appears this glimmer, at least, of conscience:

"I shall die soon, my dear Charles Lamb, and then you will not be angry that I have bescribbled your book."—Golden Book Magazine.

All for the Best

"A woman has no sense of humor," said the man who assumes a superior pose.

"Did you ever watch a man propose?" asked Miss Cayenne.

"Then you don't realize that a feminine appreciation of the humorous would overcrowd the world with splinters."—Washington Star.

An Old Trick

A bridegroom of seventy-five, marrying his third wife, was called upon to sign the register.

The pen was a bad one, and, after making several attempts to sign, he said to the clerk:

"This is the third or fourth time you've played me this trick. Next time I'll bring my fountain pen!"

LIKE THE CAT

Jack—See this engagement ring? I call it "the cat."
Ferd—Why so?
Jack—Because it always comes back.

That's the Spirit

Let others listen to:
The ghost that talks;
Our interest is confined
To the one that walks.

A Model Car

Heck—What kind of a car does Sutfin drive?

Toon—I think it's a Regulator.

Heck—What kind of a car is a Regulator?

Toon—One that all the others go by.

Satisfied With Less

"You sometimes find a pearl in an oyster stew," remarked the waiter, pleasantly.

But the customer only grunted.

"I'm looking for oysters."—Oil Weekly.

Domestic Censor

Teacher (who has found Tommy out before)—Did your father write this essay on "Why I love teacher?"

Tommy—No he didn't; mother stopped him.—Boston Transcript.

That Guilty Feeling

"My dear, that gown is perfectly stunning! Does your husband know you've bought it?"

"Well, he stayed out all night. He knows I've bought something!"

A Gentle Hint

Reggie—You say you detest Lewis?

Did he lend you the $5 you asked him for?

Clarence—Yes, but he lent me his memory course along with it.

ALL GOOD POINTS

"Mr. Porcupine is a wonderful fellow, isn't he?"

"You're right! He hasn't a single weak point."

Has Been

Mary had a little cat,
It warbled like Caruso.
A neighbor swung a baseball bat
And now it doesn't do so.

Some Lad!

Clara—So George is in love with you! The poor fish!

Mae—Well, I wish he was a devil fish so he'd have six more arms, that's all!

Following Directions

Mrs. Overwaite—Why are you sitting on the floor?
Overwaite—The doctor told me to touch it ten times every morning.

ENTERTAINS D. A. R. CHAPTER

Mrs. Charles W. Johnson, 85 High street, Newton Upper Falls, entertained Minute Men Chapter, D. A. R., of which she has been chaplain the past two years, at luncheon last Friday. Miss Caroline Johnson also a member of the chapter and Mr. Johnson helped to make the affair a success. Mrs. Frank Jones and Mrs. Delbert Blois also assisted.

The occasion was the Annual Meeting and a large number sat down to the tables spread with many good things. After the sumptuous and delicious luncheon had been enjoyed a short Board meeting was held. Two flags were floating in the breeze as the company gathered and a silk flag made by Mrs. C. A. Drake of Auburn-dale and presented on the 30th anniversary of the Chapter was used for the "Salute to the Flag" which is always a part of the opening exercises. Mrs. Drake who has been a member for many years made the flag herself. On the new list of officers for 1932-33, Mrs. Drake has been elected Custodian Mrs. Walter A. Read, niece of Mrs. Johnson has been made auditor.

The Regent, Mrs. Andrew H. Paterson, presided. Several names were presented to become members as soon as they were accepted by the National Society, among these Mrs. Mabel Storey Sewall of Needham. Other Needham members are Mrs. Harry M. Lyman who is to be the Corresponding Secretary for the coming year and Mrs. Fred L. Greely the newly elected Registrar.

The Founder of Minute Men Chapter, Mrs. Ralph M. Kirtland of Malden was made honorary regent; a motion made by Mrs. Arthur E. Barter whose fine words of appreciation had unanimous acceptance by the members. A beautiful bouquet of flowers was given Mrs. Kirtland, who has just been honored by the presidency of the Founders' Club of the Massachusetts D. A. R.

Flowers were given the retiring regent and the incoming regent. They were presented by Miss Caroline Johnson. An ex-regent Miss Lillian B. Mathewson for the chapter pinned an ex-regent's badge upon Mrs. Paterson who had relinquished the regent's badge to Mrs. George A. Thompson of Norfolk who is to preside for the coming year.

Among the reports of the afternoon were those of committee chairman, the account of the proceedings of Continental Congress in Washington given very interestingly by Mrs. Thompson, and a report on the Regional Meetings held near Boston by Mrs. Warren H. Gleason of Arlington, who was a former regent.

LYDIA PARTRIDGE WHITING CHAPTER, D. A. R.

The annual meeting of the Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter, D. A. R., took place at the home of Mrs. Sanford Thompson on Walnut street, Newton Highlands, May 24, 1932, with the Regent, Mrs. Albion Brown presiding.

After the usual opening exercises, the reports of officers and standing committees were read after which the following officers were elected for the coming year:

Regent, Mrs. Albion Brown; Vice Regent, Mrs. Frank A. Shute; Chaplain, Mrs. Wm. K. Crosby; Rec. Sec., Mrs. Charles E. Beane; Cor. Sec., Mrs. Richard A. Cody; Treasurer, Mrs. Myron Gidycz; Registrar, Mrs. Frank Warren; Historian, Mrs. Sanford Thompson; Curator, Mrs. William Dorr; Directors, Mrs. Stephen Smith, Miss Harrie M. Ward, Mrs. Harris Langley.

Nominating Committee—Chairman, Mrs. Chas. E. Beane; Mrs. James K. Hemphill, Mrs. Henry Wardwell, Mrs. Edward O. Kenney, Miss Adelaide Webster.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served in the dining room. Those in charge were Miss Adelaide Webster, chairman; Miss K. W. George, Mrs. A. L. King, Mrs. E. S. Rice, Mrs. E. F. Elliott, Mrs. T. W. Collins, Mrs. W. F. Buck.

MINUTE MEN CHAPTER, D. A. R.

The members are invited for an Outing at Mrs. Thompson's home on June 24. The meeting closed with the singing of the hymn, "God Be With Us Till We Meet Again," and all joined in thanking the Johnson family for a very fine day.

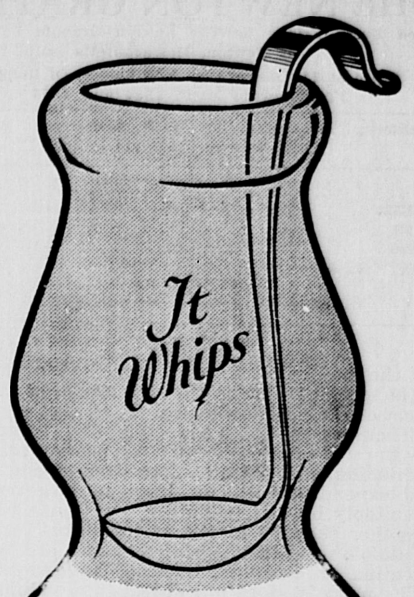

GARDEN CLUB CONVENTION

With the opening of the Annual Meeting of the National Council of State Garden Club Federations only a few days hence, members of the Garden Club Federation of Massachusetts eagerly anticipate the pleasure of greeting Garden Club Members from all sections of the country. For the convention of four days in Boston, June 7, 8, 9 and 10, the Copley Plaza Hotel will be the Headquarters. The Committee of Arrangements, of which Mrs. Thomas Motley, Jr., of Milton, is chairman, have made every effort to insure a week of genuine pleasure and profit to every one in attendance.

The general plan of the Convention program is the holding of business and Committee meetings each morning, followed by trips to some of the State's most notable gardens, including as far as possible, visits to historic points of interest.

HONOR ROLL AT ALLEN SCHOOL

The following girls are on the honor roll of The Misses Allen School for the spring term: Barbara Beach, Betty De Bard, and Eleanor Lane of West Newton, Lucile Cate of Auburndale, Mary MacKay of Newton Highlands, Priscilla Widger of Newton Centre, Peggy Harrison, Janet Merrill, Jean Morrison, and Margaret Lewis of Newtonville, Janet and Louise McKinnon of Waban, Lucy Eaton and Suzanne Peirce of Waltham, Patricia Jensen, Barbara Nichols, Jane Parker and Eleanor White of Wellesley Hills, Frances Garvin of South Natick and Cambridge, Anne Gregory of Winchester, Edna Gordon of Brookline, Helen Seamans of Rosindale, Lillian Simlovich of Brockton, and Betsy English of New Haven.

Coffee With Cream Oh Boy!

Have you ever, while dressing in the morning, caught the alluring odor of real coffee as it wafted up the stairs? It made you hurry—put pep into you—zested the appetite.

Down you hurried—the percolator bubbled—you bubbled too, in joyful anticipation. And there—as an extra special treat was real cream for the coffee.

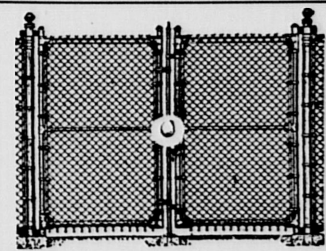

But today, you can have real cream for your coffee every morning, at no extra cost, just by having your daily supply of milk delivered in the new Cream Top Bottles. With Cream Tops you pour off the cream, the milk stays in the bottle. Cream and milk—distinct and separate for the same price you have been paying for milk alone.

Phone Middlesex 3818. We'll start delivering your milk in Cream Top Bottles in the morning. It costs no more.

TAXATION

One of the major factors provoking the stagnation of business at the present time is the accumulation of expense of government of the past few years. From this source come the major difficulties in balancing state and national budgets. Naturally the sole solution lies in a tax program that will clean up the situation and permit of progress along the lines of decreased expenditures. The problem, however, cannot be settled equitably by discriminatory taxes on a few particular items, whether they be aimed at the "rich" or the "poor." It would almost seem that legislative bodies are prone to focus their attention on gasoline, tobacco, amusements and such items. The motorist does not object to a gasoline tax when such income goes to improve driving conditions, but when such revenues are diverted for other purposes it becomes burdensome. The increase in tax upon any one particular item beyond a certain point defeats the purpose of the tax. It tends toward evasion and corruption with an actual decrease in revenue over the amount brought in under the lower rate. The most equitable tax of all, one which would provide sufficient revenue in a comparatively short length of time, would be a small tax levied on all items. We believe it would be possible to produce the necessary revenue with such a program without increasing the present taxes on incomes, polls, or the so-called discriminatory taxes.

YOU CAN HELP

Next fall there will undoubtedly be considerable agitation over the compulsory automobile insurance rates when they are taken up for consideration again. Every automobile driver has something to say in determining what those rates shall be. Since the law requiring such compulsory insurance was put into effect the rate has been considerably increased. The increase has been almost entirely due to the large number of automobile accidents with false and exaggerated claims for damages being filed along with those just cases where recompense is due. At this time of year the motoring urge possesses everyone who has the opportunity to get out on the road. By exercising due care or by disregarding the rights of others every motorist has a voice in saying whether the automobile insurance rates for next year will be lower or higher.

THE FAIR WAY

It is to be hoped that the situation in regard to the so-called Worcester turnpike will be speedily cleared up so that work can be commenced on that part of the project which passes through Newton. The legislature is about to pass a bill revoking the right of the street railway company to retain its track locations. The resultant damages will be fixed by the Superior Court, which seems to be the fairest method possible, as Mr. Babson, Lieut. Gov. Youngman, or any individual can not say what the value of this franchise may be.

In honoring Superintendent of Schools U. G. Wheeler and Dr. Fred M. Lowe, retiring Exalted Ruler of the Elks, last week, the people of Newton paid gracious tribute for faithful service.

Police News

William S. Kinney of 1650 Washington street, West Newton, who has been in the Newton court a couple of times in recent months because of his canine pet, a big police dog, appeared again in the court room on Tuesday because of this alleged ill-tempered animal. Several months ago Kinney made his first appearance in court because of the dog, when Dr. N. E. Emmons Paine brought a complaint that the animal had repeatedly threatened him. At that time Kinney promised to erect a long and expensive fence between his property and that of Dr. Paine, to keep the dog away from the Paine yard. Kinney did build the fence, but this did not prevent the dog from rushing onto the street a few weeks ago and biting a young man who was riding by on a bicycle. As a result, Kinney was hauled into court again, charged with keeping a biting and barking dog. On his promise to get rid of the allegedly ugly animal, the case was continued.

In court Tuesday, Kinney told Judge Bacon that in keeping with his last promise, he had sent the dog to the country, but members of his family had missed the pet so much that he had brought the canine back and would accept the consequences. Accordingly, Judge Bacon fined him $20. After Kinney had departed, it was discovered that the maximum fine for keeping a biting dog is only $10. So the other $10 was returned to Kinney.

Mary McHugh, 26, who has been employed as a domestic at the home of John Riddell, 143 Windsor road, Waban, was arrested Saturday night charged with stealing a number of articles from her employer. Riddell had been missing articles and suspected the girl. A search of her room revealed some of the missing things. A further search in a trunk owned by her and stored at the home of a relative in Waltham, revealed more of the loot. The girl planned to leave for Ireland on June 12 and apparently was preparing to make gifts to someone over there. Arranged in Newton court on Tuesday, she pleaded guilty and her case was continued to June 3 for disposition.

Isabella Lee, 18, and Lucy Lee, 17, sisters, residing at Grove street, West Newton, were each fined $10 in the Newton Court last Friday. Patrolman Hammill told the judge that on May 18 Isabella Lee was driving a car at 45 miles an hour on Beacon street, Waban, near Gordon road. Patrolman Kilmain testified that on May 19 Lucy Lee was driving a car on Beacon street, Waban, near Gordon road at a speed of about 45 miles an hour. More speeding youths fined in court that day were Morton Goldfine, 17, of 1178 Commonwealth avenue, Brookline, fined $10; Harry Dengel, Jr., 15, of Lancaster terrace, Boston, $5. He was also fined $15 for driving without a license. Sarah Hawley of Morse road, Newtonville, charged with driving onto a thoroughway without stopping, had her case placed on file. Melvin Moore of 127 Hicks street, West Newton, charged with parking a truck in violation of the city parking ordinances, also had his case placed on file.

Anna Carroll of Jones Court, Norwood, was fined $10 in the Newton court yesterday for keeping a biting dog. Miss Carroll's pet bit a small boy. She appealed the fine. She contended that the dog is not vicious, but had been teased by children in her neighborhood.

The longest village in the world is probably Kempton, near Bradford, England. It straggles along a single road for seven miles.

Under The Gilded Dome

Matters of legislation appear to be more or less jumbled at this writing but unquestionably a solution will eventually be reached. At least there has always been a settlement of differences and, despite the depression, 1932 is not expected to be an exception. All legislative bodies have a habit of leaving many of the most important matters until the approach of final adjournment, with the result that there is much confusion. However, the fact that there are to be National conventions of political parties this month is always before legislators, many of whom will want to make the trip to Chicago under the banner of their respective parties. Otherwise the session might be extended indefinitely.

Speaker Saltonstall's popularity was again shown by the enthusiastic reception given him the other evening when leading Republican members of the Legislature held a dinner in his honor. The speeches were extremely laudatory and there was great applause when the Speaker said he would seek reelection as a Representative and again be candidate for presiding officer of the House. It is thought by those who have the Speaker's best interests at heart that he has made a wise decision. There is no question that Speaker Saltonstall is as far as being Speaker for two years more that, too, is secure unless there should be a tremendous overturn in the membership of the lower branch. That the Democrats can expect to elect a majority of Representatives this year is not dreamed of by even the Democrats themselves. Furthermore, Mr. Saltonstall would receive a great many Democratic votes and if the contest for Speaker were closed he would have enough Democratic support, it is believed, to win the Speakership for 1933 and 1934. There was a report that he might be a candidate for Lieutenant Governor or even Governor. The gubernatorial contest is such that it does not invite a venture on the part of a conservative like the Speaker and his friends feel he has chosen the wiser course in deciding to come back to the House.

Commissioner Richard K. Conant of the State Department of Public Welfare has made an announcement of interest to Newton as well as other municipalities. He states that under a bill signed by the Governor this week cities and towns must apply before June 15 for the reimbursement provided for by the State under the terms of the Old Age Assistance Law. The new law provides for meeting the expenses of the old age assistance from the $1 head tax collected for the purpose this year and last. It is estimated that reimbursements will be made by the State of nearly the entire amount expended for this work by the cities and towns this year. Receipts are expected to be about $2,400,000 and old age assistance claims will be approximately $2,544,000 for the first 10 months. If the bills of the cities and towns are not rendered to the State by June 15 they will go over to next year, Commissioner Conant says, and only one-third of the amount will be reimbursed under the new law.

Important changes have come about in the personnel of the State Industrial Accident Board. William W. Kennard, appointed in 1917 by the late Governor McCall, has been chairman 15 years. This week, his term having expired, he decided not to seek reappointment. He was succeeded by a new chairman. The Governor promoted Joseph A. Parks of Boston, who has been a member of the board for 20 years, to the chairmanship and appointed Daniel J. Sullivan of Lawrence as a member to fill the vacancy on the board.

There will be a special commission appointed to survey and revise the laws relating to trust companies and to private banks and the liquidation of banks. During the session there was much criticism of the amount paid by the State in the liquidation of closed banks. No charge was made of irregularities but it was pointed out that the system was costly and with an unusually large number of banks closed this year the matter of expense became one of grave concern. Because of this a bill containing the provision outlined above was passed and signed.

One of the humanitarian measures of the session was signed this week. The Governor provided for payment of compensation to dependents of investigators and examiners of the State Registry of Motor Vehicles who are killed or die from injuries received in the performance of police duty.

Another important measure signed this week by the Governor provided that the State Commissioner of Civil Service be granted discretionary powers in respect to applications for examination from persons who have resigned or been dismissed from public service. This permit persons who have been removed from the service for cause to take their cases to the Commissioner who shall decide whether they may again apply for opportunity to take an examination.

Both branches of the Legislature overrode the Governor's veto of a bill for the reinstatement of Lucius Banks as a member of the Boston Police Department. The Governor took the stand that it was not within the province of the Legislature to settle such matters. His reasoning apparently did not appeal to the Senators and Representatives. This is the first veto that has been overridden this year by the Legislature. Other vetoes of claims have been sustained by either one branch or the other.

The Governor wants the liquidation law pertaining to closed banks amended so as to empower the State Commissioner of Banks, in the names of the banks concerned, to permit the taking back of real estate mortgages pursuant to the sale of such real estate and to otherwise meet the situation which the Governor has called to the attention of the Legislature. He says among other things that there

About Town

By Edw. H. Powers

Former service men who were wounded in action overseas are being "honored" by the receipt of a medal known as the "Purple Heart." Many of these men have received no disability compensation, or so little that it is a pittance. On the other hand—thousands of former service men and women who never were wounded, and many of whom did not serve overseas, have been and are receiving large disability allowances. If the men who have suffered and are suffering from wounds were given proper disability compensation, and the synthetic heroes and heroines were given small, inexpensive medals, it would be more in accordance with the fitness of things. Also, it would be fairer to the people of this country who are being taxed to pay unwarranted claims.

"God Save the Commonwealth of Massachusetts." We have a Legislature which has shown, on occasion, wonderful judgment. As proof of this were the two bills passed by our sagacious Solons and vetoed properly by Gov. Ely. One of these bills provided that the State would pay damages to owners of automobiles which had allegedly been marred by wild deer colliding with them on highways. The other bill provided that the State would pay the former owner of a bicycle for the theft of this vehicle by a State ward.

If Frank Goodwin can influence the people as he influenced the majority of members of the House of Representatives by his advocacy of taxing securities at present exempt from taxation, Lieut. Governor "Bill" Youngman will have to scratch gravel to win the Republican nomination.

"A Government of the People, by the People and For the People." How could you doubt this if you have been reading of the "goings on" by our Congressmen at Washington? Pulling and hauling, arguing and scheming, advancing and retreating in making appropriations, attempting to devise means of raising enormous revenue to meet outrageous, unnecessary expenses. Agreeing on some form of taxation, and then disagreeing after lobbyists of this or that big business, or representatives of some group affected had gotten in their work.

Who is to blame for such a sorry exhibition of dilly-dallying, such equivocation on the part of our Congressmen in this crucial time when speedy action is sorely needed to relieve the nation-wide distress? The apathetic electorate of this country. The meek and lowly citizens, the glib dupes who are swayed by hokum and buncombe of glib politicians and subsidized publications. The great American public who take it on the chin and indulge in individual whining and collective dumbness. The "intelligent" voters who get all excited over political issues during campaigns, and then take little or no interest in the public activities of the Congressmen, Legislators or local officials they elect. With the result that all too frequently predatory corporations and chiselling individuals receive more favorable consideration than do the people.

Congress votes to raise postal rates at about the same time it proposes to build 2300 postoffice buildings throughout the country at a cost of $150,000,000. Most of these postoffices will be ornate structures costing much more than necessary. And they blather about economy.

John Janse of Newton Centre, who has efficiently collected the garbage of Newton for several years, continues to keep his big trucks looking spick and span. Several of them have been freshly painted.

The contractors on the Washington street regrading job have excavated the north side of the street to a point midway between Walnut Park and Jackson road.

Recently some newspapers published that the Newton Street Department would shortly use only motor vehicles and would sell all its horses. The statement was not correct. The Street Department will continue to use about 40 horses. For many transportation purposes they are more efficient than motor vehicles.

This righteous country outlaws honestly conducted lotteries but permits stock speculation, even stock speculation on margin transactions. Consistent—isn't it?

Persons are asking "Why is Washington street being excavated on the better half of the road, compelling automobiles to be operated over the 'No Man's Land' surface of the south side of the street?" We inquired of a Newton official regarding this and he informed us that the north side of Washington street is to be resurfaced first because it is believed that by doing this storekeepers at Newton Corner and Newtonville will be less inconvenienced.

Recently the city spent a considerable sum of money laying a drain near Islington road, Auburndale, in result of which would be to enlarge the area of the playground nearby. The drain has been built. A large amount of excellent filling, sand and gravel has been carried to the drained area from the huge trench being excavated for the Metropolitan water main. It would be a good idea to send some laborers to level this material so that the added area to the playground will be made available as soon as possible.

AUCTION SALE

Don't forget to attend the auction sale next Thursday at 21-3 Emerson street, Newton.—Adv.

is an excess of $8,000,000 of real estate held in possession and in the foreclosures of the closed banks now under the charge of the Commissioner. The matter has been referred to the Committee on Banks and Banking.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

By L. D. G. Beasley

Speaking of gardens, the language of the flowers fails to appeal to some people. Possibly because they have no chance to answer back.

Always Something New

Apparently the entire world has suddenly become wrapped in cellophane. Food products, cigars, cigarettes, confectionery, stationery—well, why continue, you know the list as well as I. But did you know how this very modern invention has been linked with the past—the inspiring past? It surprised me to see an example of a decidedly practical use of cellophane and with no connection with food or smokes or anything commonplace. No, sir, I saw one of the latest cellophane inventions in the archives of an institution known for its accumulation of old, tattered and interesting historical documents.

Preservation of an ancient manuscript has heretofore been something of a problem. By a neat and painstaking process the document has been furnished with a backing of pasted strips of paper that has held it together. Then, providing there were funds available, there has been a frame and glass added so that the precious article is fully and completely preserved. Expensive, this way of keeping an old page or picture and calling for more space than should reasonably be allotted. If you have a large number of such documents you certainly don't want them all framed and the collection made to look like a picture gallery. And if you just tuck the old treasure between the pages of a large book it is liable to be torn whenever handled.

Where does cellophane come in? Ah, here's where you will sit up and take notice. A metal oblong contrivance has been conceived containing separate envelopes of heavy paper, each with a cellophane front. Into this envelope the ancient document is placed and through the transparent cover it may be studied and admired. Nobody handles it and nothing can happen to cause any damage. This metal arrangement is adjustable, something like one of the patented copying machines. You may file away one or 100 documents. The corners of the cover snap into place and are locked. They cannot be removed without a key.

You'd be amazed to learn the number of priceless old manuscripts, letters, etc., that are now safely preserved and guarded by means of this new scheme. They tell me that the use of it was only recently made public. Wonder what the writers, statesmen and others of centuries ago would say if they knew their writings and commissions were today "wrapped in cellophane."

Dazzling Word Picture

If there's one person I envy it is he who prepares the so-called guide-book for the purpose of drawing patrons to a Summer resort. Such imagination, such command of words and such—well, I think I'd better leave it to you to finish the sentence. Recently a friend told me of his intention to pass part of the Summer in an attractive hamlet on the Atlantic seaboard. His judgment is always sound, at least in my opinion, and I was curious to know more of the resort. When one of those enticing volumes, prepared by the local chamber of commerce, fell into my hands, and I saw the name of my friend's favorite vacation land, I was delighted. This would tell me, I was certain, all about it.

Beginning with the statement that it was so many miles from the nearest largest city, the glowing description continued thus:

A glorious spot of Nature. A place of ineffable charm. A veritable scenic wonderland. Camping grounds for the tourist who travels by auto. Beautiful sites on the river banks with commanding views. First class hotels for all who reach the town by boat, auto or train. Cuisine unexcelled. Bathing in salt water in the heart of majestic forests. A town of picturesque, industry and hospitality. No sea fog; no mosquitoes; mild temperatures. Happily you will come. Reluctantly you will leave.

That was all it said. O, yes, I'll agree that it was plenty. I gathered, and rightly, it seems to me, that the person who wrote this description was so overcome that he became delirious and in difficulty in concluding that it would be no place for me. I could never survive such an experience.

Good Companions

You may not have observed it but there has been a great deal more reading going on in Newton. It is probably because the facilities of the Newton library are free that business has been better than ever. "Enforced leisure," says Mr. Julius Lucht, head of our city's library, "has sent many people to the library regularly who formerly came seldom, if at all." His figures show that during the past fiscal year the library reached the grand total of 781,035 issues of books and magazines, an increase of 15½ per cent over 1930. Based on the Federal census of 65,276 population the circulation has risen to 12 per capita, as against 10.4 for the previous year.

I think that much of this has been due to the attractive qualities of our library and to what the president of the trustees, Virginia M. Hutchinson, refers to in her annual report as "the intelligent and faithful work of the Librarian and staff which has made this record possible."

Anything marked "Volume 1, Number 1," is worthy of attention for it indicates the beginning of something. This is what you will find on the "Spring Issue" of a booklet called "Our New Books" and recently put out by the library. Archaeology, light romance, architecture and fine arts, mystery stories, philosophy and religion and other subjects are among the available books recently installed on the shelves. The pamphlet is helpful and will be handy indeed when you are wondering what you will read this summer.

NEWTON SAVINGS BANK

"The Place for My Savings"

It Happened in Newton

A bit of reminiscence but good for a smile, not forgetting that the principals are no longer concerned at what may be printed about them by those left behind.

The judge, austere and eager that his decision should be just, had heard the prisoner's plea, "One more chance, your honor, and I'll never drink another drop."

"You'll sign the pledge?"

"I will, your honor."

Turning to the arresting officer, one of the wisest men on the force in his day, the judge inquired, "What do you say, Mister Officer, if this man is let off to sign the pledge?"

"May it please your honor, he has a trunkful of pledges now."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"God the Only Cause and Creator" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, June 5.

The Golden Text is: "Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honour and power; for thou hast created all things, and for thy pleasure they are and were created" (Revelation 4:11).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "I have made the earth, and created man upon it; I, even my hands, have stretched out the heavens, and all their host have I commanded. I have raised him up in righteousness, and I will direct all his ways" (Isaiah 45:12,13).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "We cannot fathom the nature and quality of God's creation by diving into the shallows of mortal belief. We must reverse our feeble flutterings—our efforts to find life and truth in matter—and rise above the testimony of the material senses, above the mortal to the immortal idea of God" (p. 262).

ANOTHER HEARING ON HAMMOND PARKWAY

Another hearing on the proposal to change the route of the parkway near Hammond's Pond was held at the State House on Tuesday before the Senate Committee on Ways and Means. City Solicitor Bartlett, Dr. Augustus Thorndike and others spoke in favor of Mayor Weeks' bill which seeks to have the parkway constructed away from the shore of the pond, as described in last week's GRAPHIC. Mr. Fellows, Chief Engineer of the Metropolitan Planning Board, Alderman Norman Pratt and others opposed the change. As was predicted in last week's GRAPHIC, the bill received the favorable report of the Senate Ways and Means Committee and it is expected to be passed with the second part of the petition—which asks that any unexpended balance be used to extend the parkway across Chesley road and along Willow street (or through Hobart road) to be discontinued.

"What? Sink All My Money in Annuities?— I Should Say Not!"

And, in most cases, quite right, too. Provision must be made for the unexpected—an emergency fund should be maintained at all times. But many men and women find that they can get 50% MORE income by setting aside HALF THEIR CAPITAL as an emergency fund and investing the remainder in Annuities. To those who seek permanent freedom from financial worries, the Annuity has become the ideal backstop of security. A maximum income is guaranteed, come what may.

The several Annuity contracts are designed to fulfill the needs of varied circumstances, and above all to provide regular income payments at a time when to "make certain" becomes our chief desire.

My concise pamphlet, "ANNUITIES DESCRIBED", tells in few words of the various kinds and the simplicity of providing this guaranteed income for life. A copy will be sent on request.

Weeks Junior H. S.

This is All Club Week at the Weeks Junior High School. The twenty-nine clubs are either taking part in the assembly program or are exhibiting their work. On Wednesday the assembly program consisted of demonstrations, speeches, and musical selections by representatives from nine clubs. The Band, Glee Club, and Harmonica Club played several delightful selections. Rolfe Schell and Sam Miller of the Radio Club presented a skit of a studio scene, showing how various sounds are produced for broadcasting. A group of six members of the Business Club, in charge of Catherine Muldoon, gave a demonstration of typewriting to music. The Marionette Club displayed puppets which told the history of the making of Marionettes.

Three speakers explained what their clubs were doing. Richard Lovell described the work of the Collectors' Club. Dorothy Goldstein spoke about the activities of the Garden Club, and Betty Marvin of the Archery Club explained how the members made their bows and arrows.

The exhibits of many of the clubs are now on display in Rooms 218, 303B, and 305. Parents and friends of the school who wish to see the work may do so on Monday and Tuesday afternoons, June 6 and 7.

The Collectors' Club has one room for individual collections. Coins, stamps, glass, and silverware are among some of the interesting exhibits. The Aviation Club has a large number of model planes. The Junior Red Cross Club, the Illustrators' Club, Camera Club, and many other clubs have exhibits of interest to the pupils and parents.

Iceland's Day and Night

The length of night and day in Iceland varies throughout the year, of course. Lying just south of the Arctic circle, the daylight hours are very long in midsummer, and the hours of complete or partial darkness long in midwinter.

Niagara Falls

The international commission appointed to investigate the future of Niagara falls took the ground that erosion of the falls has practically ended and that the appearance of the cataract will be practically unchanged 200 years hence.

Happy, but Uninteresting

NORUMBEGA DISTRICT COUNCIL OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

Mr. R. O. Walter and Miss Lullona Barker, presenters of the subjects of Home Cooperation and Home Study Standard at the meeting last Tuesday of teachers in the Belmont Street Baptist Church. It was voted to adopt the home study standard for the coming year.

The Newtonville Methodist Church has reported favorable action on the home study plan.

The District is promoting this month the adoption of "Religious Education Week" in the Fall, so that local churches may begin now to make their plans. The suggested dates for the "Week" are Oct. 2 to 9.

Home Department superintendents of church schools in this District are invited to meet together on next Sunday afternoon, June 5, at the Auburndale Congregational Church, at 3:30 p. m., to get acquainted and discuss this type of activity in the church. Miss Susie Johnson of Auburndale will be hostess for the group.

SUPT. WHEELER AGAIN HONORED

The office force of the School Department, 14 in number, gave a farewell party to Mr. Wheeler on Wednesday night at Riverbank Lodge, Medfield. They presented him with an easy chair. Miss Mabel Bragg, formerly assistant superintendent of Newton schools, was a guest. Yesterday afternoon the janitors and engineers of the schools presented Mr. Wheeler with an automobile robe. The gift was made at the Technical School and the presentation speech was made by John Gilligan.

HELEN L. ELLIS

Helen L. Ellis, formerly of 189 Grant avenue, Newton Centre, died on May 26 at Waltham following a long illness. She was the daughter of the late George H. and Emma Ward Ellis, and was in her 67th year. Her funeral service was held last Saturday afternoon at Newton Cemetery Chapel; Rev. Dwight Bradley officiated. She is survived by a brother, George H. Ellis, of Spokane, Washington; an aunt, Emma D. Ellis of Boston; and several cousins.

BUILDING REPORT

The report of the Newton Public Buildings Department for the month of May shows that 55 permits were issued. Of these 7 were for single dwellings, valued at $68,200; 12 for garages valued at $4,625; 2 for gas-line stations valued at $11,200; 1 for a dormitory at the Theological School valued at $75,000; 28 for alterations on buildings to cost $21,400. The lack of work for men in building trades is shown when the report tells that only 192 permits have been issued so far this year in Newton with a valuation estimated at $509,285. For the corresponding period in 1931 the permits totalled 335 and the valuation $2,375,025. In 1930 the permits totalled 437, and the valuation was $1,906,976.

CHILDREN'S MUSEUM

The Annual Kindness to Animals Pet Show at the Children's Museum of Boston is to be held on Saturday, June 4, from 1 to 4 P. M. on the Museum Terrace. In case of rain the Pet Show will be staged in the Museum. This is not a pedigree show. Blue ribbons will be awarded to the best cared for pets, and for outstanding friendly relations between pets and owners. Pets worthy of merit in one way or another will also receive ribbons. Boys and girls under 16 may exhibit and pets must be in position in the show area from 1 to 4. Pets must be exhibited under the supervision of their owners and the owners are responsible for pets' welfare during the Show.

On Sunday afternoon at 3:30 Mrs. Grace M. Wedge who has lived fifteen years on Indian Reservations will tell Indian legends. "Tales of the Borrowed Road" is the subject chosen by Mrs. Wedge for these fascinating tales.

PARAMOUNT THEATRE

"The Wet Parade" will be the leading feature of the first half of the coming week at the Paramount. The personnel of the cast speaks for the quality of the performance. Walter Huston, Lewis Stone, Dorothy Jordan and Neil Hamilton carry the leading parts. There is an interesting romance running through the entire picture, which will interest everyone regardless of their views on prohibition. On the same program will be seen Claudette Colbert and Edmund Lowe in "The Misleading Lady." The last half of the week the showings will be "Girl Crazy," from the musical comedy recently shown in Boston, and "The World and the Flesh" with George Bancroft and Miriam Hopkins.

Girl Scouts

Many of the Girl Scout troops have been holding their last meetings of the season during this past week. On Wednesday Troop 6 held a very interesting mothers' meeting for their last get-together at which time awards and merit badges earned during the year were presented to the girls.

On Thursday the West Newton troops met at Camp Mary Day to celebrate their final meeting and also to dedicate their cabin, which is erected on the camp grounds. Ham-in-a-hole (cooked in the bean hole) was prepared by the officers, and a large number of Scouts and their mothers and fathers enjoyed this delicious dish. Badges and awards were presented. A First Class emblem was presented to Anita Velez of Troop 15.

Mrs. Quincy Wales, representing the troop committee, presented the cabin key to Mrs. Henry Skelton, chairman of the Camp Committee. Mrs. Skelton spoke to the girls, wishing them many good times in the cabin and also pointing out to them the ideals and spirit of the camp which she hoped they would look up to. She then turned the cabin key to Mrs. Wales and presented her with the camp certificate.

Members of the Senior Patrol Leaders' Association with Miss Ethel de Mille, Miss Olive Webster, and Miss Isabel Skipwith spent the week-end at Camp Mary Day. The weather was beautiful and they were able to cook all their meals in the open and accomplish considerable Girl Scout work.

Miss Freeman presented the week-end report. On Sunday, five of the officers from Newton Upper Falls joined the group.

The Newtonville troops had their final Get-together at Camp Mary Day on Tuesday. Merit Badges were awarded and the following girls were presented First Class Emblems: From Troop 28, Clara Schwab, Cynthia Steitz, Barbara Collins, and Antoinette Meyer; and from Troop 10, Betty Kobayak and Priscilla Tracy.

After playing games, the Scouts ate supper, — the Troop Committee providing ice cream and punch.

Troop 7 and 17 held their final meeting for the year on Tuesday evening in the Emerson High School. The meeting was led by Captain Bridget of Troop 7 and Captain Brown of Troop 17. A very impressive opening ceremony, the awards and badges were given out. The girls demonstrated some of the Scout work and the large group of parents were very much interested. Mr. Root, of Waban, put he took two years ago — after which, refreshments were served.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Elijah F. Henley and Laura B. Henley, wife of the said Elijah F., in her right, both of Newton, Middlesex County, Massachusetts, to the Cape Ann Savings Bank of Gloucester, Massachusetts, dated January 20, 1931, and recorded with Middlesex District Deeds, Book 5531, Page 553.

Will be sold at Public Auction on the premises hereinafter described, on Monday the twenty-seventh day of June, 1932, at two o'clock in the afternoon, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, all of the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed and described as follows:

A certain parcel of land with the dwelling-house and the garage thereunder, standing thereon, situated on the easterly side of Pickwick Road, in that part of said Newton known as West Newton, and shown as Lot 12 on a plan entitled "Subdivision of Land in Newton, Mass., owned by Gibson Real Estate Trust", made by Barnes and Beal, Engers, dated March, 1929, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 5375, opposite Page 138, and bounded and described as follows:

Westerly by said Pickwick Road, one hundred five (105) feet, as shown on said plan; northerly by Lot 13 shown on said plan, one hundred fifteen (115) feet; easterly by land owned by or late of Thelma, one hundred five (105) feet, as shown on said plan; and southerly by Lot 11 shown on said plan, one hundred fifteen (115) feet. Containing about 12,775 square feet, and being the same parcel which was conveyed by said mortgage deed to said James W. Gibson, Trustee of Gibson Real Estate Trust by deed dated January 20, 1931, and recorded with said Middlesex Deeds, Book 5531, Page 553.

Said premises are hereby conveyed subject to the zoning ordinances of the city of Newton and to all restrictions set forth or referred to in said deed and especially to the restrictions mentioned in an instrument recorded with said Middlesex Deeds, Book 5375, Page 124.

Together with all furnaces, heaters, ranges, mantels, gas pipes, electric fixtures, window screens, screen doors, awnings and other fixtures of whatsoever kind and nature, now contained in said buildings.

Said premises will be sold subject to said and all unpaid taxes, assessments and other municipal liens, if any.

Terms, $1,000, in cash or certified check, at said sale, and the balance in cash upon tender of deed at No. 109 Main Street, Gloucester, Massachusetts, within ten (10) days thereafter, unless other terms agreed upon at said sale.

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

General Federation

BIENNIAL. "Carry your cargo and make your port" will be the keynote of the twenty-first Biennial Convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs to be held at Seattle, Washington, June 9th to 18th, with the president, Mrs. John F. Sippel, of Baltimore, presiding. Every state in the Union, and many foreign countries will be represented in the several thousand delegates who are expected, as the Federation comprises over 14,600 clubs, including 74 organizations in 24 foreign countries. Details of the program for this convention were given in full in this Column of the Graphic of May 20th.

Interest centres in the "Poole Special" which leaves Boston Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, eastern daylight saving time, carrying enthusiastic delegates to vote for our Massachusetts candidate for the presidency, Grace Morrison Poole; and the route of this "Special" as it passes stations of large cities can be imagined; the cheers and good wishes of clubwomen en route to see their delegates off, to board this train, joining the Boston group. Among these is Mrs. John A. Groves of Newton Centre, representing the Boston Woman's Civics Club of which Mrs. Poole has long been a member and is also honorary vice president.

Any important business of Newton interest will be reported after the convention. Meanwhile clubwomen should remember that some of the sessions or speeches may be broadcast, through the courtesy of the National Broadcasting system, over WBZ. One such is to be on Tuesday, June 14, from 3:45 to 4:45 p. m., daylight saving time, featuring the late morning session, Mrs. Sippel's address and music. This is the time listed by the General Federation at Washington, but it would be well to watch the papers, as daylight and eastern and western time will vary.

A decidedly thrilling experience is promised through the courtesy of the Postal Telegraph-Cable company, in a demonstration of modern communication methods which will be given on one program. The audience will be brought into touch with women's clubs in all parts of the world. By radio, by telegraph, by transoceanic cable, and finally by radio telephone, they will be placed in direct communication with Asia, Europe, South America, with ships at sea, and lastly with a transport airplane in flight—the latter experiment being made possible by the use of radio telephone. A huge electrical map will mark with tiny points of light the course of the speeding messages. It is expected that answers to all outgoing messages will be received before the close of the program.

Newton Circle

There was a large attendance of the directors at the Board Meeting of the Newton Circle, Inc., on Friday, May 27th, in the Methodist Church at Newtonville. After consideration of the regular business of the association, discussion of the needs for the summer was taken up, and plans formulated as result for the same. Mrs. G. C. Ewing, of Newton Centre, is the newly-elected secretary, succeeding Mrs. Ralph Lewis.

Auburndale Woman's Club

While activities of the Women's Clubs have come to a close for the season, the Garden Club of the Auburndale Woman's Club is featuring a delightful event for club members in a Flower Show to be held at the Auburndale Clubhouse, on Tuesday, June 7th, from 2 to 9 p. m. With flowers particularly lovely and at their height, the display is sure to be a beautiful one, and competitors will offer many attractive arrangements. Judges of the exhibits will be Mrs. Letson, of Carbone's, Boston; Mrs. Frederick Rising, and Mrs. Frederick Loveland, of Newton. Mrs. Charles S. Grover is in charge of the Flower Show.

Woman's Club of Newton Highlands

The principal social event for the month of May for the Newton Highlands Woman's Club was the garden party held Wednesday evening, May 25th. Mr. and Mrs. G. Harry Adalson opened their home and grounds from 7 to 9 p. m. to the members and friends of the Club.

Music was furnished during the evening by a violin, cello, and piano trio. Miss Betty Banker gave an exhibition of Aesthetic Dancing, and Mrs. Ray S. Kelly rendered three songs very artistically.

Refreshments were served at an attractively-decorated table near the Lake, and a few red, yellow, and white lanterns gave just enough light to allow the guests to wander around the beautiful gardens and pools.

The silver offering was in benefit of the Maintenance Fund of the Club Workshop.

State Federation

ANNUAL MEETING. Last week the outstanding business events of the Annual Meeting of the State Federation were given. This continues with report of some of the social affairs, important announcements, and with special features of interest to Newton.

Two evenings were given over to what might be termed "playtime". Directors' Night, Wednesday, May 18th, offered the unusual, and clubwomen enjoyed a delightful program, put on by the fifteen State District directors, under the leadership of Mrs. Arthur J. Crockett, chairman in charge. Mrs. Schrader, president, brought the meeting to order with a blow of the gavel upon the floor of the stage, which had been cleared for action. Whereupon District School was decidedly in session.

School children again, the District directors, in academic gowns, sat upon hardwood benches and recited their lessons to their teacher, Mrs. A. J. Crockett. Finding their districts on a large map of Massachusetts hung on the wall, and telling several items of geographical interest, each one told, also, something of historical interest. Literature and art connected with their club homes. But so eager were some to recite, they had to be spoken to severely by their dear teacher.

The second part of the program was dramatized reports of departmental work. Districts 1 and 2 presented a skit on "Public Health," proving that the men of 1932 are just as much interested in advancing the health, happiness and work of the home as the men of 1620. Pilgrim women, in costume, landed from the Mayflower, anxious to get their laundry done in the first fresh water they had seen for many months. The pilgrim fathers, gathering wood, lighting fires, and handling kettles, were of great assistance in inaugurating the "first Monday wash day in America". The 1932 tableau showed the efficient doctors of today treating a baby and a little boy who had come into their offices as patients.

Mrs. Bradford C. Patch was the centre of attraction in the tableau presented by the 4th district, while Mrs. Stuart Colpitts, director, read a report of the American Home Department. Mrs. Patch posed as an almost exact replica of "Whistler's Portrait of His Mother."

"The Spirit of the Merrimack", the pageant of the 10th district, was a delightful fantasy which dealt around the subject of cleaning up of the Merrimack river. Mrs. Preston Newhall danced the part of the Merrimack, light, young, carefree, while Indian and pilgrim hunted and fished on its borders. Then came Industry, in a modernistic suit of industrial armor, and with her the imp of sewage, garbage and heavy ton boots; Jack, and other parts. Much applause greeted the tableau "Spirit of '76," presented by the 9th district.

Ladies of the Physiological Institute of Boston gave a little history of the difficulties of their formation in a playlet; delightful little women in authentic costumes of 1840 gathered to discuss ways and means of forming a class to learn what made their internal wheels go round. They finally succeeded in interesting a Harvard professor who showed them charts of the human skeleton and brain that were drawn in 1848, and he agreed to become their instructor, and the class was formed with its meeting place the same as the club now occupies.

Education was stressed in the tableau, "The Alice Freeman Palmer Memorial," shown by the 12th district. Mrs. James, director. Mrs. Harold L. Perrin as Alma Mater and Mrs. Frederick N. Peirce as the Student, both in elaborate costumes, with powdered hair and faces posed in the same position as the noted memorial statue at Wellesley College, brought forth great applause for their excellent likeness.

Miss Dorothy Brackett, a Junior Clubwoman, danced a flame dance with a fire-colored veil, showing the danger of fire. The Conservation Department are combating in their forests. Her grace and dexterity with the fire veil brought forcibly home the dangers to our great forests through carelessness with fire. The 13th district was sponsor for the dance.

Tableaux from "Little Women" by Louisa May Alcott were shown by the 11th district. Mercy Warren, Colonial dame, was shown entertaining Martha Washington and her attendants by the 7th district. Members of district 8 depicted "The Puritan Sabbath," with Parson Wigglesworth reading "The Curse of Vanity" to the Puritan men and women and two Indians, in full regalia, who were seated before him.

"Massachusetts in America of Today," an Interdistrict play pageant, produced by the 3rd district, drew "Directors' Night" to a stirring close. Junior Clubwomen, representing nations including Russia, Syria, Italy, Turkey and Scotland, were shown posed in the costumes of their country, while America was posed in the centre of the group near the American flag.

Friday evening, the 20th, the always delightful reception to clubwomen took place, with 32 officers and guests in receiving line. It was well after eleven o'clock before the 2,000 clubwomen had been greeted. Preceding this was a program in Convention Hall.

Secretary of State Frederic Cook expressed himself as being quite impressed by the impressive sight of the 500 delegates who marched in, in their lovely evening gowns, each carrying a huge armful of cut spring flowers. He brought greetings from the Governor of Massachusetts. Mrs. Cook was also a guest of the Federation. "Business is at white heat on Centre Hill," he said, "which is why the Governor couldn't be with you tonight." "As I look over this charming assemblage of women folk, I am inclined to think that the Governor is just out of luck."

Will Cuppy, author, entertainer of the evening, kept his audience in a glow of mirth. In his address on "From Demosthenes to Will Cuppy" he poked gentle fun at the art of oratory in general and in particular, including such traditional aspects as exordium, narration, division proposition, amplification and extenuation. He described his offering as about halfway between fluctuation and nervous prostration."

Among the miscellaneous subjects touched upon by Mr. Cuppy was the use of manuscripts by lecturers, humane methods of dealing with long-winded speakers, stage fright, inaugural addresses, the use of pebbles by lecturers, (as by Demosthenes) lecturing under water, the importance of breathing, clergymen's sore throat, applause, gesture, and original of Pat and Mike jokes. In the course of his talk he touched upon such significant historic characters as Nero, Heliogabalus, and Marcus Aurelius.

On Thursday evening, the 19th, interspersed with reports from International Unity and Social Welfare Divisions, there was a program of entertainment presented by Mrs. William MacAulay, chairman of the former department, which appealed strongly to the large gathering assembled to hear it. It might well be termed Sweden and the Vikings, the latter a word that always promises the imagination romance and charm. The Swedish Folk Dance Club of Boston, a group of about twenty-six members formed to perpetuate the folk dances of their native country, danced four of their native dances in costume, provoking enthusiastic applause.

A group of Scandinavian young men gathered under the name of the Viking Male Chorus to preserve the folk songs of their country, sang first a group of their native songs, and later in the evening some American old favorites. It was said by one reviewer that it was an even toss-up between the dancers and the singers as to which was appreciated most by the club delegates.

One of the pleasing features of Thursday afternoon was the program presented by the patients' orchestra from the Veterans' Administration hospital, Bedford, with Mrs. Paul Webber at the piano. Musicians were Messrs. Goss, Dearborn, De Mattis, Jones, Mohegan, Orr and Tetrault. The musicians were introduced by Mrs. Walter Woods, chairman of the Division of Co-operation with War Veterans.

Mrs. Woods and her committee gave a delightful outing to these guests preceding the session at Swampscott, meeting them on arrival at "Ebens", Salem Willows, at 11:30. Miss Evelyn Davis, chief recreational aide having accompanied the "boys" from Bedford. Mrs. Woods, Mrs. George Dutton, Mrs. Ralph Carlisle, Mrs. Walter W. Winship, president of the Fortnightly Club of Winchester, Mrs. Warren B. Wiley and Mrs. Ethel C. Park being the committee to greet them. Mrs. T. Gordon Burckes, of Lynn, chairman of luncheon arrangements, had seen that a splendid fish dinner was awaiting them, and provided smokes, too, while transportation was made easy and efficient through the care of Mrs. Luther W. Chick and Mrs. R. K. Miller, Jr.

It is not strange that after such happy entertaining, the program given by the "boys" was considered splendid. In the contest of afghans on exhibit by this Department, the first prize was won for the most artistic one by the Newell Club of West Roxbury, of which Mrs. Theresa O'Leary is president, this prize being a beautiful copper serving tray made by one of the disabled veterans in hospital. Honorable mention in this contest went to the Friday Club of Everett. Mrs. Everett Rice, president, their afghan being presented by the club's Handicraft Class; and also to the North Abington Woman's Club, and the Cabot Club of Middleboro.

Among important announcements made during the convention was that Mrs. Edwin Pride is to be treasurer of the Foundation Fund and the Trustees Fund for three years, that the development of 800 of the coveted acreage of 1,000 of the State Forest at Petersham, indicated that the project would be completed this coming year; and that the Fall Meeting of the Federation will be held at Framingham, on October 14th. Mrs. Burr J. Merriman, president of the Framingham Woman's Club, extending the invitation.

The arrival of the Federation History fresh from the press was one of the most important events of Annual Meeting. "Progress and Achievement" is its title, and the book, bound in old blue with a gold embossed State Federation seal on the cover, portrays 40 years of one of the most influential groups of women in the state. Credit goes to Mrs. Frederick G. Smith, of Somerville; Mrs. Walter A. Hall, of Swampscott; and Mrs. Joseph S. Leach, of Walpole, the compilers to whom the clubwomen of Massachusetts owe a debt of gratitude which can never be paid. Mrs. Smith, as the editor-in-chief, was kept busy autographing copies.

Finally, interest is always keen in the awarding of prizes in various State contests. Newton is delighted to know that second prize in the Penny Art Fund contest, presented by Mrs. Roy C. Baker, art chairman, went to the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands, which Club will receive an oil painting by Anthony Thieme, Boston artist. First prize, a water color by Charles Copeland, of Newton, went to the Arlington Woman's Club. Newton clubwomen will be glad, too, that the Newton Centre Woman's Club, which was last year's winner of first prize, was one of the five clubs to receive honorable mention.

Mrs. Robert B. Parmenter, chairman of Conservation, awarded the following prizes to winners in the Forestry Note Books contest open to sixth grade public school children.

Receiving recognition were Robert Elsner, of Braintree; William Rooney of Danvers; Marie Smith, of Braintree and Irene Morrosy, of Maplewood.

Mothercraft essay prize winners were: First prize, $5, Lauretta Lavigne, Marlboro Junior high school; second, $2.50, Lucy Vanelick, Breed school, Lynn; Jeanette Why, Central school, Orange, and Ruth Abercrombie, Ashford school, Methuen.

Will Be Sold At Public Auction

ON Thursday, June 9th

At 7.15 P. M.

The two family house, together with 4793 square feet of land, situated at

21-23 Emerson Street, Newton

consisting of six rooms to each side—reception hall, living room, dining room, kitchen on the first floor and three bedrooms and bath on the second floor. Southern side of house has been renovated with hardwood floors, steam heat, electric lights and open plumbing. We have a tenant who will rent this side for $40.00 a month, giving the purchaser an opportunity to live on the other side or, if the purchaser desires to fix up the other side, he can rent it also for $40.00 a month. The location is desirable as it is convenient to Newton Square. This style house has the advantages of each tenant being entirely separated from the other, having their own front and rear entrances and the income from one side, namely $80.00, that we can assure the purchaser of, makes it very profitable for a home or investment. We consider a property of this type today the very best form of investment. The property will be open for inspection three days before the sale or by appointment with the auctioneer any day before the sale. TERMS: $1,000, in cash, of which $200.00 to be paid at time and place of sale and $800.00 to be paid on delivery of deed. Balance will be arranged by mortgage, payable with easy payments quarterly with interest.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Home Department. Mrs. Norman H. Hastings, chairman, was won by Roland Strong on the topic, "The Ideal American Home." Marion Smith was winner of the scholarship of Garland School.
And lastly, of interest to the Juniors, and also to Senior Clubwomen of Newton, is the selection of the Junior to go to the Biennial, which home goes to the Twelfth District, of which Newton is a part.
Miss Elizabeth Button, freshman honor student at Wellesley, and president of the Junior Women's Club of Framingham, was announced by Mrs. I. William Crowell, Junior Adviser, State Federation, to be the winner of the Junior Travelling Scholarship offered by the State Federation.
Mrs. Crowell also announced that the scholarship awarded on merits of living, in a contest among the 44 Junior Clubs of the State, would take Miss Button to Seattle to the Biennial Convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in June. There she will be one of a distinguished group of Junior Clubwomen from all the states and will be the honor Junior attending Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, of Brockton, candidate for National president.
Miss Button was selected from several candidates for her long service as a Junior Club member, for her high character, for scholastic attainments and for her altruistic interests. She is a keen athlete, excelling in archery, horseback riding and other sports.

Many Newton Clubwomen attended the Convention, some for the entire period, registered at New Ocean House, others going down for a day. Chairmen of State Divisions included Mrs. Walter H. Woods, of Chestnut Hill, Co-operation with War Veterans; Mrs. Stephen E. Wright, of Auburndale, Social Welfare; Mrs. Charles G. Wetherbee, of Newton Highlands, Nominating Committee 1931-1932, and Revisions of Constitution and By-laws; Mrs. Daniel M. Goodridge, of Newton, Co-operating committee on Roadside Beautification of New England Council; and Mrs. Florence G. Morse, of Newton, Credentials, a most important bit of work at Annual Meeting. Members of State Committees that Newton can claim include Mrs. Carl Peirce, of Newton; Mrs. George C. Taplin, of Newton Centre, and Mrs. H. S. Wells, of West Newton, all on Meetings, who were kept busy assisting clubwomen to be seated, etc.; Mrs. Benjamin D. Miller, of Waban, and Mrs. Robert B. McLaughlin, of Newton Upper Falls, both on Club Institutes; Mrs. Charles C. Willson, of Auburndale, Junior Membership; Mrs. Elmore MacPhie, of West Newton, committee for the Handicapped; Mrs. Henry F. Dewing, of West Newton, and Mrs. Helen C. Noetzel, of Newton Centre, both on Art; Mrs. M. H. Guleian, of Newton, Music, whose stirring tribute to Mrs. Poole, "The Victory March" was sung at one of the sessions, she playing the accompaniment; Mrs. Earl G. Manning, of Newton Highlands, and Mrs. Charles E. Valentine, of Auburndale, both on International Relations; Mrs. William E. Birdsell, of Newton, vice-chairman of this same Division; Mrs. Fred H. Loveland, of Newton, Conservation; Mrs. George M. Hayden, of Newton Highlands, Citizenship; Mrs. Franklin E. Smith, of Newton, Law Observation; Mrs. Samuel N. Braman, of Newton, and Mrs. M. J. McCartin, of Newton Centre, both on Community Service; Mrs. F. G. Marsh, of Waban, and Mrs. G. Duthie Strachan, of Chestnut Hill, both on War Veterans; and Mrs. Frank H. Stewart, of Newton, on Trustees of Endowment Fund. Mrs. Louis Gibbs, of Newton, and Mrs. Clarence Glazier, of West Newton, were among clubwomen; also Mrs. John G. Goding, of Newton, who was listed among prominent clubwomen of long standing, this being her eleventh attendance at Annual Meeting; and Emma Downing Coolidge, of Newton, author, who was invited by the president, Mrs. Schrader, to read her paper, "Our Torch," on Friday morning, Citizenship Day.

Among new Clubs presented, becoming affiliated with the State Federation, was that of Daughters of Connecticut, this being represented by its founder and president, a Newton clubwoman, Mrs. Herbert E. Child, of Newton Upper Falls.

Rotary Club

The Newton Rotary Club and the Waltham Rotary Club held a joint meeting on Wednesday at the Alcazar Restaurant, Waltham. Mr. Thomas Curtin, president of the Waltham Foundry and vice-president of the Waltham Trust Co., gave an excellent talk on "Faith versus Fear" in the present depression.
Mr. Curtin said that the depression of 1873 was far more serious than the present. At that time there was practically no money, let alone but little business. He disproved the pessimistic theory that we would never come out of our present state of business stagnation. In this connection he said that it was impossible to take away from the people the desire to possess various things such as automobiles, homes, or the desire to send their children to college. As long as that desire exists the endeavor to better ourselves will improve business.
He commented briefly upon three kinds of faith. The faith of children who follow not knowing where but relying upon their parents, teachers and the like. Another kind of faith is that of a blind faith. The third faith is that backed by intelligent reasoning and knowledge of conditions. Although there are eight million unemployed, one and a half million of whom would be so situated regardless of economic conditions in general, there are more than forty millions of people in the United States engaged in gainful occupation. These forty million people are the ones who can help most to make the depression a matter of history by purchasing as much as they possibly can instead of hoarding what wealth they may have. The people who are employed have potential credit power of enormous proportions which must begin to flow shortly with the huge replacement demand being built up through the lack of buying over the past year and a half.

Water Pageant at Crystal Lake Delights Thousands—Excellent Sound Effects

Ten Floats With Scenes From Famous Operas Contribute To Artistic Success—Highland Glee Club Assists

The Water Pageant of the Civic Arts Association of Newton held on last Friday and Saturday evenings attracted large audiences. Despite the frequent showers on Friday evening many of those present remained almost to the end of the presentation in order to witness the passage of the entire floats of scenes from famous operas. Perfect weather prevailed Saturday evening, bringing to a close another successful project under the auspices of the organization which was formed to perpetuate that which produced the Newton Tercentenary Pageant in 1930 and the pleasing outdoor Pop Concert last summer in order that local talent in any of the arts might be discovered, developed and encouraged.

As darkness fell and the gathering audiences were ushered to their seats by Boy Scouts from the various Newton troops Japanese lanterns illuminated in picturesque fashion the stretch of shore of the lake from which the floats were to be viewed. Music from an almost perfect system of amplification was carried to the surrounding vicinity.

Vari-colored lights played upon the floats as they emerged from the shadows of the shore at the left across the cove on the edge of which the audiences were seated. A prelude, "Carmen Suite and Aragonese" by the Philadelphia Symphonic Orchestra introduced the first float depicting a scene from "Carmen." The "Toreador Song," sung by Lawrence Tibbett and the Metropolitan Opera Chorus was the accompaniment. In this scene the title role was posed by Mrs. Raymond Green with Peter Karolous as "Escamillo," a toreador, Fred O. Avanti as a cavalier and Mrs. William W. Colton and Miss Martha Wight as "Carmen." Paddlers of the float were Robert Patterson, William Giles, John Giles, and Donald Marr.

Float two was a scene from "Tannhauser" with William W. Colton in the title role and Miss Mariada Comer as "Elizabeth." The prelude was the "Pilgrims' Chorus," sung by the Highland Glee Club of Newton with D. Ralph MacLean conducting while the accompaniment was "Elizabeth's Prayer" by Maria Jeritza and "The Evening Star" by Pablo Casals, cellist. Paddlers of the float were Richard Keil, Jack Higgins and Warren Bray.

Following came a scene from "Samson and Delilah" with Richard Murray and Miss Mildred Davis in the title roles. The prelude to this float was "Samson and Delilah—Bacchanale" by the Philadelphia Symphonic Orchestra and the accompaniment was "My Heart At Thy Sweet Voice," by Marguerite D'Alvarez, contralto. Paddlers were Lewis Huntington, John Bruen, Robert Buell and Thomas Fitzgerald.

School Band Festival To Be Held Monday

The rain on Tuesday afternoon forced a postponement of the annual public concert to be presented by the junior and senior high school bands. The festival, which is held under the direction of the Department of Instrumental music of the Newton schools, will be held on Monday afternoon, June 13th, weather permitting. In case another postponement is necessary, the affair will be held on Thursday, June 16th.

The program as originally planned will be carried out in its entirety. The parade, forming at the school grounds at 3 o'clock, will be routed from Elm Road to Lowell Avenue, Washington street, Walnut street, Washington Park, Park Place, Cabot street, Walnut street, Elm Road and to the Dickinson Stadium, where a concert by all the bands will be given. Members of the School Committee and other city officials will view the parade from the reviewing stand at Elm Road and Walnut streets. The concert is scheduled to start at four o'clock.

Restrict Parking On Beacon St. Newton Centre

One Hour Between Summer Street and Chesley Rd.

The Traffic Committee of the Board of Aldermen at the meeting on Monday night recommended certain parking restrictions on Beacon street, Newton Centre which were accepted by the Board. Alderman Grebenstein said that he had been informed by Alderman Holden of traffic congestion on Beacon street, North side, caused by autoists parking their cars all day between Chesley road and Summer street. To eliminate this condition, parking at this section should be limited to one hour. This restriction was voted by the Board. It was also voted to prohibit parking on the north side of Beacon street between Chesley road and Grant avenue. The reason given for this action was because this stretch has been used for unlimited parking of commercial vehicles, inconveniencing residents along this part of the street.

Alderman Gallagher called attention to a dangerous condition on Beacon street adjoining the athletic field of Boston College because of automobiles parked on both sides of the street. He said it is difficult for cars to pass and many accidents have occurred. He moved that parking be prohibited on the south side of Beacon street from Hammond street easterly for 150 yards, and he asked that the rules be suspended to enable this restriction to be placed in effect at once. Alderman Ball said that it would be more practical to prohibit parking on the north side of Beacon street at the college grounds as it is a common practice for trucks and cars to be stopped alongside the fence at the grounds to enable the drivers to watch the games. Alderman Gallagher agreed with Ball. Alderman Collins said it would be wiser to study this matter and confer with college officials. Alderman Grebenstein suggested that the matter be taken up with the Chief of Police, and this was agreed upon.

RECEIVE HONORS

Polls Will Be Open From 7 A.M. To 8 P.M.

Aldermen Vote To Extend Polling Hours

At the meeting of the Newton Board of Aldermen on Monday night it was voted to keep the polls in this city open later on election days. Heretofore the polls opened at 6 a. m. and closed at 4:30 p. m. These hours were set many years ago, in the days when many workmen had to be at work at 7 o'clock mornings. Men of this class had to vote before going to work, or they could not vote in many cases. Those of them who worked out of Newton, in many instances, did not have time to vote before leaving for work, and did not get through their work until after the polls had closed.

For many years there has been a considerable demand to have the polls in this city kept open later. In most cities in Massachusetts the polls have been kept open until the evening. In 1928 Alderman Powers made a motion at a Board of Aldermen meeting that the polls be kept open until 6 p. m. This motion was not even seconded. Some weeks ago petitions were sent to the Board of Aldermen by the Republican Club of Newton and the Republican Ward and City Committee asking that the polls be kept open later. Requests coming from such sources could not be ignored by the Newton Aldermen, so the action of the Board on Monday night was expected.

The matter was considered by the Finance Committee of the Aldermen and an order was included on the docket of Monday's meeting which specified that the polling places shall be kept open from 7:30 a. m. until 8 p. m. Alderman Smith objected to this schedule. He said that at Auburn the heaviest voting time is between 7 and 8:30 a. m., and he suggested that the polls open at 7 instead of 7:30. Alderman Ball said that the Finance Committee had been informed that not many voted before 7:30 and those who did would have a chance to vote in the evening. He commented that those serving as election officers must be considered, but the Finance Committee would not oppose opening the polls at 7.

Alderman Floyd said he had tried to steer voters to the polls before they took early morning trains from Auburn, and if the polls are not opened before 7:30 many will not vote. Alderman Gallagher urged that the polls be kept open from 7 a. m. until 8 and so moved. He stated that because of conditions, people will, within 2 years, take more interest in elections than they have been taking. The motion was carried and in the future the polls in Newton will be open from 7 a. m. until 8 p. m.

Woman To Be Candidate For The Legislature

The political pot in this city started boiling yesterday when Mrs. Margaret L. Spear of 121 Bishopgate road, Newton Centre announced that she will be a candidate for the Republican nomination as one of the Representatives to the General Court from the 5th Middlesex District. This district is comprised of Wards 4, 5, and 6 of Newton. The present Representatives are Clarence S. Luitwieler of 24 Dunklee street, Newton Highlands, and Leverett Saltonstall of 240 Chestnut Hill road, Chestnut Hill. The latter has been Speaker of the House for the past 4 years and has announced that he will run again this year for re-election. He has been a Representative for 10 years. Mr. Luitwieler has also been a Representative for 8 years. He has not announced as yet whether or not, he will run again.

Mrs. Spear, who is the wife of Ellis Spear, Jr., is the first woman in Newton to become a candidate for election to the Legislature. She has been active in social and civic affairs and also in politics. She is a graduate of Wellesley College and is the mother of two sons, both Harvard graduates. She has been President of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, Newton Centre Woman's Club, Newton Central Council and Boston Wellesley Club. She is a member of the Mayor's Relief Committee, Newton Centre Improvement Association, Republican City Committee, City Hall Citizens Committee, Newton Welfare Bureau and Women's Republican Club.

It is also reported that former Alderman Harold F. Young of Rowe street, Auburndale, will also seek the Republican nomination in the 5th District. Mr. Young's friends contend that it is time that Ward 4 should receive recognition. It is many years since this Ward has had a Representative.

INJURED IN JUMP FROM BURNING CAR

Marcia Cazmay, 23, of Bay State road, Watertown, was injured last Thursday when she leaped from an automobile on Commonwealth avenue, Auburndale, near Rowe street. The girl was riding in a car driven by Malcolm Elliot of Watertown when flames came through the floor boards. Opening the door, she jumped out and her head struck the road. She was rendered unconscious and was taken to the Newton Hospital in the automobile of E. A. Thompson of Melrose.

Mossfield Road To Be Improved Despite Protests

Aldermen Approve $7392 For Waban Street

The usual almost unanimity which characterizes the actions of the Newton Board of Aldermen was departed from Monday night on the matter of improving and accepting Mossfield Road, Waban. One of the items on the docket at the regular meeting of the Aldermen was an appropriation of $7392 to grade and improve Mossfield road under the Betterment Law. The members of the Public Works Committee had voted unanimously to recommend this appropriation; the members of the Finance Committee had voted unanimously that it was "expedient" to make this appropriation.

Alderman Ball, chairman of the Finance Committee opened the discussion on this matter. He said that in 10 years he has been a member of the Board, he had seen a parallel case, one committee unanimously favoring, the other committee all opposed. He said the Finance Committee was not prejudiced and agreed that this street needs improving. But, with times as they are, no money should be appropriated for street work except in emergency cases. No additional burden should be placed on financially embarrassed property owners on this street. He stated that about a third of the property owners on the street oppose this year for the improvement of the road, but express a willingness to have it done next year if times become normal again.

Alderman Murray said that streets adjoining Mossfield road have been and are being improved and now is the time to improve this street. Alderman Chandler, who represents the Waban section said he has resided there for 20 years, knows the village and its people and is quite conversant with conditions there. He reviewed the part he has taken in civic affairs in Waban, and he commented that those opposing the improving of Mossfield road would never agree to have this work done. He asserted that if the street is not improved now, it is doubtful if at any time any petition for its acceptance will not have 25 per cent of the residents on it opposed. He said the road is in terrible condition, and should be improved.

Alderman Floyd said it was surprising that after the Public Works Committee and the Alderman from Waban had favored the improving of the street that the Finance Committee should throw this matter out without referring it back to the Public Works Committee. He said it would have been better grace to have asked for a conference. Alderman Ball took exception to this rebuke from Mr. Floyd. He asserted that the Finance Committee had referred the matter back to the Public Works Committee at the preceding meeting, and the latter committee had persisted in its stand. Alderman Chandler said that Mayor Weeks wants the street improved. He commented that the Finance Committee was influenced too much by sympathy for friends.

Alderman Murray suggested that the matter be discussed at a recess conference between members of the two committees. Alderman Temperley suggested that all members of the Board discuss the matter during the recess. The suggestions were followed and the question was argued by the Aldermen "sub rosa." As a result, when the Board came out of its shell and voted on the matter in open meeting, the Public Works Committee was victorious over the Finance Committee. By a vote of 10 to 7 the Board voted to appropriate the money to improve Mossfield road. Those voting in the negative were the six members of the Finance Committee present—Aldermen Ball, Gallagher, Gordon, Collins, Jamieson and Pratt, and Alderman Hill.

LASELL GRADUATES EIGHTY-ONE

At its exercises held in the Auburndale Congregational Church, Lasell Junior College graduated a class of 81 women. Payson Smith, State Commissioner of Education, delivered the address to the Class, Edward Payson Drew, D.D., offered the prayer and Dr. Guy M. Winslow, head of the college presented the diplomas. The Baccalaureate sermon was preached in the Auburndale Congregational church on Sunday by Rev. George Butzer, D.D.

Six Hundred Graduate From High School At Exercises In Stadium

Meserve Award Won By Robert C. Hunter—Robert Patterson Wins Dickinson Memorial Cup

For the first time in the history of the Newton High School graduation exercises of the senior class are being held out of doors this afternoon unless a last minute change in the weather makes it necessary to hold the affair in the auditorium of the high school. An even six hundred pupils will receive their diplomas, the largest class ever to complete the course of education and fifty-four more than that of a year ago when a high mark of 546 pupils graduated.

The senior class assembled in the high school auditorium about 3:30 p. m. and marched to the Dickinson Memorial Stadium where the outdoor program is being held. The high school band opened the program with a prelude, "The Washington Post March." Rev. Everett C. Herrick, D.D., LL.D., president of Andover Newton Theological School, gave the invocation, which was followed by the "Psalm To Labor," sung by the senior semichorus.

Charles W. Butler, president of the class, made the presentation speech of the class gift, an oil portrait of the retiring principal, Irving O. Palmer. The artist of the painting is Wilbur Fiske Noyes, a graduate of Newton High with the class of 1915. A selection, "Serenade," by the high school band preceded the announcement of the awards for the various scholarships.

The first of these, the award of the Meserve Fund Scholarship, one of the most coveted honors made, went to Robert Charles Hunter of Newtonville. Mr. C. Clark Macomber, '18, announced the award. Mr. Samuel Thurber, head of the English department, announced the award of the Harvard Book Prize presented to a member of the junior class, to Robert Henry Cotton. Mr. Palmer presented the American History Prizes to Caleb Allen Smith and Mary-Louise Eddy. These awards, in the form of medals, are offered annually by the Massachusetts Society, S. A. R., to the boys and by the Sarah Hull Chapter, D.R., to the girls.

Another chief award was the presentation of the Dickinson Memorial Athletic Cup to Robert Collier Patterson. This award is based upon the athletic ability and improvement shown by a boy who also maintains a satisfactory scholastic rating. Patterson was a member of the varsity football, basketball and baseball teams and is a member of the National Honor Society.

The various scholarship awards were as follows:
Community Club of Newton—Margaret Elizabeth Award (Class of 1931), Janet Duryea Tuthill.

WINDS UP SEASON IN THIRD PALCE—LOSE TO BROOKLINE

Losing its final game of the season and its fourth straight the Newton High wound up in third place in the Suburban League last Friday when Brookline High gained a 5 to 3 verdict at Claffin Field. Once again the locals took an early lead only to have the opponents tie the count and win out. As Cambridge Latin defeated its city rival, Rindge Tech, by a 6 to 1 count the same afternoon the Cantabs annexed the 1932 league title with six victories against two defeats. Somerville, winners the past two years, placed second with five wins in its eight contests, having completed its season last week Tuesday. By losing to Brookline the orange and black was tumbled into third place with Brookline climbing out of a tie for the cellar berth which is occupied by Rindge. Clifford Chouette was sent to the mound to pitch for Newton as Coach Jones' sophomore southpaw had previously annexed a win over the Wealthy Towners when the two teams met at Brookline a few weeks ago. Chouette's mates handed him a two-run lead in the first frame but the Newton players failed to help their pitcher out of a couple of holes.

Newton had several opportunities to score but not one batter could come through with the needed hit. In the eighth Newton picked up a single tally but could not cut down the Brookline lead of 5 to 3 and further, the two runs in the first inning came largely through the wildness of Chris Larkin, Brookline pitcher. With one down he passed Terry and hit Huston bringing Houghton to bat. The Newton first sacker promptly smacked a single down the foul line by first base to score Terry and put Huston on third. Huston stole second, Hudson hit the shortstop, Huston scoring and Houghton being retired at third base. Killian also drew a walk but Kevorkian was thrown out at first.

In the second Chouette singled to left but was stranded and in the third Houghton beat out a hit to short but was also left. In the fourth Kevorkian drew a walk and stole second with none down but the needed hit was not forthcoming. In the next frame with one down Huston walked, stole second and took third on an out at first but got no further as Hudson walked and Killian fanned. Lyons got a life in the sixth on an error at third but his mates could not advance him. In the seventh Lyons singled and Houghton was forced at second by Houghton on a close play. Houghton reached second a moment later but Hudson popped to first baseman Cahill to end the inning.

A pass to Lyons led to the third Newton tally after two were out in the eighth with pinch-hitter Patterson singling to left and Mullen scoring Lyons with a single to centre. Rhodes, batting for Terry, skied out to second. Huston led off in Newton's ninth with a walk but was again forced at second by Houghton. Johnson, batting for Hudson, fanned. Waters singled to left putting Houghton on second but Flagg, who had previously relieved Kevorkian fanned to end the game.

Meanwhile Brookline had cut down Newton's two-run lead with a single tally in the third in which Larkin led off with a single to right. He was forced at second by Hartigan who stole second base. Kaplan fanned but Van Dam doubled to left to score Larkin. In the fifth with one out the turning point in the game came on Larkin's rap to Houghton. Chouette raced over to cover first but took his foot off the base reaching for Houghton's toss and Larkin was safe. Hartigan singled through Kevorkian and after Kaplan had fanned and Van Dam had walked, Larkin singled to left to score Larkin and Hartigan to give Brookline a 3 to 2 lead.

With one down in the seventh a single by Kaplan, a safe bunt by Van Dam, and an error by Killian on Lourie's rap filled the sacks. Quinn laid down a bunt on a squeeze play on which Kaplan scored. Larkin then threw to first, retiring Quinn. Van Dam raced home and tallied before Houghton could get the ball back to Lyons.

Houghton played a great game for Newton making two clutch catches of foul flys near the bench and stand that were gems.

Suburban League Standing (Final)
	W	L	RF	RA	Pts
Camb. Latin	6	2	58	25	12
Somerville	5	3	42	27	10
NEWTON	4	4	44	55	8
Brookline	3	5	25	40	6
Rindge Tech	2	6	27	47	4

Ending the season with four straight defeats gave Newton a season record of but seven victories against a like number of losses. In its games outside of league competition the orange and black won from Quincy, Braintree, and Framingham while losing to Boston English, Dorchester and Waltham. Coach Jones had several problems to solve at the start of the season but by the middle of the month of May it seemed as though everything was all set for a drive down the stretch to a possible league title. But such was not to be as events turned out.

But withal the desire to annex the league honors there was the laying of plans for next year's team. It would seem that, although cracking somewhat at the end of the present campaign, the groundwork has been laid for 1933 that should carry the Newton nine to its former heights. Coach Jones will have his entire infield of Houghton, Waters, Huston and Kevorkian available for duty with the added prospects of a race between Kevorkian and Francis Flagg for the hot corner berth. The Newton mentor will also have his three pitchers, Rhodes, Giles, and Chouette ready to work, one as a relief for the other pair who will probably alternate on the mound. The catcher and the entire outfield will doubtless be recruited from the intermediate and junior varsity teams of the present season. With the experience gained this season the infield cor-

SPORT NOTES

Two Local Youths Excel

Two local youths have been performing with considerable excellence in athletics at Wilbraham academy during the year drawing to a close. Both are members of the graduating class. James Chalfont of Newton Center participated in four sports and Perry Elrod of Newtonville in three. Chalfont played halfback on the football team for two years and was captain last fall. He played guard on the basketball team for two years. Last spring he was on the track team competing in the quarter mile, high jump, and pole vault. This spring he is playing first base on the baseball team. During his three years at Wilbraham he was president of his class as a sophomore, and secretary, treasurer, and vice-president of the Y. M. C. A. He will enter Wesleyan University in the fall. Elrod entered Wilbraham last fall after graduating from Newton High in 1931. At Newton he was a prominent athlete. During the football season last fall his punting and running aided Wilbraham in retaining the Western Mass. prep school football title for the second year in succession. He played center on the basketball team last winter and this spring has been holding down third base while hitting well. He will enter Brown in September, the Alma Mater of his father who played first base for Brown in the days when Allie Dickinson, late Newton high athletic coach, was at second base.

Reach Semi-finals
Two of the teams representing Newton High reached the semi-finals of the second annual interscholastic mixed doubles tennis championship at Winchester High last Saturday but both were eliminated and had no chance to figure in the final play for the title which was won by Virginia Arnold and Edward Mahoney of Brighton High school. H. Chase and Bob Ashley of Newton were put out in the final round by the ultimate champions in straight sets, 3-6, 2-6 after they had reached the semi-finals by defeating Barbara Tosh and Paul Guibord of Melrose, 4-6, 6-2, 6-2. Guibord won the boys' singles championship recently. Katherine Offutt and Jackson Skillings of Newton defeated the other semi-final bracket by defeating the Brookline team of P. Blanchard and Lane, 3-6, 6-5, 6-2. In the semi-final round they met Grace Cutter and Roger Pettigill of Winchester with the latter team winning, 6-3, 5-6, 6-4.

Scores for Exeter
Milton Green, former Newton high star track athlete, now at Exeter, placed third in the high hurdle race in the dual meet with Andover last Saturday which the latter school won handily.

don in 1933 should be one of the outstanding in schoolboy circles.

HUSTON AGAIN NAMED AT SHORT ON ALL-LEAGUE NINE

For the second successive season Warren Huston, all-round Newton High School athlete, has been unanimously selected at shortstop on the annual All-Suburban league baseball team chosen by the coaches of the five teams that are members of the circuit. Selections for this year's nine were made in the Boston Transcript on Wednesday evening. Cambridge Latin, winners of the title, have five representatives on the team with Somerville getting three, Rindge Tech two, and Newton and Brookline one each. Total of twelve players is accounted for by the fact that the voting resulted in ties for second and third bases and one of the outfield positions. The team includes John Kelly, Camb. Latin, pitcher; Rappoli, Somerville, catcher; McPadden of Cambridge first base; Kaplan of Brookline and McMahon of Cambridge, second base; Huston of Newton, shortstop; John Lyons of Rindge and Davis of Somerville, third base; Maloney of Rindge, Chesterfield of Somerville, and LaRonde and Rudgiss, both of Cambridge in the outfield.

In addition to the selection of Huston as a unanimous choice Kelly, Chesterfield and Maloney also received the votes of all coaches in the league with the exception of that of their own mentor. Other Newton players who received recognition in the voting were Houghton at first base on the team chosen by Coach MacDonald of Cambridge and Tommy Lyons, catcher, who received the votes for the receiving berth from Coach Dickerman of Somerville and Coach Fitzgerald of Brookline.

The Boston Globe names a first and second all-scholastic team from a field which includes the Boston and Greater Boston public school teams. Honorable mention is given to others who were prominent factors in the play of their respective outfits. Newton places but one of its players in the select class with Warren Huston being selected as shortstop on the second team. Last year Huston was given the berth on the first team but was nosed out in this year's race by Walter Hilliard. Revere High shortstop. Honorable mention is given to the following other Newton players: Rhodes and Giles, pitchers; Lyons, catcher; Houghton, first base; and Mullen, outfielder.

The Boston Herald also picks Hilliard over Huston at the shortstop berth but as no second team choices are made Huston is named in the honor roll. Last year he was on the Herald All-team but was not named because his hitting fell off this season to some extent. Tommy Rhodes is the only other Newton youth to be named on the honor roll.

The Boston Post names three teams with three Newton youths being mentioned on the third team in Huston at shortstop, Lyons as catcher and Mullen in the outfield. Walker of Dorchester and Coveney of Mechanic Arts were picked ahead of Huston and Snow of Dorchester and Rappoli of Somerville were chosen ahead of Lyons.

The Post honor roll includes Houghton of Newton, first base.

HOUGHTON AND HUSTON NAMED SPORT CAPTAINS

Captains for the varsity teams at the Newton High school next year have been elected with the exception of that in baseball. Last week Charles Houghton was chosen to lead the hockey team next winter and Warren Huston was chosen to lead the basketball five. Huston was also elected football captain for next fall at the end of the 1931 season. It is expected that a number of the letter men of Coach Jones' baseball squad will meet shortly to name the leader of the 1932 nine.

Senior Base Ball

The Y. M. C. A. Senior Base Ball Team directed this year by Lewis C. Bills, a former player for the "Y", plays its first Twilight League games this week when it plays Auburndale at the "Y" on Wednesday, and Upper Falls at Upper Falls on Thursday. On Saturday afternoon the Y. M. C. A. plays the Russell Box Company at Medford.

Last week the "Y" defeated the Nonantum Boy's Club 4 to 1 at Victory Field, the West Newton City Club 6-1 at West Newton Commons and Monticello Lodge 8 to 1 at Cabot Park.

Junior Base Ball
The Junior Base Ball Team defeated the Newton Independents at the Y. M. C. A. field on Saturday evening 10-2. Jim Doherty, pitching for the "Y" Juniors allowed only six hits with twelve strike-outs. Pete Morrisson's catching and pep kept the Juniors on their toes throughout the game. The infield played airtight ball with Fraser at 1st base, Barley at 2nd, Byrnes at 3rd, and Dolbier at short-stop. Bass, Bloomberg, and McCarthy played well in the outfield.

Life Saving Class

Mrs. Frank E. Morris, president of the Association, called for annual reports from the officers and chairmen who were applauded for the amount of work which had been done in their various departments. Two piano selections, "Impromptu in A Flat" by Schubert and "Prelude in C Sharp Minor" by Rachmaninoff, were given by Miss Margaret Hartshorn of Needham, who was presented by her teacher, Mrs. Elsie J. Foss. Mrs. Melvin
C. Clay and Mrs. Allan J. MacQuarrie were chairmen of the serving committee.

MOST POPULAR MEMBERS OF SENIOR CLASS

Upon the publication of the Newtonian, Wednesday, the high school senior class annual, it became known that the Class had elected Charles W. most-class artist and athlete, and the most popular man, and Helen Ellis, orator and member of the Glee Club, the most popular girl.

The 625 members of the Class also expressed the following opinions and preferences: Col. and Mrs. Charles A.
Lindbergh, the most admired man and woman; Sherlock Holmes and Thomas Hardy shared literary appeal with the Saturday Evening Post; John Malley and Julia Harvey, most versatile; best looking, Edward Campbell and Jean Williams; most athletic, William Duane and Margaret Fletcher; most likely to succeed, John Malley and Julia Harvey.

An oil portrait of Mr. Palmer, the retiring Principal, is the class gift to the High School. The book is dedicated to Paul E. Elicker, the newly elected Principal.

ODOR AT BULLOUGH'S POND

Residents in the vicinity of Bullough's Pond, Newtonville have complained to the Board of Health of a disagreeable odor from the pond.
Employees of the Health Department removed some dead fish from the pond, but this did not remove the odor. A green scum covers the pond and a petition is being circulated to have the pond cleaned. Complaints are also being made about large rats which have their habitations about the pond.

About 6 years ago the city spent $26,000 to have the pond dredged and a cement weir constructed at the south end. The purpose of the weir was to prevent silt and other debris from filling the southerly part of the pond. The pond was not dredged to the extent expected, and the weir did not keep material from flowing in. It is claimed, however, that the weir would serve as anticipated, if it were cleaned out regularly.

K. O. F. C. ELECTS OFFICERS

Newton Council, Knights of Columbus held its annual election on Tuesday night. The officers elected are:

nehan, treasurer; William J. Geegan, advocate; Terence Conroy, inside guard; Raymond Keenan, outside guard; Thomas A. Waters, trustee for three years; Walter J. Connor, delegate to the State convention; Charles E. Coyne and John J. Hickey, alternates; James Flynn, delegate to the Boston convention.

Home association trustees: William J. Doherty, St. James P. Gallagher,
William J. Gerrity, George W. Linnehan, John J. Monahan; William M.
Cahill, treasurer of the home association; John A. Dunton, clerk.

Police News

John Savilonis, 16, of 24 Sullivan avenue, Newton Upper Falls, was charged in the Newton court last Friday with having committed assault and battery on a neighbor. Savilonis was placed on probation until December 3.

Mary McHugh who was found guilty of having stolen property from her employer, John Riddell of Windsor road, Waban, was in the Newton court last Friday for sentence. She was placed on probation for 3 months.

John Anzivino of 65 Columbia avenue, Newton Upper Falls was in the Newton court last Friday charged with stealing an automobile in this city, and also with stealing hens from three places. Several months ago Anzivino was sentenced to serve 15 months in the Middlesex County jail at Billerica after he had been convicted of stealing hens at Natick. In March, with three other prisoners, Anzivino escaped from the jail. He was not captured until June 2nd, when he was taken at Springfield in a car he had stolen from Newton Centre. With him was Ernest LaRue of Jersey City.

In court on Friday Newton police testified that Anzivino had confessed that last November he had stolen 50 hens from John Janse of Parker street, Newton Centre, and 43 hens, 3 ducks and a turkey from Henry Mills of Winchester street, Newton Highlands.
The police also testified that Anzivino had admitted having stolen 30 hens last August from Fred Thompson of Upland street, Newton Highlands, and that he had stated that to prevent the hens from becoming noisy, he had burned sulphur in the henhouses to stupefy the fowl. Acting as his own attorney, Anzivino denied having made these admissions. For stealing the fowl in this city he was sentenced to the Concord Reformatory. For stealing the car, he was bound over to the Grand Jury. He appealed from the reformatory sentence.

The Newton police have sent a warning about an old woman who has been going to houses in this city asking for money on the claim that she had lost her pocketbook and needed cash.

Mrs. Nicolina Marino of 62 Green street, Nonantum, was in the Newton court on Monday charged with larceny of $145 from Mrs. Antonia Gentile of Nonantum. Mrs. Gentile claims that she forgot a pocketbook containing the money on the steps of her home, and that when she went to get the pocketbook the money was gone. She accused Mrs. Marino of having taken it. The case was continued to June 10.

Watches, trophies, and other articles, valued at $200, and stolen some time ago from the professional's quarters at the Woodland Golf Club, were found hidden a few days ago in a clump of bushes off Grove street. A citizen found them and notified the police.

Dr. Egon Lorenz of Autumn street, Boston, was fined $100 by Judge Allen in the Newton court yesterday for driving while under the influence of liquor. He was arrested early last Saturday morning at Newton Centre
by Patrolman O'Donnell.

Roland Rousseau of 67 River street,
West Newton, was sentenced to serve 30 days in jail by Judge Allen in the Newton court yesterday. He was also sentenced to serve 10 days in jail for having been drunk. He was fined $100 for operating an uninsured automobile. He appealed all three penalties. The longer sentence was for driving while under the influence of liquor; it was Rousseau's second conviction for such an offence. Patrolman Thomas Whelan testified that he found Rousseau near Nonantum square standing near his automobile, and because of the latter's condition, the policeman warned him not to drive the car. When the patrolman walked a short distance away, Rouseau got into the car and drove off.
He was pursued by a police car and arrested. Patrolman Patrick Whelan of Natick testified that he had arrested Rousseau in that town for driving while soured.

Richard Pocina, 17, and Woodrow Pocina, 16, of Exchange street, Waltham, were in the Newton court yesterday charged with stealing an automobile from the garage of their father, Frank Pocina of 286 Watertown street, Nonantum. The youths, who reside with their grandmother, are accused of taking the car after midnight Tuesday. They were captured by police in Westbrook, Connecticut, on Wednesday when the car ran out of gasoline. They were brought back to Newton by Inspector King and Special Officers Feeley and Mullin. Their cases were continued until today.

In the Newton court yesterday William Wong of Brookline, a Sinoese, was fined $50 for driving a car after his license had been revoked. Wong lost his license recently when he impersonated another Chinaman and took a test to obtain an automobile license. He was spotted driving a car at Newton Centre the other night
by Patrolman O'Donnell.

In court yesterday three Cambridge youths were fined $5 each for speeding, and fined another $5 each for not slowing down at street intersections. They were Thomas Spencer, Alfred Loomis, Jr., and Christopher Wilson, Jr.

COMMONWEALTH COUNTRY CLUB

Among the Newton ladies who are entertaining one or more tables at the forthcoming Play-As-You-Please Plaza Party out at the Commonwealth Country Club, Chestnut street, on Saturday afternoon, June 11, are Misses Arnold B. Davis, Whitney E. Harmon, Edmund T. Keefe, Maurice E. Peters and Robert B. Werden.

Mrs. Renshaw Smith, Jr., also of Newton together with Mrs. Robert S.
Wayland of Brookline are in charge of the affair.

Among other ladies entertaining are Misses Herbert F. Jenkins, Charles M.
Keep, Worthen K. Rayworth, Elizabeth Widmer and Charles E. Young.

Rotary Club

Members of the Newton Rotary Club heard a most interesting and instructive talk on aviation and the development of the auto-giro at the regular meeting on Monday this week at the Woodland Golf Club. Mr. Herbert C. Mayer of Auburndale, who is connected with the Wellesley-Natick Airport, and who has taken an interest in this newer phase of aviation, was the guest speaker.

Mr. Mayer stated that most people either regard aviators as either brave or foolish but that he felt it was about one of the duller occupations, especially as far as long flights were concerned. He spoke briefly of his connection with aviation dating back to 1910 when he was one of a ground crew for Glenn Curtiss. He mentioned the steady progress of aviation since that time with the elimination of many problems the greatest of which was that of getting enough power with the least weight. One of the disadvantages of a machine of the DO-X type is the necessity of frequent refueling as it is impossible to carry much gasoline without making it too heavy to fly. There are three methods of solving this problem—first, bigger planes; second, shorter flights; and third, the practical application of a new principle.

The first solution is rather difficult as the bigger the plane the greater the weight. The solution of the second is by providing more good airports. The New England terrain is treacherous because of its roughness in comparison to the flat level plains of the Middle West. The problem of airports is an interesting subject and one in which cities and towns may well take an interest in order to properly safeguard the younger generation which is taking an active interest in the subject of aviation. Mr.
Mayer stated that many parents are content to let their children feel their way along rather than protect them by planning wisely, getting the proper backing, and using proper judgment.

Solving the problem by the third method is progressing through the attempt to produce a machine that will fly after rising vertically and being able to descend in the same manner, safely. The balloon is of this type but once up it depends upon the wind to go from one place to another. The helicopter was another machine of this type but once it got off the ground it spun in the opposite direction from that of the blades which lifted it off the ground and there was no way of holding it in position.
Cerva, a Spaniard, who had interested himself in aviation and was a master mathematician, realizing that when an airplane went into a "tail-spin" it was but the natural and automatic gyration of the machine when out of proper balance. He worked out a mathematical formula by which the tail-spin could be made to work for the machine. He built a model helicopter, harnessing the tail-spin principle which worked as planned.

His first large ship he constructed too rigidly and it failed to fly. This mistake led him to use flexible blades which are like wings, made of a special steel tubing, which corrected his previous error. The centrifugal force of this blade is sufficient to hold them in the proper position although there is no control over the blades in the air. The weight of the ship keeps them in motion and they cannot stop unless they fall off. In the ten years since the auto-giro was first invented but one blade ever fell off and that was on the first ship built. The autogiro will not go up straight, needing a distance of 50 to 300 feet depending upon weather conditions for a take-off, but it will come down vertically. Its greatest speed in descent is from eight to twelve feet per second as compared with that of sixteen feet per second for a parachute. Its only hazard is through fire which is being reduced to a minimum through the continued development of motors.
Should the engine stop the blades will keep twirling and allow the ship to descend safely. It is an easy ship to handle while in the air and it can develop a speed up to 210 per hour which is fast enough for any trip.

evening, June 15th.

You Get Thick Whipping Cream With the Milk in Cream Top Bottles

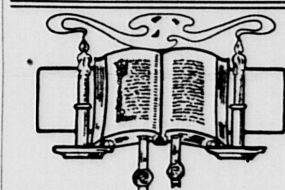

But there is more than good milk in Cream
Top Bottles—there's the cream! Rich. Pure Cream that you can whip stiff! You get it in every Cream Top Bottle. Just insert the convenient separator which we give you, pour off all the cream, use it as you wish.

Where whole milk is needed for growing children, the Cream Top Bottle is a certain indicator of the finest quality.

In all large cities where Cream Top Bottles are used, they are overwhelmingly popular.
Housewives welcome this long desired milk service that we are justly proud to offer you!
Remember, it is an exclusive service, that only our Dairy offers. Ask any of our drivers or telephone us for demonstration.

LONGER VOTING HOURS

At the last meeting of the Newton Board of Aldermen legislation was passed extending the hours during which the polls will be open on the various election days so that voters will have the opportunity of casting their ballots until eight o'clock in the evening. The opening hour, instead of 6 o'clock will be at 7 A.M. In many city elections and primaries of recent years the interest among the voters of Newton has been considerably apathetic, due partly to the lack of contests between candidates and also in part to the lack of interest of Newton people in local politics. The coming elections, state primaries, the national election and the city election in the fall, offer an excellent chance to give the new plan, adopted in many communities several years ago, a thorough tryout in Newton. Should the longer hours result in an increased interest in state and local politics as expected the move is a step in the right direction.

COMMENCEMENT TIME

June is not only the month of roses but it is also "Commencement" time. Many of our young people are graduating from college to enter various fields of endeavor. Our high school students are leaving the schools of secondary education in search of higher learning or are entering directly into varied occupations. More so today than ever before we have the chance to lend a hand to those who will carry the brunt of the burdens in the future. There is little question but what the nation and the world will recover from its present troubles. If we have learned our lessons as well as the youths who have earned their diplomas many of the pitfalls which led to the present condition of affairs can be avoided in the future.

Have you noticed to what degree of alacrity the State legislature which prorogued this week side-stepped the issues pertaining to a reduction in their salaries and to the subject of drawing pay at any extra session that may be called?

About Town

By Edw. H. Powers

Washington street is open to traffic—if you want to take a chance of busting the springs on your car. Our suggestion is to use other streets whenever possible.

The steam shovels excavating Washington street have been raising havoc with the shade trees along the street and in adjoining yards. The smoke from the stacks has killed foliage on the trees. For the protection of the diminished number of our shade trees, any future contracts for work on streets ought to specify that the use of steam shovels will not be permitted. Many contractors use gasoline powered shovels.

Letters To The Editor

Newton Center, June 9, 1932.
Editor, Newton Graphic.
Dear Sir:—

Fifty-four years ago, I, William F. Woodman, established myself at Newton Center as the village newsdealer and became the local agent for the HERALD. Ever since then I have served all the Boston papers and the ever widening clientele faithfully and well. Late on Tuesday, May 31st, I received notice from the Herald-Traveler that on June 1st my sub-agent's business would be taken away by the Herald-Traveler. For the convenience of my customers I had established these agencies at a considerable cost so that my patrons might be better served at any time—day or night. I had a dozen or more agents to whom I supplied all papers. When I remonstrated that these were my agencies and I had financed them (as regards papers) for years, the Herald-Traveler threatened to take away all service from me. Their management claimed "no contract privileges."

Since then a fleet of automobiles, a flock of non-resident women checkers and canvassers, hawkers of papers, and an army of boy distributors have filled the streets of Newton Centre with unwanted, undesirable activity. We object to being torpedoed without warning. We build our business upon impartial service and we ask our customers to stand by us in this emergency. If you desire to see fair play and justice done to one who has served faithfully for years, help us carry on by reading any other Boston paper which we can deliver as we have done in the past.

Answering some assertions on the part of some of the checkers and canvassers, I assert that in all the years I have done business with the Herald-Traveler, there has never been a lapse in my monthly settlements. To my old customers I say: Do you believe in a "square deal"? I ask your help. Call upon me or telephone me for your newspaper service, or advise your newsboy who has been loyal to you.
(Signed)

couple of weeks. It is too bad the beautiful blooms of these shrubs do not last longer.

A West Newton lady informed us a couple of days ago that several times she has had narrow escapes from being knocked down by bicycles ridden on sidewalks by boys. Her last escape from such a collision was directly in front of Police Headquarters at West Newton. The practice of riding bicycles on sidewalks in this city has increased many fold the past few years. So inopportune did some parents become regarding their children being permitted to ride bicycles on sidewalks, that a few years past a petition was presented to the Board of Aldermen, and favorably acted upon, which would have amended the City Ordinance so that riding bicycles on sidewalks would be made permissible for children. One Alderman, who contended that pedestrians still have some rights, questioned the legal right of the Aldermen to grant any such permission, and the City Solicitor had to admit that it is not legal to ride bicycles on sidewalks.

No generous minded person begrudges children any reasonable opportunity to enjoy themselves. But, because automobile traffic has made streets unsafe for bicycle riders, it cannot be justly argued that boys and girls should be allowed to operate these vehicles on walks reserved for pedestrians. Even in the past generation, when bicycles were commonly used, a large percentage of the boys and girls of those days did not own one. In the "gay nineties" a bicycle cost $150, and later $100. The "kids" of that period did not have the financial resources (through indulgent parents) that the present generation of youngsters enjoy. Neither did they have public playgrounds, school athletic fields and other free opportunities for exercising. It is too bad that children today cannot ride bicycles on streets. This is no reason, however, why the police should permit them to endanger the lives of pedestrians, old and young, by reckless riding of bicycles on sidewalks. Too much latitude has been given this violation of the law in this city. It is about time that unrestricted riding of bicycles on Newton sidewalks should be stopped. If boys cannot ride bicycles on sidewalks with due regard for the rights of pedestrians, the use of sidewalks should be restricted in strict accordance with the statutes.

The law forbidding unnecessary blowing of automobile horns was certainly broken in this city last night. Those who use this method of advertising show little consideration for sick persons who are disturbed by such a racket.

Extra equipment has been added to the Washington street job and the work is proceeding rapidly. The first cement for surfacing will be applied today at the Newton Corner end of the job. Incidentally, the comparatively few men employed on this task, proves the fallacy of the plan to have the Federal or State Governments appropriate huge sums for road building, so that the unemployment condition will be appreciably relieved.

The Street Department is doing good work the past few weeks keeping the parking spaces and cross walks in the business sections well painted.

Calvin Coolidge speaks in the interest of the people of the United States when he says "the international war debts due us cannot be cancelled." He speaks in the interest of the people of the United States; not for the "interest" due on private loans made by our big-time bankers.

Under The Gilded Dome

Prorogation of the 147th Legislature came at 11:49 Tuesday night after a day of considerable excitement. The Governor had threatened to keep the members in session until they passed a resolve providing for their attendance at any special session that might be called without additional compensation. He had sent a message to this effect Friday of last week and the Joint Rules Committee reported "no legislation necessary." In the Senate, however, the Democratic leader offered a resolve covering the suggestions of the Governor, but that resolve was rejected by a rising vote of 20 to 10. Word was sent to the Governor and he immediately said he would not consent to prorogation unless something was done. Speaker Saltonstall and President Bacon got together in the Speaker's office and drafted a letter to the Governor in which they promised to make every endeavor to have the members serve without pay should the Governor see fit to call a special session. The Democratic House and Senate leaders drafted a similar document. The two were sent to the Governor who immediately relented and said he was satisfied with the promise of these men. Thus final adjournment was made possible.

Newton has a direct interest in at least one measure passed by this year's General Court. It was the subject of three animated hearings and has been discussed in the newspapers. It was signed by the Governor on the last day of the session. The bill relates to the construction of a parkway or boulevard from Hammond street, Brookline, to Beacon street, Newton Centre, and the construction of an extension of such a parkway or boulevard in Newton Centre. As signed by the Governor the bill has the following provisions:

"Section 1. The Metropolitan District Commission is hereby authorized to lay out and construct, in accordance with the provisions of chapter ninety-two of the General Laws relative to the laying out and construction of parkways and boulevards, a parkway or boulevard from a point at or near the junction of Newton street with Hammond street, in the town of Brookline, to Beacon street, in the city of Newton, at or near Hobart road, following substantially the course described as 'Route 1' in the special report of the commission filed with the general court December first, nineteen hundred and twenty-eight, except that that part of said parkway or boulevard to be laid out and constructed near the westerly shores of Hammond's pond in the city of Newton may be laid out and constructed within any distance eleven hundred feet or less from the westerly shores of said pond as said commission may determine.

"Section 2. Said commission is hereby authorized to expend any unexpended balance of the amount appropriated by item six hundred and eighty-seven B of chapter four hundred and sixty of the acts of nineteen hundred and thirty-one, at any time within three years after the passage of this act, toward paying the cost of the acquisition of land and the construction of a parkway or boulevard extending from Beacon street in the city of Newton to Commonwealth avenue in said city, as a continuation of the parkway or boulevard authorized by section one of said act; and the balance of the sum necessary to complete said continuation shall be paid by the city of Newton.

"Section 3. Section two of this act shall not take effect unless accepted, during the current year, by vote of the board of aldermen of the city of Newton, subject to the provisions of its charter."

There were 304 acts and 49 resolves passed during the 1932 session. The Governor vetoed eight acts and four resolves. Of three of the acts he was overridden by both branches. The Governor withheld his approval from two acts which have become law without his signature.

The Governor's final message to the Legislature was an oral one and was given the joint committee of Senate and House members which waited upon him to notify him, as required by the constitution, that the Legislature was ready to be prorogued. The Governor's parting fling was as follows: "Please convey to the assembled branches of the Legislature my appreciation of their services to the Commonwealth and say to them that what they have done I appreciate and what they have not done I fully understand."

It is understood that Senator Hollis and Representatives Baker, Luitwieler and Thompson will seek reelection. Speaker Saltonstall has already said he would seek another term. Representative Luitwieler told the GRAPHIC representative Tuesday night that he would be a candidate for another term. Senator Hollis served in the House from 1925 to 1928 and from 1928 to the present time he has been a member of the upper branch. Representative Baker has been a member of the House for four years. Representative Luitwieler eight years and Representative Thompson six years.

The Governor's program for special taxation, like that of the Joint Ways and Means Committee and the Committee on Taxation, was not adopted in spite of the fact that Speaker Saltonstall and President Bacon pleaded with their colleagues to consider favorably legislation looking to the relief of cities and towns. The House spent nearly six hours one day scrapping over the matter and the Senate nearly three hours on another day. The Governor now says he may call a special session. The only feature of the Governor's program relating to the present financial difficulties of cities and towns to receive favorable action was a resolve for a creation of a special commission of eight Representatives and three Senators to investigate the general sub-

No Heavy Trucks Are Allowed on Oak Hill Streets

Renewal of Permit to Gravel Pit Limited to 6 Months

The petition of the Highland Sand & Gravel Company for an extension of the permit to operate their plant of Wiswall street, Oak Hill for a period of 3 years was acted upon Monday night by the Aldermen. This company has, for the past few years been operating a large gravel pit near the West Roxbury line at Oak Hill and many protests have come from residents, particularly on Brookline street because of the great number of heavy trucks travelling to and from the pit, and because of the machinery at the pit having been operated during early morning, and night hours. When a hearing was held on this petition recently a number of Oak Hill residents appeared to object.

The permit was renewed Monday night, but for a period of only 6 months. Restrictions imposed in conjunction with the renewal of the permit, included the prohibition of traffic on Brookline and Oak Hill streets to trucks 2½ tons and over, that machinery at the pit will not be operated before 7 a. m. or after 7 p. m., and an area of about 2 acres, now filled with water shall be filled in with solid material during the 6 months' period.

Alderman Holden was the only member to vote against renewing the permit even with the added restrictions. He said we are having trouble with gravel pits all over the city and a gravel pit should be taken against them. Alderman Ball said that a peculiar condition has existed regarding gravel pits. In past years owners of these pits were given permits to erect equipment and structures and start operations by authority of the Building Commissioner and Mayor under the ordinance which permits a temporary structure for one year in a residence zone. Then the buck was passed to the Aldermen for renewals of these permits. In the meantime so much gravel had been excavated, and pits created, that it became almost necessary to grant renewals in the hope that unsightly pits might be improved in appearance. He referred to the eyesores at North street, Newtonville; Washington street, opposite Beacon street, Lower Falls; and Needham street at Newton Upper Falls. He said that the City Solicitor has informed him that the law has been changed so that the future permits will be improved in appearance. He referred to the Aldermen and not from the Buildings Commissioner, and he hoped this information is correct.

Protest Against B. C. Stadium

Residents of Chestnut Hill have been protesting against the temporary grandstands which are to be erected by Boston College on its grounds in that section. The stands will be erected this summer so as to be available for the football games next autumn. They will seat 17,000 persons. Among those who have protested are: William Coburn, Old Orchard road; H. H. Benis, Old Orchard road; Harry Stimpson and Louis Liggett of Hammond street; Frederick O'Connor of Old Orchard road; Mrs. Endicott Saltonstall, Chestnut Hill road.

It is contended that the erection of the big stands and the resultant crowds will cause traffic congestion in the district and depreciate the value of property there. The college officials answer that the grandstands, of steel and wood, will not be permanent, and will be removed at some future date to make room for college buildings. They also say that there will be parking space within the college grounds for 3000 automobiles. City officials have no power to prevent the building of the stands provided they conform with the requirements of Newton's building code.

ject of the cost of government. This is in line with the Governor's policy that a study of expenditures may bring about possible reductions in salaries and departmental appropriations. The present Legislature appears to be set against all proposals to reduce salaries, including their own, and it will be interesting to see what the special commission reports. Such a report may be made to the special session if one is called. At any rate there is every prospect of a busy summer after the National conventions of major political parties in Chicago have adjourned. Representative Baker has been appointed to service on this special committee by Speaker Saltonstall.

After the Legislature passed a highly important piece of automobile insurance legislation. It was signed by the Governor on the final day and provides for the revocation or suspension of licenses of motor vehicle operators who do not satisfy execution in accident cases involving property damage. This new law gives a car owner, whose machine is damaged, a chance to collect damages whether the other car is driven by the owner or someone else. If any driver causes an accident he is liable and cannot sidestep the responsibility by saying that he does not own the car. The bill states that "The Registrar of Motor Vehicles shall suspend or revoke the license of any person who fails to satisfy in full, within a period of 30 days, an execution issued out of any court of this Commonwealth in an action against him for property damage arising out of an accident caused by a motor vehicle for whose operation he is responsible, upon receipt by the Registrar of evidence satisfactory to him that said execution has not been so satisfied. The Registrar shall not terminate such suspension or issue a new license to such person until it has been shown to the Registrar that such execution has been so satisfied or that the claim of the judgments creditor has been otherwise fully satisfied."

By L. D. G. Bentley

After we hear of the easy ways some people get money we begin to think there should be a list of preferred taxpayers.

Making Radicals Behave

Impatiently, I have on more than one occasion observed a group of young radicals stage a "demand" for action by public officials. Usually the request has been for the impossible. As if that were not sufficient the speakers have been almost insolent in their attitude. What brought this to my mind is the approach of "Flag Day" next Tuesday and "Bunker Hill Day," the Friday following. To impertinent youth with communistic ideas the two days have no meaning unless it be further opportunity to scoff at the country which has provided them with advantages they fail to acknowledge or appreciate.

When these young people are doing their stuff, baiting some patient executive to be exact, they assume an air of lofty superiority. It is plainly evident they feel themselves much better equipped intellectually than the man who is listening to their speeches. The thought that comes to one on the side of the street is that some older persons have put into their heads notions which are notions and nothing more. The manner of "presenting the case" reminds one of a debating society in full blast, with each contestant striving to outdo his colleague in an effort to be both eloquent and impertinent.

An executive does well to restrain his feelings. However, it must be a strain to be obliged to sit calmly in one's chair with the impulse in one's heart to box the ears of those before him. Governors placed in such a position have always shown great toleration as my experience has permitted me to notice.

In many instances the chief impression gathered by the onlooker is the immaturity of the radical speaker. He denounces his fellow Americans for blindly following a stupid leadership while he himself is doing the very same thing. Each group of fiery young men and women has a "boss" who gives the cue when to advance against the guard of police, who starts the cheering, which is really jeering, and the signal for the singing of communistic songs. It practically amounts to a performance by trained performers.

After one of these occasions it is hard to hold one's own tongue. A little reflection thought is followed by reasoning and the thought comes, "What a ridiculous spectacle they made of themselves." Nevertheless, you cannot help feeling that something should be done to repress the freshness of these youngsters and nothing more appropriate than a good spanking.

CLOUDS OF SMOKE

Are you aware that your chimney is being watched? Maybe you will say, "What of it?" Only this, the State of Massachusetts through its Division of Smoke Inspection is alert to the perils to health and property from atmospheric impurity. From an office on the twenty-third floor of a building in downtown Boston—the United Shoe Machinery structure on Federal street—State officials may observe most of the stacks in the Metropolitan district. This point is approximately 300 feet above the street level and provides an unobstructed view on all sides. Here sit men with powerful telescopes to pick up and identify a chimney smoking in excess of the amount allowed by law.

Twelve inspectors are on the job and the remedy and engineers who contribute to the smoke nuisance soon find out they are not getting away with anything. Four hundred stacks may be viewed in the course of a day's work by an inspector. He does not get his complete information at the main office but selects in addition other points from which he discerns violations. Every time the smoke of a transgressor lifts itself into the air Mr. Inspector makes a record of it, the offender is notified and given a hearing. Suggestions and advice are offered and, if adopted, all goes well. Otherwise, court action follows. All the smoke division asks is cooperation and usually it is forthcoming. Thus a lot of trouble is saved all around.

Davis A. Chapman is the director of the smoke division and he has nice things to say about property owners who show the right spirit. What he thinks about those who fail to get his point is something else again. But the work of Massachusetts is so important and has produced so many satisfactory results that other States are falling in line. Colleges have realized the value of smoke abatement and are giving courses for the training of engineers to carry on this work. It is a new field for the combustion engineer who is able to recommend the installation of devices whereby the nuisance is abated and money saved for the property owner and manufacturer.

Smoke emitted in heavy volumes doesn't necessarily mean a violation of the law because in the law stacks are divided into various classes, according to the area at the top of the stack, and each one is allowed so many minutes per hour in which to emit smoke.

Personally, it may not make much difference to you whether there is smoke or not but Mr. Chapman says that the increase to the average citizen's laundry bill, as a result of a smoky city, is appalling. So, remember that and praise the Old Bay State for looking after your interests.

Aren't We All?

Governor chides the solons for taking up their time with such matters as paying damages to those whose automobiles are run into by wild deer on State highways, compensating a man for the loss of a bicycle stolen by a State ward and voting to reimburse public employees who have been removed for cause.

If we stop to think these bills are put in because the members are requested to introduce them. In that they may be open to criticism. However, the real cause is the pressure that is brought upon a member by prominent people of his district. The average legislator is eager to please those who vote for him and to whom he looks for support when he runs for reelection. A measure, trifling to a majority of the voters, is brought to a Senator or Representative and rather than offend he signs his name to it and thus it is placed among the grist of matters for the consideration of the General Court.

Everybody in public life, not excluding the Governor, knows how the voters can worry him with their requests for favors. On some of the least vital measures there may be organized a drive to put it across. Hundreds of letters are written to members. People meet them in the corridors of the State House and plead for favorable action. In their own district they receive telephone calls and personal visits. All of this tends to make a legislator seek the easiest way out. It is less troublesome to say "Yes" and he does so, hoping to hear no more about it.

The numberless requests made to the Governor for jobs and for this and that are enough to make a chief executive disposed to throw up his job. The same is true of legislators. It can't help getting on their nerves and the result is a lot of grumbling, some of it openly. Another thing I have noticed that towards the end of a legislative session the relations between a Governor and the General Court are not as pleasant as they were before session started. Both need a vacation. Usually time heals the scars and by Fall smiles take the place of frowns and at Christmas greetings are exchanged with genuine heartiness. It is merely human nature asserting itself all around.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"God the Preserver of Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, June 12. The Golden Text is: "Thy righteousness is like the great mountains; thy judgments are a great deep: O Lord, thou preservest man and beast" (Psalms 36:6).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "He that dwelleth in the secret place of the most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty. Surely he shall deliver thee from the snare of the fowler, and from the noisome pestilence. He shall cover thee with his feathers, and under this wings shalt thou trust: thy truth shall be thy shield and buckler" (Psalms 91:1, 2, 4).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The history of Christianity furnishes sublime proofs of the supporting influence and protecting power bestowed on man by his heavenly Father, omnipotent Mind, who gives man faith and understanding whereby to defend himself, not only from temptation, but from bodily suffering" (p. 387).

Recent Deaths

NELLIE F. WELLS

Miss Nellie F. Wells died Saturday morning, June 4, at the home of her niece, Mrs. Edward Burnham in Wollaston, where she had resided for a few years. She was born in South Boston 75 years ago, the daughter of the late Benjamin T. and Martha Wells. The family home was at 23 Otis street, Newtonville, for many years and Miss Wells continued to live in Newtonville after the home was broken up following the death of her parents, until she moved to Wollaston. She was a faithful member of the Newtonville Methodist Episcopal Church for 45 years and seldom missed a Sunday service at that church even after she left the city. She attended Wellesley College and possessed a rare mind which gave her a marked appreciation of the best in music, art and literature. Her pastor, the Rev. Lawrence W. C. Emig, conducted the funeral service at the Newton Cemetery Chapel Sunday afternoon and burial was in the family lot.

MILDRED PHIPPEN WIEST

Mildred Phippen Wiest, wife of Oscar P. Wiest of Pontiac, Michigan, died in this city on June 8. She was born in Newton 36 years ago, the daughter of Edward A. and Mary L. Phippen of 70 Pembroke street. Her funeral service will be held at her parents' home on Saturday, June 11, at 2 p. m.; Rev. Richard Preston of Grace Church will officiate. Burial will be at Salem. She is survived by her husband; two sons, Hardy Phippen Wiest and Philip Wiest; her parents; and two brothers—Clement Phippen of Belmont and E. Willard Phippen of Arlington.

MRS. CATHERINE DUVALL

Mrs. Catherine (nee Hurley) widow of the late John H. Duvall, for many years a resident of Upper Falls, died after a lingering illness at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Alice G. Davis, 68 Field street, Roxbury, Mass., on Monday, June 6.

Funeral services were held from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Alice G. Davis, 68 Field street, Roxbury, at 9 a. m. Thursday, followed by solemn high mass of requiem at the Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Church, Upper Falls, on Thursday at 10 a. m. Mrs. Duvall is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Alice G. Davis.

Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery, Needham.

MINA CASTA

Mina Casta, husband of Eliesanera Casta of 960 Chestnut street, Upper Falls, died Monday, June 6, at his late home.

Mr. Casta, who had been a resident of Chestnut street the past few weeks, formerly lived in Albania before coming to this country three years ago.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon June 8, from the Albanian Church on Shawmut avenue, Boston. Burial was in Mt. Benedict Cemetery, West Roxbury.

Aldermen Meet

A regular meeting of the Board of Aldermen was held Monday night. Seventeen members were present—the absentees were Bowen, Farrell, Harte and Howlett. The meeting started at 8 o'clock; a short recess was held from 8:30 until 10:30 for committee meetings, and then the Board came out into the open again until 11:10 when it adjourned.

The first matters on the docket were hearings on petitions of the Edison Company for permits to lay the following underground conduits: Edison Electric Illuminating Co. of Boston, underground conduits and manholes: Washington street, Ward 2, at a point about 25 feet east of Walnut street, a distance of approximately 35 feet; Commonwealth avenue, between North street and Lakeview avenue, Ward 6, a distance of approximately 790 feet; Commonwealth avenue, at Walnut street, a distance of approximately 100 feet; Lakeview avenue, easterly from Commonwealth avenue, a distance of approximately 75 feet; Fenno road, Ward 6, at Walnut street, a distance of approximately 35 feet; Walnut street, Ward 6, between Homer street and Commonwealth avenue, a distance of approximately 1010 feet. Homer street, Ward 6, easterly from a point about 170 feet east of Cummings road to Walnut street, a distance of approximately 1005 feet.

Charles Mahoney, Supervisor of Street Lights, told the Aldermen that Mayor Weeks desires conduits in the streets around the new City Hall as he wants no poles on Homer street near the municipal capitol. Alderman Murray asked Mr. Peppin of the Edison Company if customers of the company must pay for installing underground service for their residences to the street conduit. He was informed that the condition would be the same as on Lowell avenue; customers who do not desire to pay for the installation of underground service can continue to obtain service from wires overhead. Alderman Murray asserted that in Boston the Edison Company does not charge customers for connecting buildings with underground service. The Board later voted to grant a permit for the conduit on Washington street near Walnut, and held the other petitions in committee for further consideration.

Appropriations made by the Board included—Welfare Department, temporary clerk, $425; Accounting Department, auditor, Patrick Monahan, $582; Street Department, laying out Radcliff road, $4071; Mossfield road, $7392; drains in Varick and Quinebaquin roads, $1609; in Dwindle road, $1506; Water Department, work at reservation, $1500; main on Nathan road, $800; fee for service of consulting expert, $1000.

Alderman Temperley inquired regarding the Appropriations for the Water Department. Alderman Bell explained that the $1500 is for work done every year at the reservation in Needham, such as making test borings. The $1000 for expert advice is paid to Weston & Sampson, consulting engineers.

Alderman Temperley commented that he regards this expense as now unnecessary. He said that the present Water Commissioner came here as an expert and Mr. Temperley believes him to be qualified enough to deal with our water problems without engaging the services of others.

On recommendation of the Claims and Rules Committee, the Board refused to grant the petition of Emilio Diluzio to change land at Glen avenue and Warren street from private residence to business zone. On recommendation of the Licenses Committee the Board granted a common victualler license to Salvatore Capadonna at 97 Elm street; and a permit for a change in the design of the building at the gasoline station at Willow and Centre streets to the Jenney Company. It refused the petition of Jack Young for a private garage permit at 82 Park avenue; Jack Connolly for a permit to conduct repair shop at 45 Needham street; Bonfiglio Guglielmini for a street musician's license.

Hearings were assigned at the next meeting of the Board on June 20 on petitions for sewers in Howard street and Hunnewell avenue and a drain in Montrose street; also on the petitions of Louis Bourdier for a gasoline station at 112 Needham street, and the Bachrach Realty Trust for a gasoline station at 973 Watertown street.

Communications from Mayor Weeks included notices of the reappointment of Dr. Fred M. Lowe as City Physician and the appointment of Arthur C. Dunmore of 74 Fountain street as trustee of the Cousens Industrial Fund to succeed John Cousens who has resigned.

Notices of claims against the city included—Mary McFadden, personal injuries received from falling on a sidewalk on Walnut street near Linwood avenue on May 6; Mrs. Rose Muscaro, personal injuries, from fall on Centre street, Newton, on May 5. A petition was received from James Edumas to change land on Boylston street near Woodcliff road from private residence to business zone. Other petitions were from Cataldo Marchioni for a renewal of the permit to operate machinery at the gravel pit at 2131 Washington street, Lower Falls; Giuseppe Cavallo transfer of pool room license from 1397 Washington street to 1261 Washington street; Harriet Burke, 4 Lincoln street, Newton Highlands; Harriet Manning, 196 Auburndale avenue, Auburndale; Emma Lee, 163 Hicks street, West Newton, common victualler licenses; Charles Peirce and Eugene Clifford, 343 Auburn street, two 1st-class taxi licenses; Bart Lynch, 58 Winchester street, express license.

PICKARD—ADLARD: on June 2 at West Newton by Rev. Boynton Merrill: Herbert Pickard of Dorchester, and Adele Adlard of 43 Holden rd., West Newton.

BILEZIKIAN—KUPARIAN: on June 3 at Newtonville by Rev. V. Bilezikian: Krikor Bilezikian of 84 Bowden st., Newtonville, and Beatrice Kuparian of Dorchester.

to view. Miss Betty Wright was in the role of "Cho-Cho-San" (Madame Butterfly) and Philip Stonemetz was "Lieutenant Pinkerton." The accompaniment was "Some Day He'll Come," sung by Lucrezia Bori. The paddlers were Lewis Bray, Richard Howe, Theodore Johnson and Gage Olcott.

The succeeding float, "Aida," carried Miss Ruth Ziegler in the title role, William Parker as "Rhadames" and J. Wesley Dynes as "Amonasro." The prelude was the "Grand March and Finale" by Creatore's Band and the accompaniment was "Celeste Aida," sung by Giovanni Martinelli, tenor, Wallace, John and William Wales and Clifford Kittredge were the paddlers.

Concluding in a most fitting fashion was a float depicting a scene from "Il Trovatore" with a prelude of a selection from that opera by Creatore's Band and an accompaniment of "The Anvil Chorus" by the Victor Mixed Chorus. Mrs. Thomas Brown represented "Azucena" and Antonio De Stefano posed as "Manrico." The gypsies were Miss Virginia Woods, Miss Celeste Callaghan, William Spurrier and William Smith. The paddlers of the float were Duncan Cotting, James Monahan, John Harris and Fred Swaine.

The entire production was under the direction of C. Hassler Capron, assisted by Mrs. Percy E. Woodward. The lighting effects, under the direction of Mr. Capron and the scenery for the floats, in charge of Mrs. Woodward had much to do with the success of the pageant. Others who share in credit for the affair in addition to the members of the cast are Mrs. Ralph C. Henry, chairman of the cast; Stephen Holmes, chairman of paddlers; Lyscom Bruce, chairman of ushers; Ernst Herrmann, chairman of grounds; Mrs. Ellis Spear, Jr., and Mrs. John F. Capron, chairman of patronesses; Mrs. Arthur W. Lane and Miss Anne Bunker, tickets; Mrs. J. Earle Parker and Ralph C. Henry, publicity; Benjamin G. Belonga, construction of floats; William C. Noetzel, Charles W. Peterson and Mrs. Woodward, design and painting of floats; Mrs. Dan M. Dutch, Mrs. Wallace Wales, Mrs. Oliver A. Lothrop and Miss Estelle G. Marsh, general committee members; and Mr. Rupert C. Thompson, Jr., pageant treasurer.

The candy committee with Mrs. Worthing L. West of Newton Centre and Mrs. Roger E. Hall of Newton as co-chairmen included the following from the various villages: Newton, Mrs. John U. Lemmon, Jr. and the Misses Edith S. Curtis and Barbara Eastbrook; Newtonville, Mrs. Lawrence Black and Miss Katherine Tucker; West Newton, Miss Dorothy Hinks and Mrs. W. Mark Noble, Jr.; Newton Highlands, Misses Samuel A. Fuller, A. Harry Hutchinson, and Andrew Marshall, 2nd; Waban, Misses Lyndall F. Carter, Homer S. CHAUNCY—PHALEN

One of West Newton's pretty and simple weddings was that of Miss Elizabeth Phalen, only daughter of Reverend and Mrs. Paul S. Phalen, when she became the bride of Mr. Henry Chauncy, son of Reverend Egisto F. Chauncy, in the Unitarian Church at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, June 4. The church was prettily decorated with palms, lilies and candles. Reverend Paul S. Phalen, who was a former minister of the church, gave his daughter in marriage and the father of the groom, Reverend Egisto Chauncy, officiated at the ceremony. Mrs. L. P. Dowst, of Winthrop, Maine, served as matron of honor. Miss Peggy Chauncy of Columbus, Ohio, was the maid of honor. Those serving as bridesmaids were Miss Sally Drew of Newtonville and Miss Eleanor Dean of Augusta, Maine. Joan Anderson of New York City served as flower girl. The best man was Mr. Robert Hanneman of Brookline. The ushers included Mr. Leslie Phalen of Somerville, a brother of the bride, Mr. John P. Chase of Canton, Mr. William U. Bates of Philadelphia, Mr. William W. Lord of Danvers, Mr. Russell Morse of Hingham, and Mr. Henry Bragdon of Rochester, New York. The bride was attractively gowned in ivory satin and chantly lace, which was her mother's wedding gown, her tulle veil was caught with orange blossoms and her bridal bouquet was that of white lilies. The matron of honor was gowned in yellow chiffon and wore a horsehair hat of corresponding color, carrying a bouquet of lavender lilies. The maid of honor was similarly gowned. The flower girl wore an amethyst gown and hat and carried a bouquet of pansies and petals. The bridesmaids' gowns were of amethyst and their matching hats of horsehair and their bouquets were of lavender lilies. The reception was held in the Parish House of the Church and the parlors were decorated with lavender and white lilies. Mr. and Mrs. Chauncy will make their home in Cambridge following a summer in Canada. The bride is a graduate of the Pierce School and the Misses Allen School in West Newton and has spent two years in New York as a violinist. Mr. Chauncy attended Groton School and Harvard, graduating in the class of 1928 where he was a member of the Hasty Pudding Club and is now Assistant Dean at Harvard University.

Clark Staples of Chestnut Hill was the best man and the ushers were Fred D. Bennett, Philip Adams and Herbert Waters, all of Newton Centre, and Gilbert Tyler of Newton Highlands.

A reception was held in the church chapel. The couple were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Arbuckle. The bride is a member of the class of 1931 Newton Theological Institute and the groom is a medical student at Boston University.

Recent Engagements

At a luncheon given at the home of Mrs. William Forrest Pillsbury on Berkeley road the engagement of her niece Miss Ann Elizabeth Kidder to John Maynard Whittaker of Lexington was announced. Miss Kidder is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hills Kidder of Chestnut terrace, Newton Centre, and North Chatham. She is a graduate of Miss Wright's School, Bryn Mawr, Pa., and also attended Miss May's School in Boston. Mr. Whittaker is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Maynard Whittaker of Bloomfield St., Lexington.

SOUNDED SUSPICIOUS

The talkative old man was delivering quite a lecture on speedy travel to the young man with whom he shared a compartment.
"Yes, we travel fast these days," he said. "But have you ever thought of the flight of time—the of the fleeting hours of youth, the golden days that swiftly pass away? Have you ever counted the minutes—?"
"Look here," said the young man, suspiciously, "I don't quite get the hang of this. Are you trying to sell me a watch?"

Late Stayer Again

"Virginia, er-what does that young man do?"
"What young man, papa?"
"Why, the one that calls three nights a week and never notices the clock."
"Oh, papa, he has political aspirations. He really expects to be elected a legislator."
"H'm. Well, tell him not to practice any all-night sessions around here."

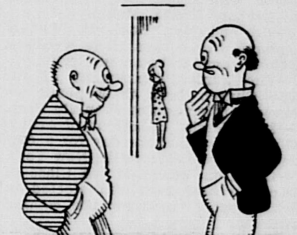

No Job for Him

Aint—Do you mean to say that Sponger who has been out of work for a year actually refused offer of a job? Itso—Yes, he says he gets more from charity than he would from the job.

Joke Not on Him

Hix—That was a good joke those kids putting a hat over a brick on the sidewalk for some passer-by to kick.
Nix—Not so good—the first man who came by picked up the hat and put it on, throwing his own away.

HARD TO TELL

"Don't you think Mrs. Strongmind's husband is naturally a gentle, patient man?"
"Sometimes I think he is and sometimes I think he's just plain scared."

Ins and Outs of It

"My husband is trying to sell our car."
"Why?"
"He says the outgo for the upkeep is too much for his income."—Boston Transcript.

The Debate

"What are the town fathers debating?"
"Whether to keep up the good roads and fine the motorists for speeding, or maintain a mudhole and charge them for hauling 'em out."

Too Obvious

Mrs. Gabbins—Here is an interesting article on "What a woman should weight."
"Husband—Does it, by any chance, mention her words?"

Knew His Business

Bassler—Why does Leisenberg employ only bobbed-haired brunettes for his stenographers?
Rhodes—Leisenberg himself has dark hair and his wife is very suspicious.

Sorry He Spoke

I wish you would use your head a little more, my dear.
Wife—Good! I will go to the milliner's tomorrow and use it trying on hats.

GETTING EVEN

"I see the government is establishing free barber shops in the West for the Indians."
"It's coming to them. They gave the early settlers many a close shave."

Foul Weather Warnings

"Hiram," exclaimed Mrs. Cornstossel, "that candidate you don't like is coming up the road. What'll I say if he wants to kiss the children?"
"Don't say anything. Just call 'em back to the kitchen and give 'em plenty of bread and butter and molasses."—Washington Evening Star.

Human Slavery

Only an estimate as to how many human beings are now being held as slaves is possible. There are probably about 5,000,000 or 6,000,000. They are chiefly found in China, Arabia and Abyssinia.

Country Day School Graduates Honor Mr. Kearns

At the dinner held at the Hotel Somerset on Thursday evening in celebration of the 25th anniversary of the founding of the Newton Country Day School, Headmaster Kearns was the guest of honor and made the principal address. After recounting the many obstacles at the beginning were overcome, he explained the idea to which he had dedicated his life. He said that his purpose in founding the school had been to provide a place where boys might prepare for life by living in the world and not out of it. He said that people do not live under the restrictive rules of institutional life from choice. They wish the widest possible range in choosing their friends, the music they shall hear, the plays they shall see, and the books they shall read. Children, under guidance, should have the same right.

He also said that the school which gives the best training is the one which most strongly inculcates habits of original thought and independent judgment. The boy must be taught to depend upon himself and to stand upon his own feet. He must be made to feel his responsibility for his own actions as the restraints which governed him as a small boy are gradually removed.

The Country Day School, said he, provides the opportunity for boys and parents to know each other as they should. Parental love and filial affection are but feebly nourished by Sunday letters written home at the command of distant headmasters. Under the plan of the school, parents are afforded the opportunity of living with their sons and of taking an important part in their daily development.

At the graduation exercises of the school held yesterday afternoon, the following boys from Newton were awarded prizes: Robert Williams of Newton Centre, John H. Chase Prize for the reading of good books; Donald Farrington of Auburndale, honorable mention for written English; William H. Nelson, Jr., of Newton Centre, H. Lawrence Hooper, Memorial prize; James Donovan of Newton, honorable mention in Latin; Robert Williams of Newton Centre, Boston Harvard Club Prize.

The graduation address was delivered by Arthur D. Hill and the invocation and benediction were pronounced by the Rev. Richard G. Preston of Grace Church, Newton.

Charter member, Aug. 17, 1931.

Rev. C. S. Otto, Dist. Supt. of the Boston District M. E. Conference delivered an address upon "The Tie of Brotherhood."

The Highland Trio, sisters Annie E. Blakemore, Josephine L. Mitchell and Effie E. Nagle of Highland Rebekah Lodge No. 82, sang "The Past Year as follows: "The Temple" and "The King of Love My Shepherd Is."

Over 200 members attended the service.

GARDEN PARTY AT WEST NEWTON ESTATE

On Saturday, June eleventh, there will be a Garden Party on the estate of Mr. Palmer York, 301 Otis street, West Newton, from four in the afternoon until eleven at night. The public is invited to see the beautiful gardens, enjoy games, partake of a buffet supper, hear a band concert by Newton Post No. 48, of the American Legion, and play bridge and dance in the evening. There will be a charge of one dollar for admission and supper. Tickets may be purchased at the entrance to the estate. The proceeds of this party are for the benefit of Saint John's Episcopal Church.

RECITAL

On Monday evening the pupils of Mary L. Pucciarelli gave an interesting violin recital in Belmont. The artists that assisted Miss Pucciarelli were Francis Jennings, pianist; Norma Olson, cellist; Alda Pucciarelli, violinist and pupil of Miss Elizabeth Vyffle, and Dorothy Kovitz, pianist. The musical selections were played by the following pupils: Anna Delehanty, Helen Caterino, Paul Winters, Nicky Hillman, Nancy Vill, Louis Julianio, John O. Neill, Bryon Churchill, Ruth Imley, Marjorie Wood, Frank Plumley, Netta Lucas, Leone Redden, Ward Tucker, Barbara Brett, Margaret Hodges, Bertha Moore, Catherine Shea and Mary Curran.

PRESENT GIFT TO MR. PALMER

This afternoon in the office of Mr. Irving O. Palmer, the retiring principal, a gift was being made by the Newton High School Alumni Association to Mr. Palmer in recognition of the esteem in which he is held by former students of the school. The presentation takes place following the graduation exercises. The gift is in the form of a check with the expectation that it may be used towards a trip which Mr. Palmer is planning. The executive committee of the Alumni association, comprised of Pres. Albert (Jake) Stafford, Vice Presidents Edward H. Leannard and Augustus Wakefield, Treas. C. Raymond Cabot, and Mrs. F. Ashley Day, Albert P. Carter, William G. Chase, and Maynard Hutchinson, will be present with Mr. Stafford making the presentation.

On Monday Mr. Palmer will go to Waterville, Maine, to attend the commencement exercises of Colby College where he will be given an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS

Cars driven by Lena Oakes of 235 Lincoln street, Newton Highlands and Mrs. E. A. Jones of 40 Pine Ridge road, Waban, collided at Lake avenue and Beacon street, Newton Centre yesterday morning. Lawson Oakes, who was riding in one of the cars complained of an injured back.

A car driven by Norman Edwards of 141 Clark street, Newton Centre hit a pole on Lowell avenue, Newtonville on Tuesday. Florence Madden of 185 Lowell avenue, who was riding in the car was injured. The accident occurred when another car cut in on Edwards' car and forced him off the road.

Andover-Newton School Holds 1st Commencement

Theological School Has 33 Graduates on June 8

The first commencement anniversary of the Andover-Newton Theological School on Wednesday also marked the 125th anniversary of Andover Theological Seminary and the 107th anniversary of the Newton Theological School. The scene of the exercises was the historic First Baptist Meeting House of Newton Centre. Wednesday, June 8, degrees and diplomas were awarded to the class of 1932, numbering thirty-three members.

Professor Charles M. McConnell, author of "The Rural Bible" and a member of the faculties of Boston University and Andover-Newton Theological School addressed the class on "The Hazards of Retreat", based on the statement by Amelia Earhart Putnam with regard to her recent flight—"The hazards of retreat were greater than the hazards of going on."

An annual feature of the exercises are addresses by members of the graduating class chosen for that honor by the faculty. The student speakers were: Neal Dow Bourfield of Waterville, Maine, who spoke on "The Educational Ideal of Preaching"; Paul Victor Goodwin of Lincoln, Nebraska, "The New Appreciation of Jesus"; Miss Helen June Heath, of Newton Centre, "The Call to Worship"; John Inkenas of Birzai, Lithuania, "Facing the Future in Lithuania"; and Richard B. Smith of Lincoln, Nebraska, "The Patriotism of a Christian."

Degrees were awarded by President Everett C. Herrick to the following:

Master of Religious Education: Myrtle Florence Auch of Philadelphia, Pa.; Helen Lind Chapman, Roxbury, Mass.; Elizabeth Irene Foshey, of Lyndonville, Vermont; Edith Sophia Keirstead of Andover, Mass.; Gertrude Rosamond Marchant of Providence, R. I.; Lucille Sampler Reese of Macon, Ga.; Elsie Estella Root, Meriden, Conn.

Bachelor of Divinity: Paul Victor Goodwin, of Lincoln, Nebraska, and Henry Edward Weston, of Providence, R. I.; cum laude: Q. K. Barrett, Boston, Ga.; Neal Dow Bourfield, of Waterville, Maine; Edward William Cantwell, of Lowell, Mass.; Salome Wilhelmina Engelman, of Jamaica Plain, Mass.; Helen June Heath, Newton Centre, Mass.; John Inkenas, Birzai, Lithuania; Adolph Klaupek, District of Novgorod, Russia; Daniel Hampton Miller, Orono, Wisconsin; Frank William Mollins, Moncton, New Brunswick; Edwin Benjamin Nylen, Foreston, Minn.; Samuel Overstreet, Savannah, Ga.; Howard Glen Payne, Valley Falls, R. I.; Homer Raymond Phelps, Columbus, Ga.; Ralph Linwood Phillips, Bangor, Maine; Oscar Ray Powell, Topeka, Kansas; Clarence Franklin Tanager, Lowell, Mass.; Richard Bertrand Smith, Lincoln, Nebraska; Stephen Arnold Westcott, Freeport, N. S.

Master of Sacred Theology: Weyman Carleton Reese, of Madison, Ga.; William Russell Strasser, Charlotteville, Va.; Everett Leslie Washburn, Arlington, Mass.

A diploma of graduation in the divinity course was awarded to Joshua Llewellyn Clarke of Jamaica, British West Indies.

Diplomas of graduation in the course of religious education were given to: Dorothy Eloise Goodwin, of Lincoln, Nebraska; and Bertha Almyra Whitaker, of Belaire, New York.

The trustees' luncheon followed the exercises at the Newton Centre Woman's clubhouse for nearly 300 guests. Guests of honor were Prof. Kirtley F. Mather of Harvard University, Dr. John Wright Buckham, of Berkeley, California, the Rev. Byron Elric Hatfield, class of 1893, Dr. Arthur H. Bradford of Providence, Dr. Edward H. Fuller of Everett, the Rev. Vernelle Wallace Fryer of Burma, class of 1919, Justice Fred T. Field, Dr. Frank W. Padelford, Dr. Frederick H. Page, President Everett C. Herrick and Dean Vaughan Dabney.

A reception on Andover-Newton Hill at the home of President and Mrs. Herrick assisted by Dean and Mrs. Dabney concluded the commencement activities of a year marked by many forward, progressive steps in the history of the affiliated theological school.

Other events of the commencement program included the Baccalaureate service held in the First Baptist Meeting House, Newton Centre on Sunday, June 5th, for members of the graduating class and their friends. President Everett C. Herrick's sermon subject was "Christ Possessed". He urged those going into the ministry to travel on the friendly road that goes straight to every man's heart. He saw St. Paul as leading the procession of Christ-possessed people which has never ceased.

Tuesday, June 7, was Alumni day. The annual business meetings of the Andover Alumni and the Newton Alumni societies were held simultaneously. Following the business sessions the Rev. John Wright Buckham, D.D., Professor of Philosophy in the Pacific School of Religion spoke in the chapel on "Exploring Personality". Alumni and friends from many parts of the country gathered at the Newton Centre Woman's Clubhouse for the annual alumni luncheon. In the afternoon the Rev. Maurice A. Levy, D.D., pastor of the First Baptist Church, Pittsfield, Mass., and former pastor of the Newton Centre Baptist Church, spoke on "The Range of Faith". He is a graduate of the Class of 1900, Newton.

Sweden's Wood Industry

Sweden was among the first countries to advocate reforestation and few if any countries of the world have succeeded as Sweden in rationalizing the care of the forests and the various industries revived therefrom. The result is that the country now stands in the very front ranks as a producer of soft wood, wood pulp and all the by-products of the sawmill industry. As a result of the care and intelligence exercised the wood has been shown by test to be of a very superior quality. The timber is felled at a time when the sap does not circulate; the floating in very cold water reduces the risk of disease in the logs; the material handled by modern machinery and last but not least the superior quality of the labor employed, which has a fine sense of judgment in matters of wood quality.

Giant Earthworms

An earthworm native to southeastern Australia attains extreme lengths of 10 or 12 feet and diameters of 3/4 of an inch, although the average specimen is only 3 or 4 feet long. It belongs to the same animal as our common earthworms. The progress of these gigantic worms through the soil is attended by gurgling and sucking sounds clearly audible to persons walking on the surface. Their eggs resemble large olives. Related species which attain a length of several feet are found in parts of South America, Java and other parts of the world.

Girls' Blood Made Flag

Japanese school girls, fragile as butterflies and small as pixies, must not faint at the sight of blood. To test their courage seven Tokio high school girls gathered recently around a white cloth in the center of which they had drawn a circle. After a solemn soprano chant the maidens picked their fingers deeply, held them over the circle until it grew red and the cloth became the flag of Japan.—Time Magazine.

Freak Fish Eaten

It is said on good authority that probably no other living species produce more abnormalities than fish. Two-headed fish are not uncommonly hatched at the various hatcheries of the state conservation department and instances have been born with five perfect heads to a single body and tail. Most of these fish do not live past the stage when artificial feeding becomes necessary, although some do live to the adult age.

Long Flights of Birds

It is a moot question what birds hold the distance flight records, but several mentioned by Laurence B. Fletcher, of the Northeastern Bird Banding association, are at least worthy of honorable mention. A banded tern traveled 9,000 miles from Labrador to Madagascar, in the Indian ocean, Fletcher related, while a hummingbird made a round trip from a Franklin (N. H.) garden to the pampas of central South America.

A Lecture on Christian Science

Entitled

Christian Science: The Unity of Law and the Gospel by

Ralph B. Scholfield, C.S., of London, England

Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts

A large audience attended the lecture on Christian Science given in First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Newton in the Church edifice in Newtonville, on Saturday, June 4th. Mr. Ralph B. Scholfield, of London, England, the lecturer, was introduced by Mr. William S. Whitman, who spoke as follows:

Friends: In the gospel according to Matthew (18:20) the Master, Christ Jesus, said "Where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the midst of them."

We are gathered here this evening in the name of the Christ, seeking that truth which he taught would save, and to each one is extended a most cordial welcome.

The Master also said, (Matt. 11:28-30), "Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart: and ye shall find rest unto your souls. For my yoke is easy, and my burden is light."

In Paul's epistle to the Hebrews (4:15) we read that Jesus "was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin."

This statement clearly indicates that he must have known every trial and tribulation, every sorrow and limitation, which could cloud our human experience, yet because of his clear and unclouded understanding of the law of God, which gives perfect protection to His every idea, Jesus could and did withstand every temptation, without sin; that is, without accepting into his consciousness, as real, any discordant or sinful condition, regardless of its seeming reality.

The Master's loving invitation to bring our troubles of whatever nature to him and to exchange them for his yoke, thus finding rest, is just as urgent an invitation today as it was when he uttered the words.

The fact that the acceptance of this invitation does result in relief from suffering and sorrow, is amply proven by the many testimonies given at the Wednesday evening meetings in Christian Science Churches throughout the world, testimonies of the healing of all sorts of difficulties and expressions of gratitude for Christian Science, which teaches the same law of God, which Jesus so successfully applied.

Our revered Leader, Mary Baker Eddy, in her textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," and her other writings, has clearly stated for us how we may individually accept Jesus' invitation and obtain the rest he promised.

We are to have the pleasure this evening of listening to a lecture on Christian Science by a member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, who has chosen for his subject, "CHRISTIAN SCIENCE: THE UNITY OF LAW AND THE GOSPEL." I take great pleasure in introducing Mr. Ralph B. Scholfield, of London, England. Friends—Mr. Scholfield.

As we review the condition of human affairs to-day throughout the world, we cannot help being struck by the universal sense of unrest and tumult. Dissatisfaction with old theories, systems, and standards of living has brought about a state of turbulence rather than a state of order and control. In such conditions mortals are apt to be borne on by the current of human emotion without consideration of that divine law, whereby alone, order, discipline, and control can be maintained. That law, which we will call the law of Mind, Intelligence, or God, is fully dealt with in the teachings of Christian Science. And through Christian Science we can learn how the application of that law will bring calm to the troubled waters of human experience.

MORAL LAW

The progressive portion of mankind has instinctively perceived that law and order are right, and indispensable to progress. It has formulated laws in its effort to bring about that ideal condition which it feels must be normal and natural. These may be called laws of conduct, or moral laws. The purpose of moral law is to develop order, discipline, justice, and control; and one of the best known illustrations of this is the Ten Commandments. These Commandments, though framed to be comprehensible by mortals, are not the origin of moral law. They are based on something higher than mere human ordinances. Being the very essence of life, health, and success, regardless of nation, time, and place, they must have their foundation in Intelligence or wisdom.

Moral law, therefore, as we know it, is the direct outcome of the operation in human affairs of Mind, Intelligence, or God.

SO-CALLED PHYSICAL LAW

Another sense in which law is frequently used is in the expression "physical law." The significance of the word "law," used in this manner, lies in the fact that it implies some fixed and invariable order, or uniform action. In so far as this so-called law manifests the elements of order, control, discipline, and wisdom, it bears distinct resemblance to the moral law. Law interprets the control of wisdom and Intelligence, and where these are not apparent there cannot be law. While the laws of adhesion, cohesion, and attraction seem to be wholly material, yet in so far as they manifest control, order, and wisdom they must be based on Intelligence. A well-known professor of astronomy has said recently, "At the foundation of science is the principle that the universe is orderly." This shows that even limited human vision is able to perceive, to some extent, the great law and order that support the universe. What is mistakenly termed physical law, in the proportion that it manifests wisdom, order, justice, and good, is the direct outcome of the operation in the material universe of Intelligence, Mind, or God.

We are enabled, therefore, to perceive that wherever law in its highest sense is being manifested, whether in moral or in physical conditions, there is evidence of the operation of Intelligence, Mind, or God.

NATURE OF THE LAWGIVER

The nature of this great Lawgiver, God, or Mind, is a question that confronts every religion, and it confronts Christian Science. Even the leading physical scientists to-day are looking beyond matter and mystery for the solution to this question and are coming to the most wonderful and interesting conclusions. Professor Jeans at Cambridge University has recently said: "The universe appears to have been designed by a pure mathematician. . . . To-day there is a wide measure of agreement that . . . the universe begins to look more like a great thought than like a great machine!"

Even more wonderful still are statements written some thousands of years ago. In the book of Proverbs we read: "The Lord by wisdom hath founded the earth; by understanding hath he established the heavens. . . . Doth not wisdom cry? and understanding put forth her voice? . . . The Lord possessed me in the beginning of his way, before his works of old. I was set up from everlasting, from the beginning, or ever the earth was."

Christian Science teaches that the great Lawgiver cannot be inert matter or material force, but must be primal, eternal, and self-existent Intelligence, Mind, or God. Wherever law is being manifested, whether in the command "Let there be light," or in the control of the oceans, or in the exemplification of life and goodness in human experience, it is always the same cause, namely, Mind, or God, that is operating. All creation is held in this law, and it is a law of love, and not of hatred or indifference. For hatred and indifference cannot protect, support, or control. Hence the all-important fact, that the great Lawgiver, God, must be Love as well as Mind.

In order to illustrate the nature of God as the Lawgiver, Mrs. Eddy says in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (p. 119): "The lawgiver, whose lightning palsies or prostrates in death the child at prayer, is not the divine ideal of omnipresent Love. God is natural good, and is represented only by the idea of goodness." Therefore, from the standpoint of the Lawgiver, or God, being Love, she could detect at once that the prostration of a child in such circumstances is wholly unlawful, and is brought about by the general ignorance of God's law of preservation so beautifully expressed by the Psalmist in the simple words, "The Lord is thy keeper."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE ASPECT OF LAW

The Christian Science aspect of law is of great importance not only in healing but in everyday life. We may be accustomed to look upon law merely as a regulation. But Christian Science shows law to be, in its ultimate meaning, an operative force which renders that which is unlike that law powerless and unreal.

To illustrate this: Suppose a Government passes a constitutional bill rendering certain qualifications necessary for citizenship; then, whatever an individual may do, he cannot be a citizen unless he complies with that law. If he disobeys it, he excludes himself from citizenship. In other words, the law is an operative force, which acts regardless of persons, time, and place. In the same way God, who is infinite wisdom and Love, the primal and only Lawgiver, operates through laws determining the nature of man. Under these laws man is immortal, spiritual, and perfect; and disobedience to these laws deprives an individual of true manhood. God's law determines what is real and what is not real. Hence, law is a divine energy, eternally rendering that which is unlike God lawless and devoid of power or truth. Evil and disease are forever unlike God, hence cannot be based on law, power, or truth.

In order to be a good citizen we do not merely pray or beseech the constitutional Government to give us citizenship. We obey the laws that determine the status of citizenship, and our prayer is answered just in so far as we are obedient.

So, in order to experience life and health, and to prove man's spiritual unity with God, we do not merely ask God to help us. Christian Science shows that we must obey His laws and that those very laws, when obeyed, will render the so-called forces of evil and disease utterly powerless, and will reveal man held eternally in the law of Life, God.

In the Gospel of Matthew it is recorded that Jesus was asked by a lawyer, "Which is the great commandment in the law?" Jesus' reply was: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind. This is the first and great commandment. And the second is like unto it, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. On these two commandments hang all the law and the prophets." Christian Science emphasizes the fact that in his gospel of healing and compassion Jesus did not destroy, but fulfilled all true law. And Christian Science teaches that healing of disease follows naturally the fulfillment of God's law.

THE FIRST COMMANDMENT

The first demand, then, is to love God supremely. And here we are faced with a question that is not only natural but is one that exists at the back of the minds of most people, and that is: Is it possible to love anything, or anyone, that you do not understand? Obviously, this is impossible. The idea of God as infinite Mind and Love, and not as a mysterious and vindictive power, opens up to us the possibility of understanding and loving God.

A Christian Scientist was once trying to explain to a highly intellectual man of science the nature of God. She told him that Christian Science teaches that God is good; whereupon he replied instantly, "Do you mean that God keeps the Ten Commandments?" This was a somewhat humorous way of exposing the common inability to explain the profound question as to the nature of God. Christian Science explains that God "keeps the Ten Commandments" as does a mortal, but that since He is infinite Mind and Love, He is the very basis and essence of those Commandments. God is therefore good, using that word as a noun and not merely as an adjective. To love God supremely implies two main demands: (1) to not keep the Gospels that Simon's wife's mother was taken ill with a great fever. Jesus never recommended her to take great care of her body, or to go to any place for convalescence until she regained strength. It is said in Luke's Gospel that Jesus "stood over her and rebuked the fever; and it left her; and immediately she arose and ministered unto them." He never expected that fever to run a course. He separated it from what he knew to be her true self, and he rebuked it. He obeyed the law of God, under which disease is unlawful.

LOVING OURSELVES

The second command is to love one's neighbor as one's self, and it is necessary as in the case of loving God, to understand the nature of one's true self. Most people think they understand themselves more or less, and many have a kind of love for what they consider to be themselves. But is it their true self? Is it the man of God's creation, spiritual, immortal, and perfect?

There is a very helpful illustration of how to understand true selfhood in the story of the prodigal son. You will remember that the record states that after he had spent everything in vice and debauchery, he "came to himself." This was the turning-point in his career. Does not this infer that there began to awaken in him a desire for his true self? His desire to give up animal-ity and to be a man was proof that he was beginning to obey God's law, which is so clearly indicated by the writer in the book of Ecclesiastes, "This only have I found, that God hath made man upright; but they have sought out many inventions." The prodigal's true sense of man had not been destroyed, but merely obscured. When he began to love himself, and love for his true self, his true nature began to come to light. This led him away from evil to his birthright, and healed him. And he found his father loving him and coming out to meet him, not remaining at home angry with him.

Many people have been taught to think of that parable as applying only to bad young men. But Christian Science shows how it applies to all who are under the bondage or domination of sickness, sin, and discord of every kind.

The common expression "to be one's self" would be very useful if applied correctly, since it implies being a true man. A true man is not physical, but is eternally spiritual, the likeness of his Maker, Spirit, God. Hence, man's true self must express intelligence, health, life, and joy. Therefore, the self that we must love is our true, genuine self which is at-one with God, and which manifests law and order. And let us remember that we have not two selves, one evil and material and the other good and spiritual, but one only. What seems to be a material, sick, and sinning self is no more than a temporary dream; it is not that true self which is indicated in Psalm 17, "I shall be satisfied when I awake, with thy likeness."

If a man has to produce a machine, or any kind of goods, he naturally thinks of the standard machine or goods, and not of some old and worn-out samples. In the same way, in thinking of man we should have some standard. The standard for man's true selfhood must be that which is the outcome of primal law, infinite Mind, Love. Whatever does not come up to this standard is not the true man, God's image and likeness, and has no law to support it.

THOUGHTS ABOUT HEALTH

Two ways in which we naturally think much about ourselves are: (1) in our health, (2) in our occupation, or profession. Let us first examine the thoughts about health. Infinite Mind, or God, says: "My thoughts are not your thoughts," but the thoughts of mortals undoubtedly consider health to be dependent upon the blood, the brain, the nerves, and organs of the body. These thoughts claim to say to you, You, yourself, are physical, or animal in nature. For centuries physiology has been investigating these mortal verdicts, but Christian Science investigates and explains the thoughts of God. The conclusions that you support will determine your views on the cause and cure of disease, and therefore your health and happiness.

HEREDITY

Suppose, for a moment, that we think of ourselves as subject to hereditary weakness or disease of some sort. Is such a thing the outcome of Mind, wisdom, Love, and does it constitute our true self? Heredity implies a material law of transmission and an origin to evil. But if Mind or God is the only Lawgiver, hereditary disease is unlawful and mortal. God does not think it or make it. It must be imposed by the law of Life, God. Ignorant of our God-given rights, we submit to unjust decrees, and the bias of education enforces this slavery. Let us then deprive so-called material heredity of law, and obey only the one law of Life, or Spirit. And when we apprehend the illegal nature of material heredity we shall cease to fear it and begin to come to ourself, and understand the words of Paul, "The law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death."

The question as to whether disease, limitation, and death are based on true law must sooner or later be answered by everyone. Much that is classified as law is but the outcome of one's reservation of the human mind, being, as Mrs. Eddy says, "conjectural and speculative" (Science and Health, p. 229), and not based on divine Principle, Mind, or Love.

DISEASE HAS NO COURSE TO RUN

Sometimes we are led to suppose that certain diseases must run a definite course before they either kill or are eliminated. That is a type of law to which mankind is in bondage and which has not been seriously questioned for centuries, until Christian Science came. It is recorded in three Gospels that Simon's wife's mother was taken ill with a great fever. Jesus never recommended her to take great care of her body, or to go to any place for convalescence until she regained strength. It is said in Luke's Gospel that Jesus "stood over her and rebuked the fever; and it left her; and immediately she arose and ministered unto them." He never expected that fever to run a course. He separated it from what he knew to be her true self, and he rebuked it. He obeyed the law of God, under which disease is unlawful.

Here is an illustration to show that what are called laws of matter or the body are not spiritual, but that they are only the outcome of human belief. I had a friend who was a very good long distance track runner. He was also a very fine mathematician. I once asked him if he ever became fatigued, or lost his breath while running. He said that he did, but that on those occasions he tried to work out a mathematical problem and thus forgot all about the so-called law of matter which would otherwise have bound him. Does not that indicate that those so-called laws of matter were merely a decree of the human mind, and that when this mind became engrossed in something else it forgot its own laws, and showed them to be no more than changeable beliefs?

What are wrongly termed laws of nature may appear to enter our lives in the shape of deformity, disease, and decay, but the hour has struck when mankind, through Christian Science, is questioning the legality of those laws. It is wise, and necessary, for us all to ask ourselves: Are age, limited capacity, and death, based on law, or are they the false belief of self from which we must arise and go to the Father, whose laws are a law of destruction to all that is unlike wisdom, Life, and Love? In Christian Science we are beginning to see that the words, "As thy days, so shall thy strength be" are not only a promise but a law.

Let us then raise our ideal of ourself from organic matter and materialism up to our true nature; "till," in the words of Paul, "we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ." This is not self-love, but love of our true self.

OUR OCCUPATION

The other way in which we think much about ourselves is in our occupation, or profession. A man's, or a woman's, occupation will often be the outcome of his, or her, childhood impressions. Sometimes these will lead to constructive, unselfish ambition, sometimes to the reverse. But we are all engaged on some sort of life-work, whatever our age or position. As Mrs. Eddy has said in Science and Health (p. 248): "We are all sculptors, working at various forms, moulding and chiseling thought." What sort of a model have we before us? Is it one based on wisdom, law, and Love; or is it one based on limitation and failure? Do we hope for the best and fear the worst? The law emanating from the one great Lawgiver, Mind and Love, can produce only harmony. This law of harmony is indicated in that great Sermon on the Mount where Jesus says: "Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow; they toil not, neither do they spin; and yet I say unto you, That even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these. Wherefore, if God so clothe the grass of the field, which to day is, and to morrow is cast into the oven, shall he not much more clothe you, O ye of little faith?" The ultimate law is that God, or Life, created and united our living with our life; but human belief has separated them with disastrous results.

If failure comes into our experience we are usually tempted to feel that we are the victims of circumstances, and that nothing but a miracle can put us on our feet again. Doubtless the prodigal argued that way! How often do we hear it said that if only "things" would change in some way or other, all would be well. We pray for help, but how rarely is it seen that it is not "things" but our "thoughts" that need to be altered! And just as the prodigal's prayer started in right desire, and continued in obedience to law and lawful action, so must our prayer be when we are faced by failure. Prayer and law are inseparable. The children of Israel prospered and were protected in proportion to their obedience to the great law of the First Commandment. The size, numbers, and physical strength of their opponents were utterly powerless and of no importance so long as the nation was obedient to law—namely, to having one God, one Mind, only.

THE TRUE MOTIVE

In our occupation we cannot examine too closely our motives. And here Christian Science is very definite in its demands. In the construction of any great and important building, the architect, if he is a good one, tries only to bring out beauty, dignity, proportion, and so forth, and not to allow any selfish motive to mar the effects. In building up the true concept of himself, the Christian Scientist has very definite motives. One of these has been defined as follows by Mrs. Eddy (Science and Health, p. 450): "The Christian Scientist has enlisted to lessen evil, disease, and death." You will observe that this statement includes no suggestion that he must do it after he reaches a certain state of understanding. He must do it now. Hence the goal towards which he must look in his daily occupation is the lessening of evil, disease, and death. This aim, or ambition, is beautifully expressed in Psalm 67: "That thy way may be known upon earth, thy saving health among all nations." This true motive opens the door to the operation of good and of harmony.

You may ask, How can one do such a thing when in the midst of business and material occupations? Suppose that one is very desirous for a certain business transaction to happen. The question naturally arises, Does Christian Science teach one to pray to God to bring about this transaction? No, it does not. Even though a certain material result may seem very right and desirable from the human standpoint, yet the Christian Scientist never works or prays to bring about a material effect or result, either in business or in physical healing. He works and prays always to think God's thoughts and to be guided by divine wisdom. When he prays "Thy will be done," he means not only "May Thy will be done," but "Thy will is done," or, in other words, the will of divine wisdom and Love is the only will that can be done. And that is all he wants to see, for it will assuredly satisfy and heal. Wisdom will often work out a problem for us in a way that, prior to the completion of the problem, may seem wrong to us, as in the case of Daniel, and still more with Jesus, whose life, to many, appeared to end in failure.

When we correct our motives and ambitions and make them correspond to the truth of Christian Science we shall no longer limit our life-work but we shall see the grand capabilities and capacities of our true self under the argument of infinite law and Love. This is the self we can love without any fear of being selfish.

LOVING OUR NEIGHBOR

Now, having gained the true idea of ourselves that we can love and prove, let us apply the same test to our neighbor. You will again admit that to love your neighbor you must understand him. We are often tempted to think that we understand our neighbor; but how seldom we do so! Suppose for a moment that we had been called upon to associate with the prodigal son—and we all of us are associating frequently with prodigal sons who are under the bondage of sickness and unhappiness, if not under actual sin; should we have been called upon to love that physical expression of vice and sinfulness? I am sure that this would not have been necessary or possible. But with compassion in our hearts we could have followed his own subsequent line of thinking when he "came to himself," and we could have loved that true self all the time, in spite of what the mortal was manifesting. That would be the right thing to do, both for ourselves and for him. That, too, would have been loving and understanding our neighbor. Therefore, the manhood of our neighbor that we can and must love is his true, genuine self, the man that is spiritual and perfect, held eternally in the law of God, Life and Love.

Loving our neighbor, then, includes also getting at the truth about our neighbor, just as loving music or mathematics includes getting at the truth about these subjects. The necessity for watching our thoughts regarding our neighbor is shown in the following habit of thought. The natural tendency of the human mind is to focus attention on evil. We may have a friend who is a wonderful character, a model of goodness and kindness, and in speaking of him we may dwell on his good qualities and then spoil it all by some reservation indicating a weakness. Then the human mind will take that weakness and magnify it beyond all proportion, whether it be a physical weakness or one of character.

To many the may seem harmless. But, looking deeper, we see that by doing this, one is not only focusing one's vision on evil, but one is associating evil with man and calling evil man's selfhood. I do not wish to infer that one must entirely overlook and disregard evil occurring in others, but it is highly important to differentiate between what is lawful and right, and what is unlawful and false; and to remember that any manifestation of evil selfhood is neither man's true self nor the outcome of the one great law-maker and creator, God. Hence evil does not belong to man.

HELPING TO HEAL OUR NEIGHBOR

In the Christian Science treatment of disease, the question of loving our neighbor as ourselves is of vital importance. Suppose you see that a friend comes to discuss a disease with you (and there are plenty of people ready and anxious to do this); what is the best attitude for you to take? First of all, ask yourself this question: Is this disease the outcome of law, of wisdom, and God? Obviously it is not. Then if you sympathize with the disease, and if the dignity of place and respect, you are sympathizing with and building up something that is wholly illegal, unwise, and evil.

To gain dominion over disease you must understand that it has absolutely no law to support it. Whatever has no law to support it has no order and no continuity. It is utterly false. To see disease as false and lawless enables you to speak with authority to it. You fear it less; your confidence in the power of good grows, and you communicate this to others.

But in dealing with our neighbor we must be careful not to shock his feelings. We must not ruthlessly cast the teachings of Christian Science to his unprepared thought. And if your neighbor wishes to talk disease, you should try gently and compassionately to lead his thought away from this false sense of self, and help him to arise and go to divine wisdom—that one Mind whose thoughts are perfect law.

The Christian Science practitioner cannot heal without law and Love. And the Love is actually the law of Love, through healing all kinds of evil and disease. She, indeed, has reunited the gospel of healing with the great law that there is only one God. Truly it can be said of her, in the words of the writer in the book of proverbs, "She openeth her mouth with wisdom; and in her tongue is the law of kindness."

Paul says, "Love is the fulfilling of the law." Christian Science is showing mankind that this law is the one great moral force or power which is operative in every proof of the power of good over evil. To love is to understand, and to understand is to love. The law of Love gives man power to heal all evil, including disease, and to experience what James spoke of as the "perfect law of liberty."

In thinking of the law and the gospel, let us not regard the law merely as the Ten Commandments and the gospel as a feeble effort to manifest some human affection. Let us rather understand God as "I AM," as the one great lawmaker, Love, whose law renders life good and love eternally real, while evil, disease, disorder, and death are rendered wholly unlawful, unreal, and powerless. Let us think of the gospel as the demonstration of this law in all the minutiae of our daily experience, healing sorrow, sickness, sin, and death. Let us remember that "the law and the gospel concord" (Message for 1902, p. 8), and are as essential to our existence as life itself.

To love God supremely and our neighbor as ourselves requires, then, a new vision of God, of our neighbor, and of ourself. This vision, in proportion as it resembles the thoughts of God, opens up to us a new and true view of God's creation, or reality. Does not the law of Love give man power to heal all evil, including disease, and to experience what James spoke of as the "perfect law of liberty?"

vidual effort, and we here can do much to help that; for by loving God supremely and our neighbor as ourselves, we are conforming to the operation of the power of Love which heals, stabilizes, and restores. If the task seems too vast, let us remember that the prodigal did not have to heal all sinners. By healing himself he helped his nation in the best possible way. Right motives clear the road of obstructions, and love and achievement go hand in hand.

Let us then cease to bear false witness against our neighbor and love him for what he is and not for what he may appear to be. Then we shall lift his burdens, and in so doing, lift our own, thus obeying the law and demonstrating the gospel.

OUR LEADER'S GREAT WORK

Christian Scientists recognize that besides Christ Jesus no one has lifted the burdens of sickness and evil from humanity as has our revered Leader, Mary Baker Eddy. A careful study of the references to law throughout her writings will reveal the fact that no great teacher has ever been more insistent on obedience to the laws, both of God and of the land in which we live. She recognized, as she has said in the Church Manual (p. 28): "Law constitutes government. . . . Without a proper system of government and form of action, nations, individuals, and religion are unprotected." As the revelation of Christian Science unfolded she boldly and courageously faced the question as to whether sin, disease, and death are based on law. Her love of good urged her on, and her desire to heal the lame, the deaf, the dumb, the blind, the sick, and the sinner, brought her to the point where she saw these conditions as unlawful bondage, such as was experienced by the prodigal.

She pressed on until she saw that a higher law, the law of the one great Lawgiver, Mind and Love, must end human bondage. And in explaining this she has said (Science and Health, p. 277): "Christian Science raises the standard of liberty and of law. 'Follow me! Escape from the bondage of sickness, sin, and death!' . . . The illusion of material sense, not divine law, has bound you." She, indeed, has revealed to us the only reasonable and rational way of loving God supremely and our neighbor as ourselves. And she has done this in the only way possible, namely, by practicing it herself first. As time goes on, the evidence to support this historical fact grows, but there is a greater and more important test than that of mere human history to prove the grandeur of her work. This test is that her teachings are demonstrable by all mankind in bringing out the effects of the law of God, Love, through healing all kinds of evil and disease. She, indeed, has reunited the gospel of healing with the great law that there is only one God. Truly it can be said of her, in the words of the writer in the book of proverbs, "She openeth her mouth with wisdom; and in her tongue is the law of kindness."

Women's Club Activities

Newton Centre Woman's Club

On Wednesday afternoon, June first, Mrs. Frank H. Stewart, chairman of the Grace Morrison Poole Campaign committee, entertained delightfully for Mrs. John F. Capron, who was recently re-elected president of the Newton Centre Woman's Club. The occasion was a farewell party for Mrs. Capron before she left to attend the General Federation Convention in Seattle as delegate of the Club. Those who enjoyed Mrs. Stewart's artistic and generous hospitality were the members of the Executive Board of the Club and of the Grace Morrison Poole Campaign committee. Mrs. Ellis Spear, Jr., presided.

Newton Centre Junior Woman's Club

What was, according to those who have witnessed all the past performances of the Newton Centre Junior Woman's Club, the "most charming play ever staged under their auspices," was given by the Junior Chorus Thursday evening, June 2nd, in the Club auditorium before a very appreciative audience. The fifty-two girls participating, representing every church in the village, under the direction of Mrs. Florence Wood Russell, gave a wholly delightful entertainment; the costumes, dancing, singing, acting, lighting, and scenery being all of a very high order. Every chorus as it entered, was greeted with spontaneous applause, "The Little Old Husband," in particular.

The four soloists were all warmly praised; receiving bouquets, applause, and laughter for their spirited acting. Little Mary Fuchs, the rejuvenated "Gay Gallant," sang an interpolated song about "Babies Growing on Trees," and proved to her hearers that she is a child of unusual promise. Shirley Flynn's lovely light soprano voice showed to excellent advantage in her solos, and her dance with Beatrice MacRobbie, the "Gay Gallant," was very graceful. Ellen Paul, who took the part of the Head Baker, acted with pep and vigor; and Alice Parkin, as the "Little Old Husband," also received much applause for her clever interpretation of the somewhat difficult part.

The lovely little Pierrette and Pierrot, Ruth Elmer and Helen Pidgeon, dancing the "Amazons" duet number, were exquisite in the moonlight, and the accompanying chorus of shadowy Pierrettes and Pierrots showed admirable training. The other choruses of Beautiful Damsels, in pink; the Little Old Wives in Quaker grey; the Gay Gallants in their court costumes; and the Snappy Bakers, who led the singing from first to last; each and all were given round upon round of applause.

"The Magic Stove," the artistic work of Miss Dorothy Rising, assisted by Miss Mary Bond, did its work to perfection. At the piano Miss Marjorie Wood officiated in splendid style, lending the greatest assistance to the performance from start to finish. Mrs. Russell, the director, was much gratified by the praise showered upon her young artists, and pleased with the expressions of appreciation that her careful and skilled training evoked.

The entire chorus was photographed at the close of the performance by a professional from Boston, and copies of the group picture may be obtained from Mrs. Russell. A second performance, on the playground, had been hoped for, but cannot be put on at the present time. However, the Chorus hopes to present the opera at least once again.

Auburndale Woman's Club

The Auburndale Woman's Club is sending its president, Mrs. Walter Van Patten Steiger, to the Biennial of the General Federation of Women's Clubs being held at Seattle, June 9th to the 18th. Mrs. Van Patten Steiger will be gone until July 4th. She will return by the way of the Canadian Rockies. Mrs. Charles Valentine and Mrs. Susan Tuttle, Club members, are delegates to the Convention.

The Auburndale Garden Club of the Woman's Club gave its first Flower Show at the Auburndale Club House on Tuesday, June 7th. The gorgeous display of spring flowers, all of which were raised by those making entries, were judged by Mr. Birket S. Letson, Mrs. Frederick Rising, and Mrs. Fred H. Loveland.

Mrs. E. J. Winslow won the prize for the "Outstanding Exhibit of the Show," this being a vase of Oriental poppies, with a background of ferns. The Conservation committee entered a wild flower garden, which was arranged by Mrs. Ruth F. Ingraham. The Conservation committee entered also a unique and representative exhibit, a model of the library and grounds, with the Colorado blue spruce. This was the work of Mrs. Earl Comer. This model of the library will be on exhibition for the next two weeks at the Auburndale Library. These entries won honorable mention.

Mrs. Arthur L. Shaw's exhibit of herbs also won honorable mention. Winners of the various classes were:

I. A.—Arrangement in Any Vase: Combination of Colors: Mrs. J. Coulter, first prize; Mrs. Albert E. Frazer, second prize; and Mrs. Wilbur D. Gilpatrick, honorable mention.

I. B.—Mrs. E. J. Winslow, first prize; Miss Agnes Strong, second prize; and Mrs. John Heibek, honorable mention.

II.—Flower Arrangement Suitable for Dining-Room Table: Mrs. Ralph E. Keyes, first prize; Mrs. Arthur L. Shaw, second prize; and Mrs. R. A. Balch, honorable mention.

III.—Flower Arrangement in Miniature Vase, Height Not To Exceed Seven Inches: Mrs. Alice Southgate, first prize; Mrs. James Grover, second prize; and Mrs. Willard C. Bodge, honorable mention.

IV.—Flower Arrangement in Metal Container: Mrs. Charles Brown, first prize; Mrs. Charles G. Grover, second prize; and Alice Hennessey, honorable mention.

V.—Flower Shrub Arrangement in Any Container: Mrs. Charles Brown, first prize; Mrs. Charles Grover, second prize; and Mrs. W. P. DeWitt, honorable mention.

VI.—Best Collection of Bearded Iris: Mrs. Alice Southgate, first prize; Mrs. W. P. DeWitt, second prize; and Mrs. Harold Knowlton, honorable mention; and Mrs. Edwin Prellwitz.

VII.—Best Single Specimen of Any Perennial: Mrs. Stephen E. Wright, first prize; Mrs. Clarence J. Pendleton, second prize; and Mrs. Florence Tower, honorable mention.

VIII.—Best Single Specimen of Rose: Mrs. Arthur Lane, first prize; Mrs. Harold Inman, second prize; and Mrs. W. P. DeWitt, honorable mention.

IX.—Best Three Blooms of Peonies, Any Color: Mabel T. Eager, first prize; Mrs. Graham Bates, second prize; and Mrs. G. M. Winslow, honorable mention.

X.—Window grouping (limited to three): Mrs. Fred Goode, first prize; Mrs. F. F. Davidson, second prize; and Mrs. Stephen Wright, honorable mention.

FINAL CONCERT

The final concert of the All Newton Music School for the season 1931-32 was held on the evening of Wednesday, May 25th, in the Auditorium of the Newton High School. The program consisted of two parts, separated by an intermission in which Miss Eager, President of the Board of Trustees of the School, presented diplomas, certificates and scholarships, and Mr. William Lester Bates, Vice-President of the Board gave a brief address. He spoke of the value to the community of such a school as the All Newton Music School, and of the remarkable ensemble playing which characterizes the work of the School's orchestral groups. A proof of the value of the school to its pupils is given in the fact that its teaching force has so gladly made many sacrifices to enable the work to continue at its usual high standards through this period of stress.

The first part of the program consisted of numbers by violin, piano and cello pupils of the School, from the age of eight years, through to students now finishing their High School course. Each performer played with the poise and composure which seems to be a part of the School's accomplishment for their students.

The three numbers which made up the second part of the program displayed the finish and precision of the string-ensembles, and showed the result of the School's training through its Grades, in the brilliant performance of Virginia Kenway and Frances Jennings, and the assured, mature work of Anna Kovitz.

Diplomas were given to the following graduates: Frances Jennings, for the regular course of 10 Grades in piano with a "High Honor" standing throughout her eight years in the School; Virginia Kenway, piano, and Sylvia Vuilleumier, violin, graduates of 1931, were awarded diplomas for Normal Training.

Three Scholarships were awarded: The President's Scholarship was awarded to Anna Kovitz, a graduate in 1931, enabling her to take the full course at the Institute of Musical Art (Juillard Foundation) in New York. The Luke-Seaver Scholarship was awarded to Aida Pucciarelli, for violin study; the Ampico Company, through Mr. Herman S. Spain, Vice-President of the Chickering Company, each year awards a Scholarship in the Music School to the winner of the First Year Piano Class work in the Public Schools. This was held last year by Philip Whittelsey. Another award will be made at the Public School contest late in June, in the High School Auditorium.

PARAMOUNT THEATRE

"Letty Lynton," a modern drama of society with its reckless diversions, will be the leading attraction at the Paramount in Newton the first four days of this coming week. The principal roles are taken by Joan Crawford and Robert Montgomery. The scenes of this rather spectacular film are laid all the way from tropical jungles to Broadway. The companion picture is "Play Girl," in which the leading parts are taken by Loretta Young, Winnie Lightner and Norman Foster.

The films for the last of the week are "The Last Days of Pompeii," a Six Million, which is said to aspire to the level of "Humoresque," and "The Devil's Lottery" with Elissa Landi, Victor McLaglen and a fine supporting cast. Because of the holiday, next week's bargain matinees will be held on Mondays and Tuesdays.

CHAIRMAN OF BANQUET COMMITTEE

Miss Marion Ingraham of Auburndale is chairman of the committee in charge of the Class Banquet of the Graduating Class of Boston University, which was held at the Webster Duck Inn on Thursday evening. Miss Ingraham is a member of the Class from the School of Practical Arts.

Girl Scouts

A small group of girls from Troop 26, Miss Ruth Wilkie, leader, and another group from Troop 5, Miss Elizabeth Kilburn, leader, spent Friday night at Camp Mary Day.

On Saturday, Captain Adelaide Ball with a number of girls from Troop 8 spent the night, and came back Sunday morning after having a delightful time.

On Sunday afternoon all the Waban troops had their last meeting at Camp Mary Day to which they invited parents and friends. A large group attended the meeting, at which time badges and awards were given out. Mrs. Walton S. Redfield, Commissioner, presented the Second Class Badges and also Merit Badges to Troop 14.

Mrs. E. D. Miller, member of the Court of Awards, presented the badges to Troop 4 and Troop 24. On Monday afternoon, the Girl Scouts of Nonantum had a picnic supper at Camp which they enjoyed immensely.

The Junior Bugle and Drum Corps, under the direction of Miss Marcia Meyer, also had a very delightful picnic to which they invited the Winchester Junior Corps. The girls took their bugle and drums and gave a very nice demonstration. Silver stars were awarded for attendance.

Troop 21 held its last meeting on Tuesday evening of this week. The Girl Scouts of troop 11 who were graduating into the troop were present as guests.

NEWTON CATHOLIC CLUB TO CONDUCT PENNY SALE

Opens Summer Activities

Next Monday evening the Newton Catholic Club will conduct its first Penny Sale of the season. Arrangements are being made to accommodate a large number. The popularity of this type affair is attested to by the throngs who have closely followed each Penny Sale the Club has conducted.

A committee of ladies is especially active to make this Penny Sale one of the most successful. The ladies who are active are Mrs. Geo. L. Tully, Mrs. Mary Cranston, Mrs. Bernard Peters, Mrs. Wm. H. Meehan, Mrs. J. Neale Macdonald, Mrs. T. J. Powers, Mrs. Alex. McNeil, Mrs. Thomas Leehan, Mrs. Thomas Maher, Mrs. Joseph Feeney, Mrs. F. Conley, Mrs. J. Tusher, Mrs. M. A. The procedure which has proven so successful in the past will be followed at this Sale. The proceeds derived from this Sale will be used to defray the expenses incidental to the maintenance of the Club during the summer months. The party will start at 8:15 P. M. and a time limit has been placed at 11:00 P. M. All persons desirous of donating articles to this Penny Sale should plan to get in touch with one of the Committee or leave their donation at the Clubhouse before Monday evening.

RECOGNITION DAY AT CHILDREN'S MUSEUM

Recognition Day, one of the major occasions of the year, will be celebrated at the Children's Museum of Boston on Saturday, June 11, with a special program at 2:30, on the terrace of the Museum. The day is the Museum "Commencement" at which fifty children will receive awards for voluntary museum work done throughout the year. The Day sums up the activities of the Museum for and by children, and is of special interest to parents, educators, and others interested in the unique educational opportunities offered by this institution to the children of Greater Boston. Youngsters who have worked faithfully for points playing the museum games based on the museum exhibits, attending illustrated talks, making nature collections, doing research work and club work will receive medals, pins, diplomas and certificates. Music will be furnished by the Memorial High School Band and the Museum Club children will present a pageant entitled "America, Yesterday and Today."

Prizes were carried off in the Annual Kindness to Animals Pet Show by the following Newton young people: Mary Louise Shadman, 175 Bellevue street, Newton, cat "Pringle Purr"; Beverly Begole, 51 Avalon road, Waban, dog "Brownie"; Barbara Begole, 51 Avalon road, Waban, squirrels and rabbits; Nancy Blake, 18 Vartick road, Waban, dog "Topsy"; Kenneth Fuller, 138 Albemarle road, Newtonville, waltzing mice.

ROSE AND PEONY SHOW

The annual Rose and Peony Show of the Newton Centre Garden Club will be held in the auditorium of the Newton Centre Library on Tuesday, June 14th, and the president of the club, Mrs. Walter H. Dietz of Bishopsgate road, Newton Centre, has announced that the list of exhibitors for prizes is an unusually large one this year. The public is invited to attend between the hours of 1 p. m. and 9 p. m.

Among the judges who will examine specimens and make awards are William N. Crosby of Weymouth and Mrs. John P. Ramsey, President of the Chestnut Hill Garden Club. All arrangements for the Rose and Peony Show are being made by a committee headed by Mrs. Austin C. Bentley of Chestnut Hill.

Mayor's Relief Com. Holds Annual Meeting $75,000 Contributed

Reports of Activities Show That Hundreds of Newton Residents Were Aided and Given Work in Past Year

At the first annual meeting of the Mayor's Relief Committee, held recently, detailed reports were made of the committee's activities and of the receipt and disbursements of funds. The secretary reported that during the winter months various projects for development of playgrounds in this city were carried out under the direction of the Newton Playground Department. On this work the sum of $885.25 was expended. Work done by unemployed men under the direction of the Street Department caused an expenditure of $977 from the treasury of the Relief Committee. Of this amount $3902 was spent on painting and repairing fences owned by the city.

On recommendation of the Chief of the Fire Department, several buildings which were fire menaces were removed with permission of the owners. $1,642.50 was spent for this purpose, giving work to carpenters, roofers, etc., who otherwise would not have had any opportunity to secure work. All wood obtained from these buildings was distributed to the needy. It was estimated that enough wood was secured to pay for the labor involved.

The sum of $18,502.73 was expended on private and semi-private property to remove trees and clear underbrush with the understanding that the Mayor's Relief Committee would have the wood to distribute to the needy of the city. Over 700 cords of wood were delivered on orders from the Newton Welfare Bureau, Department of Public Welfare and ministers of the various churches.

The above activities enabled the Mayor's Relief Committee to give work to 744 men and women, which enabled them to earn at least part of the necessary amount to carry them through the winter months.

The report of the Treasurer for the period from November 1, 1931, to April 30, 1932, was as follows:—

Income:
Balance—November 1	$ 3,226.03
Contributions	73,455.47
Refunds and Loans Repaid	1,063.76
Disbursements—Administration:
Salaries	$ 2,387.54
Stationery, Printing, etc.	367.74
Sundry	900.71
Subscription Expense	810.19	4,466.13
Relief:
Loans	11,149.10
Clothing	529.34
Relief through other agencies	5,960.95
Labor	36,007.48	53,646.87	58,113.05
			19,637.21

Contributions other than cash:

First National Stores—orders on Price Waterhouse—auditing, sent their stores $ 1000.00

Through the placement bureau, there were 402 men and women placed in positions offered and paid for by Newton citizens. The amount of earnings they reported to the Mayor's Relief Committee was $25,512.00.

Temporary loans amounting to $11,149.10 were made to 111 different persons.

The clothing chest which was at the headquarters of the Mayor's Relief Committee was under the direction of the Newton Welfare Bureau; voluntary services being furnished by members of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs. During the winter, 8952 articles of clothing were distributed to 312 families. The Mayor's Relief Committee contributed to this work $529.34, having been able to purchase from the War Department new shoes and clothing at a ridiculously low figure. It purchased shoes for 25c a pair, heavy socks for 5c to 6c a pair, working trousers for 25c a pair, etc.

The Mayor's Relief Committee distributed 500-98 pound bags of flour which were contributed by the American Red Cross. It is anticipated that the Committee another 500 possibly 1,000, more bags before next winter.

Pledges received for the work of the committee amounted to $81,860.72, of which $73,255 had been collected up to April 30. Since that time over $1900 was received from the proceeds of the play "T. N. T."; $2904 was paid on pledges previously made; $362 were received on pledges made since May 1.

William H. Rice, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the following list of officers and directors for the coming year, and all were unanimously elected:—

Honorary President, Mayor Sinclair Weeks; President, Leon B. Rogers; Vice-President, Arthur C. Dunmore; Treasurer, Frank L. Richardson; Secretary, Harold F. Young.

First Corps Cadets

Band Concert At Claflin Field

For many years residents of Newton have served as officers and in the ranks of the First Corps of Cadets in Boston. The Corps has always had men of sterling worth from this City. In these days when everyone needs something to cheer their anxious minds, it is believed that music can help make all happy. To express appreciation to the City of Newton and also to bring cheer to its residents, the first corps of cadets will give a band concert at Claflin Field on Friday evening, June twenty-fourth at seven-thirty which will be open to the public.

In order to avoid the great amount of wiring necessary to provide each musician with lighting equipment the First Corps will install a special generating equipment which they have used successfully heretofore. This equipment will furnish sufficient light for the band and also the entire stadium.

Install Officers Of Central Church Service League

Charter Members Installed At Children's Day Service

At the Children's Day service at Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, last Sunday, an interesting feature was the installation of the charter members of "The Central Church Service League." This is a new organization which has been formed with the idea of developing the spirit of service among the boys and girls and young people of the church by offering various types of useful service to and through the church and giving definite recognition for service rendered faithfully during the year, with ascending degrees over a period of years. A certificate of membership is presented and a silver and blue pin bearing the letters "C. C. S. L."

To charter membership there were elected the following members of the Junior Choir who have been very regular in attendance at the weekly rehearsals and at church service when the choir has sung every other week throughout the year:—Gwendolyn Cooper, Nellie Frederick, Constance Hill, Jane Hill, Alice LeBaron, Barbara LeBaron, Pauline Lewis, Barbara McCormick, Janet Merrill, Jean Noyes, Lois Oliver, Elizabeth Parkhurst, Hope Parkhurst, Hannah Sherman, Helen Starbird, Winona Starbird, Betty Southworth, Robert Brown, Curtis Drury, George Pateron, Lester Paterson.

The three members of the Central Church Printing Squad were also elected to the Service League: Frederick Fairfield, Gordon Graves and Robert Morrill. These boys, under the leadership of Mr. James E. Peabody, have, for the last three months, been doing a considerable part of the church's printing. Their shop is located in the tower of the church.

Honorable mention was given to the members of the Courier Messenger Squad, fifty-five boys and girls, who deliver the weekly paper—The Central Church Courier—to all the homes of the parish each Saturday. They are the following: Jack Arend, Russell Bonnyne, Donald Blackey, Arline Brewer, Virginia Brown, James Brickett, Jr., Robert Clark, Sylvia Conant, Curtis Drury, Joan Duff, Gerald DeLue, Nancy Flagg, John Fairfield, Robert Gaskell, George Hinman, Jr., Roger Harris, Weston Haskell, John Hayden, William Hayden, Jr., Robert Hunter, Ralph Hinckley, Jane Jewett, Charlotte Kidger, James Kendall, Shirley Lamson, Dean Lewis, David Locke, Doris Manter, Priscilla Manter, Doris Mergendahl, Winifred Mergendahl, Elsie Marcell, Barbara McCormick, Fred MacMillan, Harold Moore, Jean Noyes, Marguerite Noyes, Helen Nickerson, Barbara Patey, Herbert Packard, Jr., Elizabeth Pailier, Richard Rennard, Theodore Reed, Jr., Wesley Rich, Claire Rangnow, Alexander Skene, Robert Stander, Edward Serian, Betty Simons, John Tennant, Richard Whitney, Norman Willey, Teddy Waldron.

The Service League is being worked out to include various lines of activity next year. The committee is composed of Robert S. Gaskell, Chairman, James E. Peabody, Mrs. R. S. Merrill, Miss Esther Stiles, Chauncey W. Waldron, Ernest L. Nichols, Rev. R. S. Merrill, ex officio.

Republican Club to Hear Delegates On Convention

Next Tuesday at Open Meeting in High School

The Republican Club of Newton will hold an open meeting next Tuesday evening at eight o'clock in the auditorium of the Newton High School at Newtonville. The citizens of Newton will be offered a first hand picture of the Republican National Convention at Chicago through the addresses of several of the Massachusetts delegates. Speakers will include Mayor Sinclair Weeks, Speaker of the Massachusetts House of Representatives Leverett Saltonstall, Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer, member of the Republican National Committee, and Rep. Albert F. Bigelow of Brookline. All citizens are invited to attend.

Cong. Luce To Be Opposed For the Rep. Nomination

Cambridge Congressman May Be Appointed Judge

Congressman Robert Luce of Waltham, who has represented the 13th District since 1919 will be opposed for the Republican nomination by Congressman Frederick W. D. Minger of Cambridge, who has represented the 5th District for a number of terms.

These two districts were largely consolidated when the redistricting of Mass. was made necessary by the reduction of this State's representatives from 16 to 15. The Massachusetts Legislature, to the surprise of most citizens, protected the other Representatives by leaving their districts practically intact, but used the 5th and 13th Districts for disruption and made two of this Commonwealth's best qualified and most influential Congressmen the goats.

Mr. Dallinger is being mentioned for appointment as one of the judges of the United States Customs Court in New York, where two vacancies exist. President Hoover has not indicated how he will act on Mr. Dallinger's candidacy for this position, and it is apparent that the Congressman is not going to handicap himself by withholding his entrance into the fight for the Representative nomination.

The United States Customs Court is comprised of nine judges. It sits in different parts of the country and comes to Boston a few times each year. It hears cases on rates and duties assessed on imported merchandise. The presiding justice of the court, Israel Fischer was retired two months ago, and Judge George M. Young, who succeeded him recently died.

On June 7th a reception and dinner was tendered Judge Fischer at the Hotel Pennsylvania, New York by the Association of the Customs Bar. Joseph F. Lockett of Newton Centre officiated as toastmaster. Mr. Lockett is prominently identified with the Customs Bar.

There will be a hearing given by the Metropolitan District Commission at its offices, 20 Somerset street, Boston on Thursday, June 23 at 3:30 p. m. relative to the location of the parkway or boulevard from Hammond street, Brookline to Beacon street, Newton Centre. The Legislature recently passed a bill authorizing the Commission to decide between a route accepted some years ago which runs by the shore of Hammond Pond, and a proposed route which would take the parkway some distance away from the pond.

Hold Graduation Exercises at High School of Our Lady

Diplomas Conferred By Rev. Lawrence Slattery

The graduating exercises of the High School and Grammar School of the Church of Our Lady were held Wednesday afternoon at the High School Auditorium on Washington St. The program of the High School graduation is as follows:

Selection by school orchestra—"Trisagion" by Sereby; Salutory, by James Martin; choral, "Ave Maria" by Rosewig; selection by school orchestra—"Victorius Legions March" by Sereby; prize essay—"Washington the Man," by Alice Gallagher; Valedictory by Mary Regan. The diplomas were conferred by Rev. Lawrence W. Slattery, pastor of the Church of Our Lady and the address was given by Rev. Patrick J. McHugh, S.J. The program was concluded by the singing of the school song "Memories of the Gold and Purple," words by John Gegan and music by Harts.

Contest awards granted to the High School and Grammar School of Our Lady Help of Christians during the past school year are as follows: The Fidei Award of $5.00 on "Why We Have a Fete on Armistice Day" was awarded to Mary A. Regan, Class of '32, by the American Legion Auxiliary; James V. McMullen, Class of '34, received honorable mention. For essays written according to the rules of the contest, prizes were awarded by the New England Coke and Coal Company to Mary Stokes, '32, James Martin, '32, Alice Gallagher, '32 and Frances Fay, '35. American Legion Awards were received by Margaret Magee and Edward Bryson, Grade Eight, for scholarship and high character standing. The Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals granted first prize to Charles McLaughlin, Grade Eight, during its annual Poster Contest.

The matter of illegal entry into the United States is a big problem. As in the case of all laws the greater the restriction and the better the administration the greater is the tendency to evade the law. It is impossible to patrol the 5,933 miles of border separating the United States from Mexico and Canada and thus opportunities are afforded for the smuggling of aliens into the country. Many are also brought in on boats while others attempt the use of almost every type of forged document. Many cases arouse sympathy and a continual effort is made to make these immigrants who are detected trying to make illegal entry realize that they must respect the laws in order to gain the privileges of the country in which they desire to live. Faked relationships, so-called students, and visitors, are other methods which are tried in order to gain entry. As fast as one method is brought under some control other methods are devised.

The problem of deportation is also one which is of great concern. The law states that all aliens having entered the country since 1924 other than through the quota shall be deported. Prior to that time the statutes carried a limitation of five years after which time an alien could not be deported. It is estimated that there are more than one million aliens residing in the United States illegally. Even if it were possible to apprehend all of these it would be impossible to deport them because of the expense connected with each deportation.

The department must proceed by law. It cannot deport any person unless for definite grounds. The regular procedure is for the Commissioner of Immigration at the Port in the district to have the case investigated. If it is revealed that the matter comes under the jurisdiction of the law and that the law has been violated a hearing is given to the individual. The latter's attorney has power to summon witnesses, present documents and otherwise attempt to prove that the defendant should not be deported. The entire case is put before the Commissioner. On being sent to Washington with a request for a warrant of deportation it is reviewed in order that it may be fair and just to the individual and to the government. The warrant is then issued and returned to the Port which handles the case. The attorney is notified and he has the right of three appeals, to the Federal Court, the Circuit Court and the Supreme Court. Failing in these appeals if the individual to be deported is a criminal his attorney may seek a pardon from the Governor which if granted voids the deportation warrant. With such procedure it is not possible for aliens to be "railroaded" out of the country.

In cases of deportation it is also necessary to get a passport from the country of which the person to be deported is a citizen and in many cases months elapse before such a passport is obtained. Prior to 1924 any alien who was deported could immediately return resulting in another phase of the problem which was both discouraging and expensive. Mrs. Tillinghast cited a case last year in which a woman was returning to the country for the fifth time after having been deported on each occasion. In 1929 the law was amended so that any alien deported for any cause could not re-enter without being guilty of a felony. The penalty for such an offence is $1,000 fine or two years in prison, or both at the discretion of the court. The passage of this amendment brought considerable pressure onto Congress to modify the restriction. This was done to the extent where the Secretary of Labor, in his discretion, may grant an alien the chance to apply for re-entrance after a year has elapsed from the time of deportation.

The anarchist problem is one which the immigration officials are constantly facing. In this respect the law makes it mandatory that any individual who is a member of any organization which has the object to overthrow the government by force or violence shall be deported. It is difficult to administer this law because of the fact that the person questioned will deny such organization membership. Thus it becomes necessary to investigate his life and habits for a considerable period of time. Another deterring factor in this respect has arisen through the issuance of orders by such organizations that members questioned shall make no reply.

Mrs. Tillinghast spoke straight from the shoulder regarding Communism intimating that the situation was not overrated and that the people of America must realize that a real problem confronts them. The movement seeks to honeycomb the country, bring about a revolution, and set up a government managed for Moscow.

In closing Mrs. Tillinghast asked the co-operation of all in the grand cause of "My Country 'Tis of Thee."

Bishop From India
Speaks at N'ville
On Problem There

The Methodist Episcopal Churches of the Northumbria District held a World Friendship Mass Meeting in the Newtonville Church on Friday evening, June 10, when Bishop Jashwant Rao Chitambar, M.A., D.D., of India gave an address. Bishop Chitambar, who is the first Indian to be elected bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church, came to the country to attend the General Conference at Atlantic City in May. His wife, Satyavati Violet Chitambar, is with him and is also speaking at various meetings in the interests of her people. The Bishop has held the positions of General Superintendent of the Central Conference of Southern Asia, teacher in the Theological Seminary at Bareilly, Principal of the Lucknow Christian College, and President of the All India Christian Association. He has been a delegate to the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church four times.

The meeting was conducted by the Rev. D. D. Hoagland of Waltham who asked Rev. Harry A. Hanson, who has just returned from 16 years of missionary service in India, to introduce the speaker. Mr. Hanson spoke with appreciation of his work with Bishop Chitambar in India. The Bishop touched on the economic, social and religious conditions in his country. He said that the exploitation of her natural resources of mica, coal, salt, petroleum, oil and forests by foreign countries is a strong factor in her demands for independence. According to the present marriage laws a girl cannot marry until she is 14 and a boy must be 18. Primary education is compulsory. Five years have seen a marked breaking down of social distinctions.

Bishop Chitambar, dressed in the clerical clothes of his country and speaking from a deeply religious experience, made a lasting impression on his audience. He said that his people must worship something. They add religion to the three traditional R's. The Christian religion to them is an experience and not a theology. There are 12,065 Christian churches in the country and the people were never so alert and active economically, socially and religiously as now. The speaker called India "The burning heart of Asia."

MURPHY'S HOMER CLINCHES TITLE FOR OUR LADY HIGH

Jimmy Murphy's home run with two out in the last of the 12th inning of the game between Our Lady High of Newton and Mission High of Roxbury gave the local team a 5 to 4 victory which carried with it the championship of the Greater Boston Catholic High School League. After getting away to a three-run lead in the first inning Murphy saw his lead cut down until in the eighth frame the score became knotted at 4 all when the visitors scored twice. Until Murphy's tremendous clout in the twelfth which broke up the game there was no scoring.

Murphy and Hallisey were having a pitching duel with the Newton ace having a slight advantage in fanning the Mission players to six hits while fanning six and passing four. Hallisey allowed eleven hits issued no passes but fanned only three. Cummings was the leading batter with three hits, one a double, in five times at bat. Cummings' double and Murphy's home run were the only extra base blows of the game.

The victory clinched the league title for the Our Lady nine for the second successive season. The standing:

SPORT NOTES

Fletcher Triples

Yale defeated Brown 10 to 4 on Wednesday at Providence with a triple by Alie Fletcher, former Newton high star, proving the decisive blow. With the Ells having a 4 to 3 advantage at the opening of the eighth Humphries, Brown pitching ace, cracked. Two passes and a single filled the bases bringing Fletcher to bat. His three-base blow chalked up three tallies to clinch the victory. Another three-run rally in the ninth gave the Blue its 10 to 4 margin as Brown also tallied once in the ninth.

Play On All-Team

The All-Suburban league and All-Mystic Valley league baseball teams met last night at Victory field, Watertown. Three Newton youths were in the starting lineups with Tom Lyons catching, Warren Huston at shortstop and Willie Mullen in centerfield. Lyons and Mullen substituted for Rappolli and Chesterfield, Somerville stars who were attending graduation exercises.

Is School Tennis Instructor

Francis Broughton of Newton is at Dublin, N. H., for the summer where he has taken up his duties as tennis instructor at the Sargent School Camp for Girls.

Reach Quarter Finals

The quarter final round of the State singles tennis tournament at Longwood was reached Wednesday afternoon with two local players among the survivors. Lawrence B. Rice, seeded second and an ex-champion, defeated Donald Martin of West Newton, a former B. U. tennis captain, after a hard battle in the first set which went to 8-6. Rice then took the second set, 6-2. Alfred Turner of Waban is the other local survivor having defeated J. S. Nicholl, 7-9, 6-1, 6-2. Turner is seeded number eight.

Mixed Doubles Tourney

Entries for the second annual mixed doubles tennis tournament of the Newton Centre Squash Tennis Club closed last night. The tourney will get under way tomorrow. Francis Chase and Grace Thompson, 1931 winners who were captains of the boys' and girls' tennis teams at Newton High last year, will be among those in the strong field entered.

Makes Hole-in-one Again

Bill Hayden scored a hole-in-one on the third hole at Albemarle on Sunday when his drive pitched in on the first bounce. He had a hole-in-one on the same hole three years ago. Sunday he was playing in a foursome with Ollie Wyman, Kenneth Kempton and George Savage.

HUSTON TO LEAD THREE TEAMS—IS BASEBALL CAPTAIN

With the election of Warren Huston as captain of the Newton High baseball team for 1932 the orange and black all-around athletic star becomes the first youth in the history of local high school athletics to lead his mates in three major sports. Huston's election as leader of the nine took place last Friday. He had previously been elected captain of the football and basketball teams for next year. His selection as a triple captain surpasses the record made by George Owen, who later became a Harvard star in three sports. Owen was captain of baseball and hockey in his senior year but was not eligible for the captaincy of the football eleven in his final year due to the fact that he did not become a candidate for a position on the team until he became a senior.

Huston is generally regarded as the most promising school athlete at Newton since the days of Owen. He has been the All-Suburban League shortstop for two years and a year ago, as a sophomore, made the shortstop berth on several of the all-scholastic teams. Near the very end of the football season the popular Newton youth injured his back that handicapped him in basketball considerably and slowed him up somewhat this spring. The summer's rest from continuous participation in athletics is expected to put him in splendid shape again for next fall.

INQUEST ON DEATH OF CRASH VICTIM

An inquest was held by Judge Allen in the Newton court last Friday on the death of Natalie Young of Woburn who was killed at Chestnut Hill early on the morning of May 30. The girl was riding in a car driven by Charles Leach, 20, Chestnut Hill avenue, Waban; the car crashed into a large truck. Leach was arrested after the accident and charged with drunkenness and driving while under the influence of liquor. He has not been charged with manslaughter. The witnesses heard at the inquest included Patrolman McCormick and John Martell of Quincy, who saw the crash; Charles Messier of Marlboro, driver of the truck hit by Leach's car; William Bittenbender of Newton Highlands, driver of a car which narrowly escaped colliding with the car driven by Leach before the crash; and Medical Examiner West. Leach will appear in the Newton court on June 27.

PARAMOUNT THEATRE

Sylvia Sidney of New York who distinguished herself in "An American Tragedy" and "Ladies of the Big House" comes to the Paramount Theatre of Newton this week in "The Miracle Man." Chester Morris is the crook of the cast and John Wray is the fakir. On the same program will be Douglas Fairbanks in "It's Tough to Be Famous." The last half of the week Richard Arlen will be seen in "Sky Bride" and Elissa Landi will be seen in "Woman in Room 13." For the summer months there will be two performances on Saturdays, at 1:30 and 7:45.

The two preliminary matches of the Doubles Tournament which have been played resulted in Frederic B. Eastman and George Atwater defeating Lowell A. Warren and Rev. Kenneth C. Gesner, 2-6, 6-2, 6-4, and Howard Fitts and Chase Kepner defeating Donald Gibbs and Wesley Dynes, 6-2, 6-4.

Tennis Team

The Y. M. C. A. Tennis Team will meet the West Newton Neighborhood Club Team for the second time this season in a return match at the "Y" this Saturday afternoon. The probable team which will represent the "Y" will be Howard Fitts, L. Chase Kepner, Gordon Kitchen and Roland Coombs.

Baseball

The Senior Baseball Team of the Y. M. C. A., through hard-hitting and aided by good pitching, won all three of its games again played last week. Two of the games, the first two of the season for the "Y" in the Newton Twilight League, were with Auburndale and Upper Falls. "Red" Joyce pitched in the game with Auburndale played on the "Y" field, which was won by the "Y", 3-1. The game taken from Upper Falls played at Upper Falls, with George Hokanson on the mound, was won by a score of 11 to 5.

The third game, not a league affair, was played with the Russell Box Company at the Tufts Park Playground in Medford and was won by the "Y" 12 to 5. Ray Clarke started pitching in this game for the "Y" and was relieved by "Red" Joyce.

Camp Frank A. Day

Police News

John Litchfield of Malden was arrested at 4:45 Sunday morning on Commonwealth avenue, West Newton charged with driving while under the influence of liquor. He was arraigned in the Newton court on Monday and his case was continued until June 23.

Patrolmen Barr and Chadwick stopped a car on Commonwealth avenue, Newton Centre early Monday morning and arrested 5 men for drunkenness. Two of the five were also charged with driving while under the influence of liquor. John Fallon of Neponset was driving the car. According to the police, his license had been revoked. Frank Wing of Dorchester, was also charged with driving, as he possessed a license. When arraigned in the Newton court on Monday, both men were charged with having been convicted of similar offenses before. Their cases were continued.

A woman on Woodcliff road, Newton Highlands telephoned police headquarters on Saturday that a large snake was loitering at the rear of her home. A squad of police was hastened to the scene and the snake was captured. It was not a poisonous snake. It was an old bicycle tire.

Richard Pocina, 17, of 85 Exchange street, Waltham, was sentenced to the Shiley School by Judge Bacon in the Newton Court last Friday, and his brother, Woodrow Pocina was given a suspended sentence to the same institution when they were found guilty of having stolen their father's automobile at Nonantum.

Mrs. Nicolina Marino of 62 Green street, Nonantum, was sentenced to the Newton court last Friday of having stolen $145 from Mrs. Antonia Gentile of 20 Emerald street, Nonantum. She was sentenced to serve 3 months in Middlesex County and appealed. She was held in $1000. According to Mrs. Gentile's testimony she was sitting on her steps and had the money in her pocketbook. Seeing Mrs. Marino approaching and wishing to avoid becoming engaged in conversation, Mrs. Gentile rushed into her house, forgetting her pocketbook. When she went out again, the pocketbook had vanished.

A car owned by J. B. Davidson of 484 Watertown street, Newtonville had several things stolen out of it while parked on Vernon street, Newton last Friday night. The loot included two tires, a tire carrier and 5 gallons of gasoline. John Anzino of Columbia avenue, Newton Upper Falls was sentenced by Judge Hammond in the Middlesex Superior Court last Friday to serve one year in the Billerica jail for having stolen hens in this city from John Janse of Newton Centre and Fred Thompson of Newton Highlands, and one year for having escaped from the jail last March. In addition, he must serve about another year at the jail as the unexpired part of the sentence he was under when he broke out of that place.

In the Newton court on Saturday Bernard Rosenthal of Brookline was fined $50 for speeding. It was his third conviction for such an offense within a year. Other speeders fined $10 each that day were—Clara S. Stone of Waban; William F. Mahan, Auburndale; Helen Oliver, Wellesley; Richard Norris, Nathan Goldberg and Harriet Brigham, all of Brookline.

Three young colored men of West Newton were arrested Monday night charged with stealing an automobile, joy-riding in it for a couple of hours, and then returning it to where it was taken from. Each were sentenced to 30 days in jail. Harold Tyler of Virginia road and Charles Bland of Virginia road accepted the sentence; Tiny Houston of 176 Hicks street took an appeal.

A case is being tried this week at the Newton court involving the suit of Mrs. Della McKenzie formerly of Newton Centre against Samuel Truesdale of 141 Grant avenue, Newton Centre. She sues for $50,000 for alleged breach of promise to marry.

Edward Gerraghty of Oakland road, Wellesley, age 20, was in the Newton court yesterday charged with trespass. He was found guilty and placed on probation for 90 days. The youth refused to leave the home of a Newtonville young woman who refused to marry him and it is alleged that he threatened to commit suicide. He was arrested Tuesday night by Patrolmen Goddard and Whelan.

DOG BITES CHILD OWNER MUST PAY $500

On Saturday Judge Bacon of the Newton court awarded $250 damages for Patricia Rourke, age 3, of Bostonia avenue, Brighton, in a suit brought by the child's father, Thomas J. Rourke against Mrs. Everett W. Abbott of 315 Tremont street, Newton. On April 20 the little girl was in a stroller which was being pushed along Tremont street by her mother. A bull terrier owned by Mrs. Abbott approached the stroller and bit the child on the lip.

The case was tried in the Newton court last week. James P. Atkins, attorney for Mr. Rourke called Dr. Francis J. Mulligan of Newton as a witness, and Dr. Mulligan testified that the child would have a permanent scar as a result of the bite. The statutes of Massachusetts specify that any award made for injuries caused by a dog bite necessitates a double payment. So, as a result of the $250 award, Mrs. Abbott must pay $500.

EUGENE J. DALY JR. POST

The Eugene J. Daly, Jr., Post No. 2384, of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of Newton, will be represented at the convention in Plymouth, Mass., on June 24th, 25th, and 26th by the following delegates: Commander John Keefe, Senior Vice Commander David Keefe, Junior Vice Commander Patrick Conney, Quartermaster Dante Frediani, Adjutant James Dunn, Chaplain Raymond Adams, Post Adjutant Harold Elliot, Trustee William Maloney, Thomas Treddin, Michael Treddin, John Hickey.

Letters of thanks have been sent to Father Coughlin, Father Cox, W. R. Hearst and Floyd Gibbons for their broadcasts of the Veterans' Bonus drive and it has been voted to send $25.00 to Floyd Gibbons to assist the Bonus marchers in Washington.

Recent Weddings

NEWCOMB—BLOIS

The First Methodist Episcopal Church at Newton Upper Falls was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday evening when Miss Eva Janette Blois was married to Kenneth Ward Newcomb. The bride, who was dressed in white satin with a tulle and lace veil and orange blossoms carrying a bouquet of white roses and saffron, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Leroy Blois of High street and formerly of Enreka, Pictou County, N. S. Mr. Newcomb is the son of Mrs. Frederick Newcomb of Colburn street, Needham Heights. Miss Rita Mae Blois, sister of the bride was maid of honor. The bridesmaids included Miss Alice Shaw of Belmont, Miss Elsie Nichols of Newton Upper Falls, Miss Martha Royals of Waban and Miss Nellie MacKenzie a cousin of the bride. The attendants were gowned in chiffon evening dresses each being of a different pastel shade to make a rainbow effect.

Mr. Frederick A. Newcomb, brother of the groom was best man while the ushers included Mr. Kenneth State of Needham Heights, Mr. Edward G. Uford of Auburndale, Mr. Walter P. Martin of Newton Upper Falls and Mr. Albert Newcomb, a brother of the groom.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. Vaughn Shedd the bride being given away by her father and a double ring service being used. Miss Margaret Harshorn was the organist and Mr. Grenfell Swim sang, "Oh Promise Me." The church was prettily decorated with roses, dahlias and shepherds crooks.

A reception following the ceremony, was held in the church parlors after which Mr. and Mrs. Newcomb departed for a mountain trip.

HUNTRESS—MURRAY

Announcement is made of the marriage on June 3, 1932 of Eleanor Leslie Murray of Newtonville and Howard Bancroft Huntress of Andover. The bride is the daughter of Mr. M. W. Murray. For the past three years she has been a student at Boston University, College of Practical Arts and Letters, and is a member of Theta Psi Sorority.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis M. Huntress of Andover and is a graduate of Phillips Academy, Andover, Class of 1926, and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Class of 1931. He is employed by the Massachusetts State Highway Department.

CEFALO—LOMBARDI

One of the season's most beautiful weddings took place Sunday, June 12, 1932, when Miss Clotilda Lombardi daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lombardi of Newton was united in marriage to Mr. Carlo Cefalo of Boston. Rev. John J. Flood of St. John's Church Wellesley Hills performed the ceremony in the presence of about 100 relatives and friends.

The bride's gown was of white chiffon over which hung a veil of Italian lace, the cap being caught with orange blossoms and pearls. She carried a bridal bouquet of white roses and lilies. The groom wore a tuxedo. Miss Rose Lombardi a sister of the bride was maid of honor, she wore a gown of powder blue chiffon, with a pale pink hat, and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

The best man was Mr. Sebastiano Lombardi a brother of the bride.

Immediately following the ceremony there was a wedding reception held at the home of the bride which was attractively decorated with cut flowers and ferns. Piano selections were rendered by the bride's cousin. Mr. and Mrs. Lombardi left for a several weeks' motor trip through Maine and Canada.

NORUMBEGA DISTRICT COUNCIL OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

Announcements are out this week concerning the courses of study to be offered in the Norumbega District School of Religious Education next Fall. The District Council feels that in these days we need all the values that come to us from religious education, so that our program for the training of church school leaders should be continued.

The school will be held, as usual, at the Newtonville Methodist Episcopal Church, to whom we owe a debt of gratitude for so long housing this school. Classes will begin on Monday evening, October 10 and continue for ten Mondays.

The following courses will be given: "The Life of Christ," and "How We Got Our Bible," by Prof. Frank W. Clelland, formerly of Boston University, School of Religious Education. "Understanding Young People," and "Mental Hygiene in Religious Education," by Prof. Philip Guiles, of Newton-Andover Theological School. "Primary Materials and Methods," by Miss Doris Bigglestone. "Junior Materials and Methods," by Mrs. Warren T. Powell.

The last two named instructors are especially well qualified and popular for the courses they are to teach. Miss Bigglestone comes from Newton-Andover Theological School and Mrs. Powell from Boston University School of Religious Education.

MAN INJURED AT THEOLOGICAL SCHOOL

Kenneth Wadman of Medford was seriously injured at the new dormitory of the Andover-Newton Theological School at 8.30 Monday morning. Wadman was driving a truck which brought a load of steel girders for the new structure. As the truck was being operated into position to discharge the girders, they slipped forward and pinned Wadman against the steering wheel. Workmen on the job rescued him and he was rushed to the Newton Hospital in Fire Chief Randlett's automobile. It was feared he received fractures of several ribs.

MAKING GOOD HEADWAY

Newton motorists are watching with extreme interest the excellent headway being made in the resurfacing of Washington street. The construction company doing the work began the laying of one of the four 10-foot concrete strips on Tuesday. Two announcements from the State Highway Department of Public Works make welcome news. The first is to the effect that the new roadway on the north side of the road will be ready for use about the middle of July. This roadway will consist of two strips of concrete and a section of bituminous macadam along the curbing. When the north side is opened the construction on the south side, consisting of two concrete strips and a bituminous macadam section will be started. The second announcement answers the question of many motorists as to the reason why the best portion of the street was torn up first and traffic compelled to use the exceedingly rough surface along the railroad. The contractor was permitted to start on the north side of the street in order to minimize the handicap imposed upon the storekeepers and residents along that side. Had the south side of the street, along the railroad, been constructed first, business on the north side would have been handicapped until the completion of the entire street. Under the present plan the inconvenience will be almost at an end when the north side is opened for traffic.

The address by Mrs. Tillinghast before the service clubs of Newton, as printed elsewhere in this issue, is of extreme interest to every citizen who has the welfare of the country at heart. The Commissioner of Immigration for the Port of Boston did not mince matters and we are confident that she did not overstate the dangers of the spread of radical organization. It is only too true that the public as a whole often takes a greater interest in minor issues and disregards to some extent the more important matters.

The effects of the redistricting of the State are fast coming to a showdown with the announcement that Congressman Dallinger will oppose Congressman Luce in the coming primaries. We have no hesitation in stating that these two veteran Congressmen are the most able in the entire Massachusetts delegation in the House of Representatives.

Recent Deaths

FREDERICK R. HODGE

Mr. Frederick Richard Hodge of 1218 Boylston street, Upper Falls, and husband of Emma R. B. Hodge, died at the Newton Hospital on Sunday, June 12, after a week's illness. Mr. Hodge is survived by his wife, Mrs. Emma R. B. Hodge, one son, Mr. Frederick M. Hodge, principal of the Hyannis High School, one daughter, Miss Emily G. Hodge and two brothers, Mr. William F. Hodge of Syracuse, N. Y., and Mr. Arthur G. Hodge of Sackett Harbor, N. Y. Mr. Hodge was born in 1869 at Houghton, Michigan, he attended Syracuse University in New York, and graduated from Harvard University, Cambridge, in the Class of 1895.

Mr. Hodge had been principal of a grammar school in Milton, Mass., the Belmont school in Malden and for the past 26 years the principal of the Ralph Waldo Emerson School, Upper Falls.

He was a man of a quiet and lovable manner and was lovingly known by his former scholars as "Papa Hodge." Funeral services were held on Tuesday, June 14, at 2 p. m. from the First M. E. Church, Upper Falls. The Ralph Waldo Emerson School was closed on Tuesday and all Tuesday.

By L. D. G. Bentley

If we must talk about it, let's drop "The worst is yet to come" and say "The worst is over."

Just Another Trip

The Framingham bus has pulled into Nantuxum Square. Passengers have stopped or stumbled off and the bus yawns for a new load. A man with a small black handbag is among the first to climb aboard. He hasn't been in his seat more than two minutes when he decides to ask the driver some questions. He leaves the bag on the floor. Meanwhile a fat woman and her fat daughter get on and take the seat where the man has left the bag. Pretty soon the inquiring passenger starts to return to his seat and finds it occupied. "You've got my bag under you," he announces, sourly, to the two women. They separate and extend their arms downward until they have fished out the bag. The man snatches it and takes another seat.

A man with a large box gets on. He asks if he may leave it next to the driver. The latter consents. The box is not in his way but crowds the entrance and all other passengers have to squeeze by.

A man carrying a two-gallon milk can and a large basket pushes his way through the door and after paying his fare moves to the back of the bus. He decides to put the can and the basket on the seat beside him. Other passengers give him angry looks and he changes his mind. Instead basket and can are placed in the aisle where everybody has to step over them.

A woman gets on. She would like to deposit her bundles alongside the driver, but he shakes his head. Too many articles in the crowd of the bus now. Outside are two girls of high school age. Each has an ice cream cone, one strawberry and one chocolate. They are about to step aboard when they pause to count their money. The driver looks at his watch. It is past the time to start. He scowls at the girls, waiting for them to enter. They pay no attention to him. He bangs the door and starts the engine. The girls jump. The operator throws the door aboard. His face is a thundercloud. The girls are embarrassed but they laugh loudly and jump in.

The bus starts, weaving its way among the traffic of the now one-sided Washington street. We are all bouncing up and down. Nobody seems happy except the girls with their ice cream cones. They are still laughing.

Where Swedes Lead

A friend of mine, who doesn't make statements, tells me that in Sweden they have the very best telephone service. He says it surpasses ours in America, which may surprise you, and far exceeds that of England and France, which may not surprise anybody.

The Swedish system is, that, however, gets us into technicalities which is no place to be when the weather is like this. We can, on the hottest day of the year, talk of one feature of the telephone service in Sweden which makes it distinctive for efficiency.

In Sweden they have what is called day morning the children of all the grades brought flowers to the church which were lovingly banked around the altar by the teachers of the school. Mr. Hodge's body lay in state all day at the home of the children whom he loved to pay their respects to their Papa Hodge. Rev. G. Vaughn Shedd, pastor of the church conducted the services, which were attended by the Superintendent of Schools the faculty of Ralph Waldo Emerson School and people from all walks of life in the village.

Eight brother principals of the Newton schools acted as pall bearers, Messrs. Miller, Carr, Chase, Leighton, Ray, Winslow, Paul and Ellsworth. A quartette of Mr. Giffen, Mr. Scarboro, Mrs. La Croix and Miss Tobin members of the faculty of the Newton Schools, sang.

Burial was in the Newton Cemetery.

DR. EUGENE A. CROCKETT

Dr. Eugene Anthony Crockett, who died in his sleep, Sunday night at his summer home in Ipswich, was the son of the late Dr. and Mrs. Fred E. Crockett of West Newton. His father practiced medicine in this city many years. His boyhood was passed in Newton. He was graduated from Harvard College and Harvard Medical School and became one of the country's leading specialists in diseases of the nose, throat, and ears and chief of staff of the Eye and Ear Infirmary, and was long a professor in Harvard Medical School. He was 63 years of age. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Crockett and by three children. The funeral was held Wednesday in the chapel at Mount Auburn Cemetery.

an intercepting service, more explicitly described as "secretarial." This is the way it works. You go out for the evening or leave home for a week-end with nobody left behind to answer the telephone. Instead of cutting yourself off altogether for that period you call up the telephone company and make a request for intercepting service. In so doing you explain that you will not be at home until 11 o'clock or whatever the hour is, or that you are going to be away from Saturday noon until Monday. The company understands your requirements and you are fully as well off as if you were at home. Possibly you are better, for there is any call you don't want to bother with the operator has answered for you and explained your absence.

My friend tells me that is a nifty arrangement and is much appreciated. It is worth whatever you pay for it. He guessed it might cost the equivalent of 10 cents in Swedish coin for the evening and the week-end in proportion. You get a complete record of all calls made for the calls made in your absence while the people who have called know all about you. Maybe you don't want any calls answered. Well, then, you don't have to employ intercepting service.

The plan is just catching on in this country, my friend says, and from what he has been told a private company in New York is undertaking to provide a similar sort of service. However, a private business concern isn't the telephone company and whether you want to turn your affairs over to an outsider I cannot say. Some of us would hesitate.

The Englishman Telephones

While on the question of telephoning I think it is interesting to note that England and France receive service that about matches up with what this country got for its money 30 years ago. My friend has an explanation for this. "Here in the United States," he says, "the idea is that the telephone company is a public utility, and mail third. In England and France mail is first, telephone second and telephone third."

It amused me to hear that the Englishman doesn't demand of the operator, as we do here, "Gimme Newton North 4272." He says, "Please put me through to Aldershot 4272." When the call is answered the query is put, "Is that Mr. Jones?" or "Is that the office of Mr. Jones?" or "Jonesy, are you there?" In the United States we say "Is this Mr. Jones?" or "Is this Mr. Jones' office?" or "Listen, Jonesy." For my own part I cannot see where "that" is preferable to "this," but I am willing to say that the Englishman knows what he wants.

"Line's busy," as we hear it is told another way by the English operator who says, "The line is in use." "They don't answer," as given us in the United States is phrased. They don't seem to respond. Answering a call the subscriber announces, "I'm here." Over here we have a variety of answers, ranging from "Well, what's wanted?" and "This is Mr. Jiggs speaking" down to "Hello."

The European and the Englishman have a way, I am told, of taking their telephone service calmly. If they are irritated they are slower in displaying their feelings. I dare say the service they get is fully as good, for I have yet to know a man who regularly "yells" at the telephone to receive any better service than he who uses patience.

Why Motorists Grumble

We ought to be a little more snappy about our traffic laws in Newton. One of our best people stopped his car Saturday morning right in the line of traffic and for 10 minutes conducted a chat with some friends in the street. All cars had to ease down and detour in order to pass him, which is a thing up to the school degree. A policeman sauntered by on the other side of the street but apparently was not interested, for he said nothing.

Traffic problems created by existing conditions are bad enough but when citizens complicate the situation by their indifference we have a situation which should not be allowed. I would not be the thought of it, if it hadn't come to my personal knowledge and while it did not inconvenience me it did prove that either the driver thought himself a privileged person or was just plain dumb.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the Power of Sale contained in a certain mortgage given by Ida E. Pearce to BENNETT B. BRISTOL, dated December 8, 1930, and recorded in Middlesex County, Massachusetts, South District Registry of Deeds, Book 5522, Page 154, of which mortgage the undersigned is the present holder, for breach of the condition of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same will be sold as a whole, at Public Auction at nine o'clock A.M., daylight saving time, on the eighth day of July, A.D. 1932, on the "Second" therein described parcel of the mortgaged premises (herein referred to as "now known" and numbered as 26-28 Adams Street" in Watertown, Massachusetts, and all singular the entire premises described in said mortgage, to-wit:

"First, The land in that part of Newton, Middlesex County, Massachusetts, called West Newton, the same being shown as lots numbered 3, 4 and 5 on a 'Plan of Property in West Newton, Mass.' From Surveys By Charles Fuller Whitney, dated November 17, 1924, and recorded with said Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 5165, Page 286, the said land, and hereby conveyed, being together bounded and further described as follows:

Northerly by lots numbered 1 and 2 on said plan one hundred thirty-five and 72/100 (135.72) feet;
Easterly by land now or formerly of the Allen Military School one hundred twenty (120) feet;

Southerly by land now or formerly of Seth Davis and by land now or formerly of the City of Newton one hundred eighty (180) feet;
Westerly by land now or formerly of the City of Newton one hundred eighty (180) feet;
Said lot 3 containing 5,817 square feet; said lot 4 containing 5,881 square feet; and said lot 5 containing 5,881 square feet, all according to said plan.

Together with a right of way, for the benefit of each of the three lots hereby conveyed, over a massachusetts way (20) feet wide, along the westerly side of lot numbered 2 on said plan, for all purposes for which streets or ways in said Newton are usually used.

The foregoing are a part of the premises conveyed to me by deed of George F. Marvin to said City of Newton, recorded with said Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 5165, Page 276.

Second, The land in Watertown, Middlesex County, Massachusetts, called the buildings thereon (now known and numbered as 26-28 Adams Street) and further described as follows:

Westerly by Adams Street forty-two (42) feet;
Northerly by land of owners unknown ninety (90) feet;
Easterly by the remaining portion of lot numbered 8 on the below mentioned plan forty-two (42) feet; and southerly by lot numbered 8 on said below mentioned plan ninety (90) feet;

Containing 3,780 square feet of land, and being a portion of lot numbered 8 on a 'Plan of Land in Watertown, Mass. Belonging to Andrew McArthur, Roland H. Barnes and Henry F. Beal, Civil Engineers, dated September, 1924, and recorded with said Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 5165, Page 286, and being subject to a prior mortgage in the original principal sum of $50,000, on which principal sum $46,000 now remains unpaid, given by Ida E. Pearce to Cambridge Savings Bank, dated November 8, 1927, recorded with said Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 5165, Page 289.

All stoves, ranges, screens, screen doors, window shades, furnace tools and gas and electric fixtures, or 'landlord's' fixtures, now on the granted premises, or hereafter placed thereon for use in connection therewith, are to be considered a part of the real estate and covered by this present mortgage."

The above described premises will be sold subject to any then unpaid taxes or municipal liens.

Terms of Sale: $400.00 to be paid in cash at the time and place of sale; balance to be paid at said Middlesex South District Registry of Deeds

MORTGAGEE'S SALE
By virtue and in execution of the Power of Sale contained in a certain mortgage given by Lizzie S. Orne, Baxter to the Widely Savings Bank, dated December 20, 1926, and recorded with Middlesex South District Registry of Deeds in Book 1028, Page 278 of which mortgage the undersigned is the present holder, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing, the same will be sold at public auction on the premises on Monday, the twenty-seventh day of June, 1932, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, all the premises which are described in said Mortgage substantially as follows:

A certain parcel of land, all the buildings thereon, and all the contents of said parcel, situated in said Newton and being lot B as shown on a Plan made by N. J. Holland, C. E., dated September 19, 1914, and recorded with Middlesex South District Registry of Deeds in Plan Book 228, Plan 3. Said parcel is bounded and described as follows:

SOUTHEASTERLY by Westbourne Road, by two lines measuring thirty-eight and 58/100 (38.58) feet and thirteen and 08/100 (13.08) feet; respectively:

SOUTHWESTERLY by lot A as shown on said plan, one hundred and 07/100 (107.07) feet; and NORTHWESTERLY by Francis Street, fifty-one (51) feet; and NORTHEASTERLY by lot C as shown on said plan, one hundred and 37/100 (137.37) feet.

Containing according to said plan 5673 square feet of land, and all the buildings and contents thereon, or any or all of said measurements more or less, or however otherwise the said premises may be bounded, measured or described.

The above described premises are the estate of Lizzie S. Orne, Baxter, and said Lizzie S. Orne, Baxter by Robert A. Carleton et ux by their deed dated October 16, 1925, and recorded with Middlesex South District Registry of Deeds in Book 1022, Page 283 and by Confirmatory Deed from Robert A. Carleton et ux to be recorded herewith and they said hereby being subject to the ten (10) foot building line established by the City of Newton as shown on a Plan recorded with said deeds in Plan Book 228, Plan 3. The building on said land is numbered twenty-one (21) in the present numbering of said Westbourne Road.

The premises will be sold subject to all unpaid taxes, tax titles, sewer assessments and municipal liens if any there are.

A deposit of Five hundred dollars ($500) cash, or all or part thereof, to be paid by the purchaser at the time and place of sale, the balance to be paid in ten (10) days after the date of sale.

—FIND BIG STILL AT OAK HILL

—Another big still was discovered at Oak Hill by Newton police early last Friday morning. The police had learned about suspicious activities at a large old residence at 61 Brookline street. A raiding party comprising Sergeants Meehan, Crowley, Sheridan and Burke and a squad of police forced entrance into the house and found a 1000 gallon still, four large vats with mash, 44 gallons of alcohol, a large quantity of sugar, 207 empty alcohol cans and other articles used in liquor traffic. Federal prohibition officers were notified to come and seize the still and other equipment. No one was in the house when the police raided.

—The house is supposed to be owned by Caroline Skinner of Newfoundland, New Jersey, but the police believe she had no knowledge of the use to which it had been put. A man who gave the name—John Arcolina, had the Water Department make a service connection with the house several weeks ago. He is being sought by the police.

—David Robbins was speaker of his graduating class at Tabor Academy this June and will go to Germany next year as an exchange student. Arthur Robbins and Robert E. White received honorable mention for scholarship rank at the same school.

—Miss Francis Miller of Hancock street has just returned from a year at the Oak Grove School for Girls at Vassalboro, Maine, where she won a silver cup for Bible study and received honorable mention for citizenship. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Miller who have just returned to this country on a furlough from their missionary field in India.

—WANT ZONES CHANGED

A hearing was held at City Hall last night by the Claims and Rules Committee of the Aldermen on the petition of James Cannon and Channing street, Newton, who asks that all the area bounded by Washington, Thornton, Pearl and Centre streets be included in a business zone. This petition would change land on Bacon, Peabody, Channing, Thornton and Pearl streets from residence to business zone. Many property owners on these streets oppose the change. Channing street is but 15 feet wide.

Another petition for change of zone presented to the aldermen comes from the estate of Thomas H. Mullen and others. It asks that land bounded by Centre, Walnut and Boylston streets, Newton Highlands, be changed from residence to business zone. Much of this area was used for business purposes in past years.

—About Town

By Edw. H. Powers

At the last meeting of the Newton Board of Aldermen the matter of granting an extension of a permit to operate a sand and gravel pit in a residential zone was acted upon. During the discussion on this matter, Alderman Holden of Ward 6 said: "We are having trouble with gravel pits all over the city; a firm stand should be taken against them." Alderman Ball said that the gravel pits in this city are eyesores. Both aldermen voiced the opinion held by thousands of our citizens. But, if gravel pits, mostly located off streets and obscured are eyesores, what can be said of the condition which exists at the corner of Washington street and Commonwealth avenue, West Newton? There an attractive property was subdivided into lots. Then two of the lots, one at the corner of the two streets, the other adjoining on Washington street, were excavated, leaving an eyesore that stands out conspicuously at one of the most traveled spots in this city. This area is in a residential zone. A number of petitions had, in previous years, been unsuccessfully presented to the Board of Aldermen asking that the other three corners at the intersection of these two main streets be changed from residential to business zone.

Then peculiarly, although the two lots excavated were owned by two different persons, one of whom had held title but a very short time, both were dug out at about the same time. Certainly the excavation of this land didn't make it more desirable for residential purposes. As a member of the Board of Aldermen last year, the writer said at a meeting, referring to the creation of the eyesore at Commonwealth avenue and Washington street: "If this were done to influence the city to change this location to a business zone, the Aldermen should refuse to co-operate in such a scheme by turning down any petition presented for such a change."

—HIGH SCHOOL BARS POST GRADUATE STUDENTS

The depression is showing itself at Newton High School. Graduates of this year's class and previous years cannot find employment. So many desire to return to school for post graduate courses that the school Department has been compelled to refuse this privilege to many. No student will be permitted to come back as a post graduate except those who are endeavoring to obtain additional credits to enter some college. Of this year's graduating class, of 600, 50 wanted to return to school. If this was allowed, two additional teachers would have to be hired and room needed for pupils entering next September from junior high schools would be encroached upon. It is also probable that stricter investigation will be given pupils from other places who come to Newton to reside with relatives or friends so that they can enroll at Newton High School.

—CARS CRASH—WOMAN INJURED

Cars driven by Isaac Bakerman of Dorchester and Philip Warren of 86 Waban avenue, Waban collided at Commonwealth and Lowell avenues, Newtonville on Sunday afternoon. Bakerman's wife received injuries to her head. She was taken to the Newton Hospital.

—Want Ex-Mayor Childs to Run For Sheriff

Ex-Mayor Edwin O. Childs is being urged by prominent Republicans to become a candidate for the Republican nomination for Sheriff of Middlesex County. The present incumbent of the office, John R. Fairbairn, has held the position for many years. Because of his age, it is not known whether or not he will again seek the office. It is known that the Democrats are to make a vigorous fight for the place. Mr. Childs has not made any statement as to his intentions in this matter.

Will Start Building Worcester Pike in Newton in July

Houses Must Be Moved Near Chestnut, Centre, Parker Sts

The Public Works Department of the Commonwealth will advertise today for bids on that section of the Boston & Worcester turnpike which will traverse this city. The section will start in Wellesley about a half-mile west of the bridge over the Charles River, follow the old turnpike (Worcester street) to the Newton line, thence along Boylston street through Newton Upper Falls and Newton Highlands to a point about 1-4 mile west of the Brookline line. Construction of the new super-highway would be carried further this year but for the fact that a large part of the revenue raised by the tax on gasoline for highway construction and maintenance, was diverted to help cities and towns in relieving the unemployed. One-sixth of the revenue so raised was deducted for the purpose named. During the coming year one-third of the tax will be deducted.

The turnpike through this city will be similar in construction to the sections already constructed from Shrewsbury to Framingham. For the most part there will be two 30 foot traffic lanes separated by a 10 foot reservation. In some places the reservation will have a width of 40 feet. Starting 500 feet west of the Newton line in Wellesley an overpass will begin which will carry two 24 foot traffic lanes on a viaduct over Chestnut street. This viaduct will be flanked by two 24 foot roadways which will serve the needs of the residents along this part of Boylston street and connecting streets. At Centre street an overpass will carry traffic beneath the turnpike. At Parker street another overpass will take the turnpike over this highway and lessen the grade now on Boylston street at this location. No provision has been made yet to care for traffic crossing the turnpike at Elliot, where Woodward and Elliot streets enter. Neither has any provision been made to safeguard conditions in the congested neighborhood at Thompsonville.

It is expected that work on this section of the turnpike will commence about July 15 and that the big highway will be opened to traffic in the Spring of 1933. No work will be done this year, however, on the section in Wellesley between the section referred to here and that now being done from Framingham through Natick.

The construction of ramps near Quinebaquin road, Centre and Parker streets will necessitate takings of land at these points and the removal of several houses. These ramps will connect the turnpike with the intersecting streets and service roads which will be constructed at the sides of the big highway where overpasses and underpasses will be constructed.

ORDAINED PRIEST

Rev. John G. Schultz of 303 Cabot street, Newtonville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Christian Schultz, was ordained to the priesthood on Sunday, June 19, at Esopus, New York, by Bishop John Dunn. He was born in this city 27 years ago, graduated from Newton High School and attended Mass. Institute of Technology for two years before joining the Redemptorist Order. He will celebrate his first solemn high mass next Sunday at 10 a. m. in the Church of Our Lady, Newton. Following a brief vacation with his family he will return to Esopus for further study and then will be assigned to missionary work.

Chestnut Hill Protests Against College Stadium

Petition Signed by 167 Seeks to Stop Proposed Stands To Seat 27,000

Petitions signed by about 175 residents of Chestnut Hill, including most of the property owners in that district, among them being many prominent citizens, have been filed with the City Clerk asking the City Government of Newton to prevent, if possible the erection of huge steel grandstands on the grounds of Boston College at Beacon street and College road. One of these stands, to be erected by September of this year would seat 15,000 persons; a second stand, to be erected next year would seat 12,000 persons. The objectors, many of them owners of expensive and attractive estates, believe the huge grandstands would bring such crowds to the district on days of games that Chestnut Hill would be seriously affected as an attractive residential neighborhood. They ask that if it is not found possible to stop the erection of the stands, that parking on streets adjoining the college grounds be properly restricted.

Building Commissioner Hagemann is withholding the issuance of a permit for the erection of the stands pending a ruling from City Solicitor Bartlett as to whether or not city officials have the authority to refuse granting such a permit.

School Teachers Will Assist At Coming Election

To Give Services Free In Helping to Count Votes

Because many of the voting places in this city are located in school buildings the thought occurred to City Clerk Grant that the services of school teachers might be obtained to assist in counting votes at the coming elections. Inasmuch as the Newton Aldermen recently voted to extend the hours during which polling places will be kept open in this city, it was supposed that the additional hours would place a strain on the election officers and that they must have assistance. The City Clerk conferred with Mayor Weeks on this matter and as a result a request was sent to the teachers that they volunteer their services to help count the votes cast at Newton's polling places at the primaries in September and the National election in November. The response was very rapid. About 100 teachers volunteered to assist as requested, and their services will be gratis, thus saving the city an appreciable sum of money. However, as most of the school teachers in this city are Republican by political affiliation, and half of those serving at the polls must be Democrats, it is doubtful if enough of the latter will be found among the volunteer vote counters. If this proves the case, it is probable that the Democratic City Committee may be asked to supply volunteer vote counters as representatives of their party.

Gasoline Filling Stations Before The Aldermen

Much Discussion at Hearings On Several Such Petitions

The meeting of the Board of Aldermen was scheduled to start at 7:45 on Monday night, and at that time a distinguished citizen of the Commonwealth, noted for punctiliousness appeared in the Aldermanic chamber. But, Hon. Herbert Parker of Lancaster had to wait until 8:25 before the members of the Board filed into the room from belated committee conferences and the meeting was called to order. Mr. Parker was present in his capacity as counsel for the Standard Oil Company to inform the Aldermen regarding the desire of his client to establish a filling station on Commonwealth avenue at Chestnut terrace, Newton Centre. But the matter had not been included on the docket for the meeting, so the eminent attorney could only leave the plans of the proposed station with the City Clerk and defer his intended address until a subsequent meeting.

It is proposed to establish a modern drive-in filling station on the site of the one-story business structure now on the locus. For some years a filling station permit has been exercised at 558 Commonwealth avenue; one of the stores in the building, by means of portable tanks on the sidewalk, and also a pump at the rear of the building. An extension of this non-conforming use is asked for so that the small station can be evolved into a large outdoor filling station. The district is zoned for private residences. It is probable that Mr. Parker may contend that inasmuch as the Standard Oil Company had to give up one of its most profitable stations, formerly located on the site of the new City Hall, it should be accorded the desired location. The Lincoln Realty Company, owner of the property where the station is desired is co-petitioner with the Standard Oil Company. The Aldermen voted to hold a hearing on this petition on July 15th.

Joseph D. McMullin spoke in favor of the granting of a permit to Louis A. Boudrot for a gasoline filling station at 112 Needham street, Upper Falls. This location is a garage repair shop owned by Boudrot and occupied by McMullin. Boudrot was granted a permit for a filling station there two years ago, but neglected to exercise the privilege and allowed the permit to expire.

Attorney James P. Gallagher appeared for the Bachrach Realty Trust which seeks a permit for a filling station at 978 Watertown street, West Newton. Mr. Gallagher, who dignifies filling stations by also designating them as "lubricatoriums", explained that the locus is just east of Washington street, has a frontage of 144 feet and a depth of 80 feet. An ancient wooden building now on the site will be razed; a brick building altered and the changes will improve the appearance of the place. The only opposition to the petition was competitive; coming from owners of nearby filling stations.

The petition of Cataldo Marchionni for an extension of the permit to operate the machinery and equipment at the large garage pit at 2131 Washington street, opposite Beacon street, Lower Falls, brought a protest from George Cutler of 2075 Beacon street. Mr. Cutler asserted that his property is being ruined by sand dust blowing across the street from the big pit. He asked that conditions be imposed before the permit is extended. Such conditions would include a further fill of the deep hole, which is an eyesore; the erection of a fence to keep

Convention Delegates Give Their Reports To Newton Republicans

Mayor Weeks Holds That Economy Question Is More Important Than Liquor Problem

The question of prohibition is not the most important plank in the platform of the Republican party was the view of Mayor Sinclair Weeks, a delegate to the recent national convention from the ninth district, speaking before an audience of two hundred persons who were present at the open meeting of the Republican Club of Newton on Tuesday evening in the Newton High School auditorium. While the platform plank regarding the 18th amendment loomed larger as an issue and provided most of the "fireworks" at the convention it was probably unjustified. Mayor Weeks expressed his disappointment over the lack of emphasis of the plank on economy which he viewed as the most important. He further stated that the party which presented a solution to this question in the most tangible form would receive the votes of the people.

Mayor Weeks, the first speaker on the program, was also the chief speaker to the reading of the report of the convention two issues were paramount in the minds of the people of the country, the nominations for president and vice-president and the attitude on the 18th amendment. Among the delegates principal interest was upon the choice of a vice-presidential candidate and prohibition.

He described briefly the opening of the convention with the keynote speech to the reading of the report of the resolutions committee and the resulting debate over the plank on prohibition. This debate Mayor Weeks stated proved the most interesting form of entertainment he had attended for some time.

Referring to the plank adopted by the convention the Mayor stated that he was not going to argue the pro and con of the 18th Amendment. He believes that the large number of radically drys do not like the plank—that nothing short of strict enforcement would be satisfactory to them. At first the new plank was a disappointment to him, he stated, but that he had come to the conclusion that it was the most satisfactory plan that could be adopted. Three months ago it was uncertain whether the convention would liberalize the party views on the subject at all. On the floor of the convention it was simply a question as to how liberal the party would go. One of the amazing things to Mayor Weeks was the fact that not a single voice was raised in defence of a continuation of the attitude of the prohibition plank adopted in 1925.

The new plank is fair to all, he stated. It gives the "wets" a chance to express their opinion that the 18th amendment should be repealed through the state conventions that would be called for the purpose of taking vote on the entire question. A third question is involved in the matter of a plan to be adopted if a change is made. Inasmuch as it is necessary for 36 states to vote to make a change Mayor Weeks stated that there was a better chance of getting some change under the plank that was adopted than there would have been with a straight repeal plank. The "dry" also have the opportunity to decide what shall be done through the medium of the state convention.

That the Republican party was the better qualified to lead the country out of the present economic situation was another view of Mayor Weeks. He urged all Republicans to point out certain basic facts—that the party had something to sell. No leader has appeared who has offered the specific, definite remedies presented by President Hoover in the Refinance Corporation, Home Loan Banks, the joint commissions of industry and finance in each Federal Reserve district, the limitation of government expenditures to tax receipts, etc.

Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer, retiring national committeewoman from Massachusetts, reaffirmed her belief in the Republican party and expressed her intentions of working for the party interests in the coming election. She referred to the need of leaders like the men on the platform with her and urged the women to let the men lead but to play a strong part themselves by helping to get out the vote. Speaker of the House Leverett Saltonstall gave the impressions of an observer. As an alternate delegate he took no part in the business of the convention. He stated the need of Republicans to recognize the different views within the party and to learn to give as well as to take. The outstanding figure of the convention was the Sec. of the Treasury, Ogden Mills. Rep. Saltonstall commented upon the able and effective manner in which the convention was organized and conducted, praising the organizing ability of President Hoover. In closing he urged all Republicans to be good sports and to work together in spreading the party principles.

Rep. Albert F. Bigelow of Brookline, co-delegate with Mayor Weeks from the ninth district, gave his personal endorsement of the new national committeeman from Massachusetts, John Richardson who was in charge of President Hoover's 1932 campaign in this state.

Others on the platform who were introduced to the audience were Mrs. E. P. Saltonstall, a member of the state committee and an active Republican worker; Miss Margaret McGill, Middlesex County chairman of the Woman's Republican Club of Massachusetts whose efforts resulted in the founding of the Republican Club of Newton and ex-Mayor Charles E. Hatfield.

In the absence of President Clarence Day of Waban the meeting was under the direction of Alderman Donald M. Hill, vice-president from Ward two.

HAROLD YOUNG ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY

Harold F. Young of 139 Rowe St., Auburndale, was a candidate for the Republican nomination as Representative from the 5th Middlesex District. He has been a resident of Newton for 35 years. In 1909 he was secretary to Mayor Hutchinson and in 1910 secretary to Mayor Hatfield. From 1911 to 1919 he served as Assistant City Clerk and in 1919 became a member of Board of Health. From 1929 to 1932 he was a member of the Board of Aldermen. He has been a Registrar of Voters since 1924 and he has been Executive Secretary of the Mayor's Relief Committee since its organization. Mr. Young and his supporters contend that Auburndale has not had a Representative in the Legislature for 20 years while Wards 5 and 6 each have had representation for a number of years past.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

OUR LADY HIGH PLACES FOUR ON ALL-LEAGUE TEAM

The announcement of the selection of the annual all-Catholic high school league team picked by a consensus vote of the coaches of the nine teams in the circuit is of considerable interest to local baseball fans. Our Lady High, champion of the league for the past two seasons, places four of its stars on the team. The selections were announced by Rev. Fr. Russell Haley of Our Lady's, chairman of the league during the absence of Fr. O'Kane of St. Mary's High of Brookline.

Eleven players were chosen with an extra pitcher and a tie vote for the second base berth, making the two more than enough to fill the regular nine positions. Jimmy Murphy and Jimmy Moran, who twirled the Newton team to its second successive championship, were the pitching choices. Murphy received five of eight possible votes, the coaches of each team refraining from naming their own players, and Moran one less. Other pitchers who figured in the voting were Vahey of St. John's three votes, and Dennis of St. Charles. Halley of Moseley of Immaculate Conception, two votes each.

Len Cummings, Our Lady high catcher, won the receiving berth with four votes leading Powers of St. Clement's who received two votes. The remaining votes were divided one each among Boudreau of St. Charles, Tibbetts of St. John's and McManus of Cathedral High.

The fourth Our Lady High representative on the All-league team is Charlie Gallagher at third base. Gallagher, an outstanding athlete, was the runner-up for the player receiving the most votes. This honor was captured by first baseman Frank Jellison of St. John's with seven out of eight while Gallagher was a notch behind with six.

Other Our Lady High players who figured in the consensus poll were outfielders Bill O'Connell and Steve McLean. O'Connell was chosen by Coaches John McCarthy of Cathedral and Tim Collins of Immaculate Conception High while McLean drew a vote from Coach Vic Stout of St. Charles High. Jimmy Moran also received a vote for a berth in the outfield from Coach Foley of St. John's.

The complete line-up of the all-team follows: Murphy and Moran, Our Lady, pitchers; Cummings, Our Lady, catcher; Jellison, St. John's, first base; Herb Morris, Cathedral, and Francis Shiels, Mission, second base; Everett Gallant, St. Charles, shortstop; Gallagher, Our Lady, third base; James Murphy, St. Mary's, Brookline; James Geoghegan, St. Mary's, Waltham; and Francis Daley, Cathedral, outfielders.

In repeating its drive in retaining the league championship, Our Lady High won 13 and lost three games while the runners-up, Immaculate Conception High of Revere, trailed with eleven victories and five defeats. The Revere team led the greater part of the season until the Newton team forced ahead in the last two weeks of the season. The close of the season also closed a great athletic year for Our Lady High as the basketball team annexed the league title with a clean slate of fourteen victories.

Next year Our Lady High will be without the services of its pair of star pitchers as both have graduated. Murphy, who was an all-team selection in 1930 but was nosed out in 1931 by the brilliant Bob Duffy of St. Charles, is regarded as having a great future in baseball if he continues his efforts in the sport. Despite the loss of the two twirlers the other two all-choices, Gallagher and Cummings will be on deck ready for the fray along with the hard hitting O'Connell and other members of the 1932 squad.

SPORT NOTES

Warren Given Tribute

Although forced to sit on the bench throughout the season Captain Edgar Warren, former Newton high athlete, has been a leader all the way for the Yale baseball nine this season. Last summer Warren was nosed out in a motorboat accident a few weeks after being named to lead the 1932 Yale nine and a few weeks after he had personally been a prominent figure in helping Eli to down Harvard in the third game of the series. On Tuesday prior to the opening game of this season's series with Harvard at New Haven the umpires, Warren and Captain Lupien of Harvard conferred near home plate. As the Yale leader returned to the bench he was given a standing cheer by the massed thousands in the stand that he will probably never forget. The day before he had been given official credit for his example of manly fortitude and courage by Yale's president. Warren has not missed a practice session of the Yale nine this season, being in uniform and learning to catch the ball in his gloved right hand, toss the ball and when it was in the air discard his glove which had no wrist strap. Catching the ball with his bare hand he would throw. He has even learned to bat, swinging a bat several ounces lighter than the ordinary one in use and got into one of the minor games of the season. It is possible that he may get into tomorrow's final game with Harvard but only as a runner.

Get Tilton Letters

Jim Colligan and Malcolm Whitney, both of Newtonville, were among the track athletes at Tilton School, Tilton, N. H., who were awarded letters in this sport. Whitney, the son of Clifford B. Whitney of Allmarle road, was also recently elected to Cum Laude Society in recognition of his high scholastic standing. He will graduate on Monday and will enter Bowdoin College in the fall.

PIERCE SCHOOL
WINS BASEBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

The Pierce School of West Newton won the Grammar School baseball championship of the city for the second successive year by defeating the Stearns School in the final game of the play-off on Tuesday of this week, 6 to 3. The games are played under the supervision of the playground department with the city being divided into three groups. Group A comprises the Bigelow, Mason, Hyde and Emerson schools; Group B the Cabot, Clafin, Horace Mann and Stearns schools, and Group C the Pierce, Burr, Williams and Angier schools. Each team plays two games with each other member of its group and a group champion decided. Champions of two groups then meet to decide which shall meet the third group champion in the final play-off.

In the semi-final play-off the Pierce school defeated the Mason School, 6 to 1, to earn the right to play the Stearns school which had drawn the bye in the championship series.

The Pierce school team, which is coached by Mr. E. E. Ellsworth, Principal of the Pierce School district, has made an enviable record the past two years stretching its string of victories to fifteen straight with no defeats. The season's record of the Pierce School team follows:

Pierce 18—Burr 5.
Pierce 34—Williams 3.
Pierce 16—Angier 3.
Pierce 28—Burr 6.
Pierce 20—Williams 1.
Pierce 10—Angier 6.
Pierce 6—Mason 1.
Pierce 4—Stearns 3.

SUBURBAN LEAGUE
NOT TO DISBAND

At a meeting at Brookline High School yesterday afternoon officers of the Suburban Interscholastic League voted to continue the circuit with but four members after January first next. A few weeks ago Somerville High, desiring to schedule games with opponents drawing a higher gate than some of the present members of the league decided to withdraw from the league at the end of the coming football season. The action by Somerville follows similar action in more or less recent years by Everett, Medford and Malden.

At the Brookline meeting Dr. Oscar Martin of Newton High, president of the league; Garrett Foley of Cambridge High and L. Henry Lynch of Rindge Technical School and Thomas J. Hines of Brookline were the delegates from the various schools. The following statement was issued: "It was voted by representatives of Newton, Brookline, Rindge and Cambridge Latin that the remaining members of the Suburban league recognize athletics as an integral part of education and are not interested in gate receipts. The remaining members will therefore continue to play in the Suburban league and in some future date some school this side of Boston may join."

The phrase "this side of Boston" seems to eliminate Revere High, frequently mentioned as a replacement for one of the withdrawn schools, as a new league member.

SPORT NOTES

Rice Regains Title

Lawrence B. Rice of Newton Centre, three times tennis singles champion of Massachusetts, regained his title Sunday afternoon defeating G. Holmes Perkins in the final round of the tourney at Longwood in a four-set match, 10-8, 7-5, 1-6, 6-4. The uncanon accuracy and smashing power of Rice's shot offset the superior court-covering of Perkins, the 1931 champion who lifted the crown from Rice in a close struggle a year ago. Rice was unbeatable in the first two sets but was pushed to extra games. In the third set the champion suffered a letdown while Perkins maintained his pace. In the final set Rice drove his way to a 6-4 victory. In the semi-final matches on Saturday the Newton Centre player eliminated Frank Broida, youthful Harvard southpaw, whose sensational play had been a feature of the tournament. In the quarter-finals Broida defeated Alfred Turner of Waban in straight sets, 6-4, 6-3. In this same round Rice put out Herbert B. Shaw, 6-2, 6-2.

All-Boston Team Wins

Last night at Dilboy Field, Somerville, the All-Boston team of 1932 defeated the all-Suburban 1932 nine, 4 to 1. The Hub outfit tallied twice in the first while Chapman of Rindge was on the mound and twice in the final inning, the seventh, against Danny Lynch of Somerville. The Suburban run was scored in the fourth when with Crawley of Cambridge on second Warren Huston of Newton singled to bring him home. Willie Mullen of Newton played part of the game in left field making one hit in twice at bat.

Suburban Team Wins

The All-Suburban school baseball team romped off with a 9-4 victory over an All-Mystic Valley league nine last Thursday evening at Victory Field, Watertown. Bill Chapman of Rindge Tech was on the mound for the winners and was in fine form. Tommy Lyons, catcher, Warren Huston, shortstop, and Billie Mullen, centerfielder, were the Newton players who took part in the game. Mullen singled in the second inning to drive two of the Suburban team's runs across and gave them a 3 to 2 edge after the Mystics had taken a two-run lead in the first frame due in part to Mullen's error on a throw to second by Chapman, the ball going into centerfield where the Newton outfielder lost it.

JUNIOR HIGH
TRACK MEETS

The four Junior High Schools of Newton staged a set of three track meets at the Newton High School track on Tuesday that uncovered several youthful competitors who show promise of developing their ability to the point where they will maintain the high standard set by Newton High track teams in the coming years. In order that age, strength and ability might compete on a fair basis a separate meet for each of the three grades, seventh, eighth and ninth, was held.

The Bigelow Junior High captured the seventh grade affair with 15 points, nosing out the Levi Warren and John W. Weeks schools by a single point. The two latter schools tied for second place with fourteen points each. Sullivan and Campbell clinched the meet for the Bigelow outfit taking first and second in the standing broad jump. The F. A. Day school failed to score, just missing out in several of the events.

In the eighth grade affair the Levi Warren school walked away from the other three schools scoring 20 1-3 points to 9 1-3 for Bigelow, 8 for the Weeks school and 5 1-3 for the Day school.

The ninth grade meet was a close affair between the Weeks and Warren schools with the former winning out by capturing the relay race, the closing event of the afternoon. The Newton Centre team tallied 22 1-2 points against the 19 tallied by the West Newton school. The F. A. Day school scored 1 1-2 points while the Bigelow school, having no ninth grade was not entered in this meet. Next year, when there will be a ninth grade in all the junior high schools it is planned to run the events for each grade separately and to have the total score of each meet count towards the school championship.

The best race of the day was the ninth grade 400-yard relay with each runner covering 100 yards of the course. Throughout the race the runners were blanketed within three yards of each other with the Weeks school winning to nose out the Warren school for the meet honors.

The summaries of the meets:

Seventh Grade

60-yard dash—First, Flemming (B); second, Marrazzo (Wa); third, Muther (We); Time, 7 3-5.

Standing broad jump—First, Sullivan (B); second, Campbell (B); third, Rustin (We); distance, 8' 1 1/2".

Running broad jump—First, Murry (Wa); second, Callahan (Wa); third, Bishop (We); distance, 15' 1 1/2".

High jump—First—Muther (We); second, Townsend (Wa); third, Regan (B); height, 4' 8".

240-yard relay—First, Weeks; second, Bigelow; time, 31 2-5.

Eighth Grade

Y. M. C. A.

Tennis Team

The Y. M. C. A. Tennis Team defeated the West Newton Neighborhood Club Team in a return match at the "Y" Saturday afternoon 4 to 1. The "Y" team won all three of the singles matches and one of the doubles.

The feature match of the afternoon was between Gordon Kitchin of the Y. M. C. A. playing Number 1, and Carl Pickard of the Neighborhood Club which was won by Kitchin 6-2, 5-7, 6-3. In the other singles matches L. Chase Kepner of the "Y" defeated B. C. Bowen 6-2, 6-1; and Roland Coombs also of the "Y" won from D. Needham 9-7, 6-4.

In the doubles matches, one match being won by each Club. Kitchin and Coombs of the "Y" defeated C. and F. Pickard 6-2, 3-6, 6-2; and Bowen and Needham of the Neighborhood Club won from L. Chase Kepner and Kenneth W. Gerritson 6-3, 7-5.

Junior Baseball

The Y. M. C. A. Junior Baseball Team finished on top by winning a 4-2 game from the Macadoo Club of Cambridge on Monday evening in a twilight game at the Y. M. C. A. field. "Jim" Doherty, pitching for the Juniors, allowed only four scattered hits, Lansed led the batting with three hits one of which was a terrific drive over the center field fence for a home run, and Colantuono, Doherty, Bagley, and Bass accounted for the total Newton hits.

The Junior Ball Team will meet the strong Lowell "Y" Juniors at Lowell next Saturday.

...Well, Bill, these are sure good greens here at the Stow Golf Course."

...Oh, yeah, the greens are all right, but what I like best is the dining room service, so good and so reasonable."

...And then Mary and Horace are playing tennis at the same time we are playing golf—only 15c per person."

...And it's such a lovely ride up through the country. Just think, board, room and golf all for $4 per day."

HERE COMES THE Bride

REGAL white satin and tulle, and trains and round-eyed little pages... a pretty bill for Papa! But sure as June comes round, girls will get married. So let's wish them loads of happiness and joy, and send along nice, useful wedding gifts this year!

Egg Coddlers—These come in perfectly sweet colors and coddle eggs to perfection, without a thought on your part.

Electric Clocks—Neat, tidy white, or colorful ones for the kitchen with plain, open faces... or more elaborate ones for the living room, mantle, or corner in the hall.

Electric Beater—This puts spoons, beaters, graters, chopping bowls—things like this, right on the shelf. And the hours of tiresome stirring and beating it saves one!

Vacuum Cleaners—There are cute little hand cleaners that whisk away dust and dirt from draperies and upholstery in no time... and full-sized ones that do a day's heavier cleaning for you in a short half-hour.

And papas and mamas and rich uncles... please take notice. Electric refrigerators, ranges, washing and ironing machines are handsome gifts.

These are just a start! We've got dozens more of the nicest sort of gifts to show you, if you'll stop in some time when you're in this vicinity. And so have the other nearby electrical people. —if their shops are more convenient.

Police News

Cecil Quillan of Brighton was fined $5 in the Newton court on Saturday for using profanity. Special Officer Mullen was the complainant. Mullen was driving along Commonwealth avenue near Lake street earlier that morning when he observed the driver of a milk wagon hurl two bottles at a boy who had been annoying him. The bottles broke on the street and Mullen accosted the driver who threw them. Quillan, who has a taxi stand nearby, defended the milkman's action and used strong language in doing so. Robert James of Brighton, who threw the bottles, was fined $5.

Isadore Zarakov of Brookline, former Harvard football player, was fined $10 in the Newton court last Friday for speeding. Others fined $10 each for speeding were Hope Poor, 100 Valentine street, West Newton; Philip Cendella, Jr., Milford; George Nichols, Worcester; Elizabeth Kennedy, Brookline; Isadore Cohen, Dorchester. A similar charge against Frank Fellows, Jr., of 240 Harvard street, Newtonville, was placed on file.

Wilbur Borchon, 22 of Great Plain avenue, Needham, was sentenced to two months in Middlesex County jail by Judge Bacon in the Newton court on Monday. Borchon was charged with assaulting his wife, Marjorie Borchon, who is living apart from him at Walnut street, Newtonville, on June 11, when she refused to take their baby, which his mother had been caring for. Judge Bacon offered to impose a suspended sentence on Borchon, but the young man refused to accept it. The sentence was then imposed and an appeal taken.

In the Newton court on Wednesday Francis T. Rogers of Newton was fined $20 for speeding and $5 for not stopping before entering a through way. He was found not guilty of reckless driving. Rogers was caught by Patrolmen C. Jenkins and Foley after a chase at Auburndale.

Among the many Newtonians who attended the Sharkey-Schneeling fight at New York were Chief Hughes and Special Officer Frank Feeley.

Patrolman McDonough on Tuesday recovered an automobile on Peabody street, Newton, which had been stolen at Springfield on June 17.

John Litchfield of Malden was fined $100 in the Newton court yesterday for driving a car while under the influence of liquor.

BUSWELL—SWEATT

An exceedingly pretty Garden wedding took place on Saturday afternoon, June 18, when Miss Dorothy Ethel Sweatt, daughter of Mrs. Horace William Sweatt of Carver road, Newton Highlands, became the bride of Mr. John Waryton Buswell, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Buswell of West Newton. Reverend William E. Austill was the officiating clergyman and the bride was given in marriage by her uncle Mr. William A. Sweatt. A reception followed the wedding ceremony. Miss Anne Gray of Hopkinton, Mass., served as the bride's only attendant and Mr. Henry J. Griffin of Dorchester, was the best man. The ushers were Mr. Paul Corcoran of New Rochelle, New York, and Mr. William Minner of Palisade Park, New Jersey. The bride was becomingly gowned in white lace with a fan train and her tulle veil was hung from a cap decorated with Orange blossoms. The bridal bouquet was made of orchids and lilies-of-the-valley. The maid of honor was prettily gowned in yellow chiffon with a tulle hat trimmed with yellow flowers and she carried a sheath of snapdragons. The bride was graduated from the Boston University in the class of 1932 and Mr. Buswell graduated from the same school in the class of 1930. Mr. and Mrs. Buswell will make their home in West Brighton, Staten Island, New York, after their return from their wedding trip to New York, Atlantic City and Ohio. Their engagement was announced on April 11, 1931.

JONES—WARREN

Miss Eleanor Warren of West Newton wore her mother's wedding gown of Princess lace with cap of lace and tulle veil, and carried a bridal bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley, when she became the bride of Mr. Vincent Starbuck Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Vincent Jones of Utica, New York, on Saturday afternoon, June 18, in the Church of the New Jerusalem, in Newtonville. Reverend William Worcester performed the ceremony before the altar which was banked with cape-jasmine sent from Texas and evergreens. The bride was given in marriage by Mr. Walter Burgess, Jr., Mrs. Warburton Gouverneur Iselin of Brookline, served as matron of honor and was gowned in Nile green chiffon with a silk net hat trimmed with green violets and carried a bouquet of Hill roses. Mr. Frederick John Warren of West Newton, was best man. The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Burgess, Jr., of West Newton, was graduated from Miss May's School in the class of 1928. Mr. Jones was graduated from Hamilton College in the class of 1928 and attended Harvard Graduate School of Arts and Sciences. Mr. and Mrs. Jones will spend three weeks at Cape Cod before going to their home, "Bryn Robin," Utica, New York.

STONE—KIMBALL

Simplicity marked the wedding of Miss Nancy Page Kimball, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sawyer Kimball of 31 Pilgrim road, Waban and Stuart Randolph Stone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence N. Stone of 222 Prince street, West Newton.

The ceremony was performed at noon on Saturday, June 18, at the Union Church in Waban by the minister, Rev. Joseph C. MacDonald. There were no attendants and the bride was presented for marriage by her father. Miss Mildred A. Spargo gave a short program of organ music before the ceremony. A reception followed at which the guests were limited to members of the immediate families.

The bride's gown was of white chalky crepe with Paisley trimmings. She wore an Agnes turban of white crepe and a corsage of gardenias and maiden-hair fern. Both the bride and groom are life long residents of the Newtons and were classmates at the Newton High School.

The bride later graduated from Abbot Academy and from the Nursing Training School of Boston. She is the director of the Waban Neighborhood Nursing School. Mr. Stone graduated in 1930 from Bowdoin College where he was a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon and prominent in class and athletic affairs.

On their return from a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Stone will live at 24 Pilgrim road, Waban.

MARCY—ARBuckle

The Second Baptist Church, Upper Falls, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Sunday evening at eight o'clock when Miss Mary Wylie Arbuckle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Arbuckle of 15 Pennsylvania avenue, Upper Falls, and Mr. George Lewis Marcy, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Marcy of Chestnut St., Upper Falls, were united in marriage by Rev. Perry O. Sanders, pastor of the church using the double ring service.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Grace Allard accompanied by the piano by Mrs. Charles A. Doyle, both of whom are aunts of the bride, rendered "O Promise Me." The bride was gowned in white satin with a tulle veil and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and sweet peas. She was given in marriage by her father.

Miss Sarah B. Arbuckle, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and wore a gown of peach color chiffon and carried a bouquet of Tallahassee roses.

The groom was attended by the ushers, Mr. Gilbert Marcy and the brothers were Forest Marcy and Richard Marcy also brothers of the groom. The altar was prettily decorated with June roses and flowers.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 15 Pennsylvania avenue, following the service.

The bridal party were assisted in receiving by the parents of the bride and groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Marcy are enjoying a motor trip to Niagara Falls and upon their return will reside on Ellis St., Upper Falls.

Start the Day Right!

Real Cream
For Your Coffee

In the majority of homes in the land, "top of the bottle" of the morning's milk is used for the breakfast coffee. And it has always left something lacking because the "top of the bottle" has heretofore always contained so much milk.

To bring out the rich deliciousness of well made coffee rich cream is necessary.

And now it's yours at no greater cost than what you have been paying for your milk. Cream Top Bottles do the separating of the cream from the milk for you. The process is so simple and so easy. Real Cream at no extra cost.

Phone Middlesex 3318. We'll start delivering your milk in Cream Top Bottles tomorrow morning. It costs no more.

The appointment of Representative Dallinger as a Customs Judge removes the otherwise imminent contest with Rep. Luce as Congressman from the new district which each would represent. The choice of Mr. Dallinger for his new position is an excellent one although we regret that Massachusetts loses one of its most able representatives.

Newton now has its first heavyweight champion.

School closes today. "Them were the happy days."

NORUMBEGA DISTRICT COUNCIL

The Home Co-operation committee of the District Council met at the home of its chairman, Mrs. J. Mace Andrews, last Monday evening, to discuss ways in which this group may assist the "Home Study Standard" in the District, as well as encourage other methods for co-operation between the home and the church school.

Plans were made for a survey of the situation in the churches of the District in regard to this matter of co-operation between parents and church school workers. Such a survey, taken in the fall, will be a means of encouraging many forms of home co-operation as Every Home Visitation Days in the church school for parents, adult classes to deal with problems of the home, etc.

Other members of the above committee, in addition to Mrs. Andrews are Mrs. Wm. A. McCormick, Mrs. Kirtley F. Mather, Mrs. H. W. Gibson and Miss Lullona Barker.

MRS. ALICE R. KNOX

Mrs. Alice R. Knox of 29 North St., Newtonville, wife of George Knox, died June 22 after a long illness. She was born at Vinalhaven, Maine, and resided at Middleboro before moving to Newtonville a year ago. She was a past matron of Hannah Shaw Chapter of the Eastern Star at Middleboro. Her funeral service will be held this afternoon at 2 at Waterman Chapel, Boston.

JOHN F. MURPHY

John F. Murphy of 27 Ash street, Auburndale died on June 17. He was born in Boston 50 years ago and had been a resident of this city for 10 years. His funeral service was held Monday at Corpus Christi Church and burial was in Calvary Cemetery. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Josephine Hanley Murphy, and two sons, Paul and Henry Murphy.

VALENTINE WAYLAND

Valentine Wayland, a former resident of Newtonville, died on June 20 in his 86th year. He was a veteran of the Civil war and had been prominent in G. A. R. circles. His funeral service was held Wednesday afternoon at the Rich Pines Parlor, Newton; Rev. Raymond Lang officiated. Burial was in Newton Cemetery. He is survived by a son, Frederick Wayland, of West Newton.

MRS. SARAH E. M. KELLOGG

Mrs. Sarah E. M. Kellogg of the Croysden, Centre street, Newton, died on June 22 in her 87th year. She was a native of Shrewsbury and had resided in Newton for over 30 years. Her funeral service will be held this afternoon at 2.30 in the chapel of Eliot Church. Rev. Ray Eusden will officiate. Burial will be in Newton Cemetery.

MRS. SARAH L. KEEFE

Mrs. Sarah Brown Keefe, wife of Timothy F. Keefe of 266 Newtonville avenue died on June 16 at the Newton Hospital. She was born in Charlestown and resided in this city for over 30 years. About Town

By Edw. H. Powers

Some of the unemployed men in this city might well be put to work cutting and mowing the long grass and weeds on the reservation along the centre of Commonwealth avenue. It does not reflect credit on a city of Newton's size and wealth to have its main avenue present such an unkempt appearance. When the street railway company used this reservation for its car tracks, it was supposed to keep the grass mowed. Some years ago it did. With the erection of the beautiful City Hall and War Memorial on the avenue, and the lavishly landscaped grounds around them, the good impression this civic center will make on persons traveling through the city, will be largely offset by the appearance of the avenue.

And in addition to keeping the grass on the avenue reservation cut, it is the duty of this city to keep the grass along its street borders cut. Twenty and less years ago employees of the Street Department were assigned to this task. But, in later years this work was abandoned by the city, and the grass between sidewalks and roadways was either cut by owners of adjoining properties, or allowed to grow rank. If residents of Newton allowed the grass and weeds to grow on their estates as the City of Newton does along its streets what a helluva looking city this would be.

The annual period of torture caused by the noise of firecrackers and cap pistols started a few days prior to June 17th and will continue until after July 4th. Chief Randlett of the Newton Fire Department several years ago limited the sale of fireworks in this city to 3 days preceding July 4th and thus prevented to a great degree the wear on persons' nerves resulting from the discharge of fireworks by small boys. But, in adjoining places such as Brighton and Woburn the sale of fireworks is permitted for a longer period and many youngsters obtain their ammunition at stores located near the Newton line. A State statute limiting the sale of fireworks to a few days preceding the "Glorious Fourth" would be welcomed by the great majority of persons, even though it might reduce somewhat the profits from comparative few who sell fireworks. And if parents of children who set off firecrackers or caps on days preceding July 4th had proper consideration for sick persons or invalids in their neighborhood they would prevent their youngsters from adding to the misery of such unfortunate. Incidentally, a person, young or old, who displays fireworks in Newton on any day other than July 4th, without a special permit, is violating the law and can be prosecuted.

It is reported that Washington street from Newton Corner to Adams street will have three lanes opened to traffic by Sunday. It is even hoped that these lanes will be opened as far as Crafts street thus permitting smooth traveling for traffic from Newton Corner west, and vice versa. If this progress can be achieved, it will bring pleasant relief to motorists who have been either risking their automobiles by driving along the southerly side of Washington street the past several weeks, or making long detours. And it certainly will be appreciated by the operators of the Mid-dexx & Boston Transfer, The contract company doing the work expects to have a steam shovel start excavating the south half of the street on Tuesday from Bacon street westerly.

the sand from blowing across the street, and the planting of shrubs and grass on the Washington street side of the gravel pit property.

Alderman John Temperley continued his opposition to the sale of 7400 square feet of land owned by the city at Needham to F. H. Page for $50. Mr. Temperley is not opposed to this transaction, but he believes that this sale may transfer from the city to the purchaser about 40,000 more square feet of land formerly part of Greendale avenue, Needham. This street was discontinued when the new circumferential highway was recently constructed by the State, and the Ward 5 alderman holds that inasmuch as Page will acquire half the width of Greendale avenue, because it abutted the Page property, the City of Newton should likewise acquire the other half of the 1000 feet of the abandoned highway.

City Solicitor Bartlett informed Mr. Temperley that the State paid the city $100 for 74,750 square feet of that land for the new highway; and that the city had no right in Greendale avenue. Mr. Bartlett also said that if it can be subsequently proved that the city did have any title to the land formerly occupied by Greendale avenue, this land could not be included in the property acquired by Mr. Page. Temperley asked that this matter be again postponed until he became more convinced as to the status of the city's title to Greendale avenue, if any. His motion was denied and he voted against the sale of the land. All the other aldermen voted for the sale.

A lengthy argument took place when the Licenses Committee reported favorably on the petition of William Scully for a filling station at 48 Winchester street, Newton Highlands. Alderman Ball opposed this recommendation because the locus adjoins the Newton Highlands playground. Ball said the city has recently purchased land nearby in order to extend the playground; that it has been the intention of the city to acquire a complete of other adjoining parcels privately owned so that the playground will have the whole frontage along Winchester street contiguous to its present area, and it would be inconsistent to grant a station permit on the lot purchased by Scully a few years ago. He advocated trading land owned by the city across Winchester street, with a fair bonus to be paid by Scully. He opposed lining the

By L. D. G. Bentley

Some people do things on the Fourth of July they wouldn't do any other time, so maybe it's just as well it happens only once a year.

"In closing, would say—"

As I cover up my typewriter for July and August I think of the things I had planned to write for "One Thing and Another." Some of these I shall get around to when we meet again. Others will have been forgotten unless now attended to. For this latter reason I want to ask where or how allowance is made by traffic signal engineers for the pedestrian. Am I wrong, or what is the situation that seems to compel the pedestrian to run as if he were going to a fire when the lights show red and yellow.

Somebody told me that they allow you 14 seconds to cross some of the wider village squares in Newton. Experience and observation combined show that this is not sufficient except for those able to do a hotfoot. Whose idea was it that everybody could and should do a sprint? Secondly, why not let the automobiles have two turns each way to the pedestrians' one and give the latter every fifth turn but make it twice as long, or 28 seconds? Better give the pedestrians fewer chances to cross and more time to do it in. They'll feel more comfortable and live longer.

Then too, I hope that when I have the honor of addressing this audience again that nobody will have cause to complain of hard times; that all who want work will have obtained it; that Washington street will be perfectly resurfaced from Newton to West Newton; that your favorite candidate will be certain of election (unless you're running for office yourself in which case I wish you luck); that prices won't have gone any higher but everybody will be making money; that nobody will have been injured by bicyclists who ride on the sidewalk except a few cyclists themselves and that you all will have had a tip-top vacation.

Helping "Busted" Cities

If you can tell me what will be the attitude of the larger banks a couple of months from now towards certain Massachusetts cities finding themselves in financial difficulties I can give you some idea whether there will be a special session of the Legislature. If the General Court is called in again it will be to devise some method of adjusting the affairs of municipalities which, in plain speech, have "gone broke."

Criticism of the government of such cities—fortunately for us Newton is not among them—is useless except that it may serve as a lesson to Mayors and Aldermen and Selectmen. The money has been spent and that's that. Demands of administering public welfare relief have caused the problem playground with business enterprises.

Alderman Hawkins said the Licenses Committee had gone into this matter thoroughly, and the matter had been before the Board for a couple of years. He said the Assessors and the Mayor are opposed to selling the city-owned land because it is one of the City Solicitor had gone into this matter carefully and the future property of the city to acquire the Scully property at a reasonable price have been provided for, even though the station permit be granted. Alderman Holden agreed with Hawkins and Temperley. The matter was referred back to the committee at Ball's request.

Appropriations made by the Board included: $495 for pension for Martin Considine, retired city employee; $3010 for drain in Montrose street; $3713 for construction of Ashton avenue; $1260 for sewer in Hunnewell avenue from Elmhurst road to Boston line; $700 for expenses of Mayor's Relief Committee; $5000 for Soldiers' Relief.

Alderman Ball took the floor to explain that he had been misinformed when he stated at the preceding meeting of the Aldermen that in the future the Board would have the authority to grant permits for temporary structures to be used in connection with the operation of gravel pits in residential zones. He had learned that such is not the case. He moved therefore, the Claims and Rules Committee be authorized to bring in an amendment to Section 563 of the City Ordinances so that the Aldermen will be vested with this power. This change will take away from the Buildings Commissioner the right to grant such permits and will prevent further disfigurement of the city by unsightly sand and gravel pits. Building Commissioner Hagemann favors the change.

Alderman Gallagher was disturbed over publicity given in newspapers to the alleged fact that furniture in the aldermanic chamber in the new city hall will be of teakwood. He said the real fact is that the floor of the chamber will be of teakwood; this ordinarily costly lumber was purchased at a great bargain and will not be any more costly than the wood originally specified. The furniture will be of less expensive wood.

FIRE IN OAK HILL HOUSE

The residence of Frederic Frech at 31 Nahant street, Oak Hill was damaged to the extent of $1000 last Friday afternoon when a fire which started in the cellar worked up to the first floor of the house. The fire was started by a kerosene burner attached to a hot water heater in the cellar of the building.

to become acute. Of course, if times pick up and the banks believe it safe to lend money we will find a solution without worrying the Legislature again.

A conservative legislator has said he would hesitate to support a plan for giving cities more money to spend, contending that they may lose their heads and become reckless again. That seems a pessimistic view and is open to debate. There must be funds for public welfare and either the State or some agency must produce them.

The sudden demand for money to support families has placed an unusually heavy burden on cities. The days of prosperity made public welfare a minor branch of municipal government. But a change of conditions, wrought over night, placed public welfare relief in the forefront and it became a major consideration. I suppose it must have been a surprise all around, especially to the officials who handle these funds. From an ordinary task, which a comparatively small office force could perform, it became an almost overwhelming undertaking. The total jumped by thousands and thousands in a few weeks. With a long list of applicants the job of seeing that the money was allowed only to those legally entitled to it became more than a matter of office routine.

A great deal of criticism was heard in the beginning. Complaints were made that people who applied for relief were treated discourteously and made to suffer humiliation. Without passing on these charges I can readily understand how a minor city department would, when deluged with business, go haywire completely and bungle matters badly for a time at least.

The whole problem is still very much in the air. Cities with financial troubles and those without them must have funds for public welfare relief. The properly managed city doesn't have to come to the Legislature. The poorly run municipality must get down on its knees to the General Court. The question is whether the latter or the Legislature will undertake the job of lifting these cities to their feet.

It Happened in Newton

This one will be accompanied (on request) by a sworn affidavit signed by yours truly. From time to time you've heard and read of "dunking"—the process by which a piece of toast, a cracker, a doughnut or whatnot is submerged in a cup of coffee and brought out, soft and appetizing and immediately eaten. It's a Southern idea or was originally, according to report. But they "dunk" everywhere, even as you and I, and although it isn't on the list of good table manners it goes big just the same.

A kindly Newton resident is the owner of a canary bird which she likes to hear sing and which is in every way a desirable pet. Few canaries have tricks apart from their vocal powers but this one not only indulges in trills, etc. but is so clever that he can "dunk."

O yes, I saw him do it. Three times in succession. His owner was probably afraid he would over indulge so she restrained him after the third "dunking". There is quite a little to the ceremony. The mistress first produces a cracker. The watchful bird knows what to expect and is on the alert. The cracker is broken into small pieces and these are put into the tiny dish that rests inside the cage.

Mr. Canary waits until the dish is in its proper place and then selects a piece of cracker. Holding it in his bill he hops across the cage to a dish of water and there deposits the cracker. When satisfied that the cracker has been sufficiently "dunked" he takes it in his bill again, sits back and devours it. Nobody has taught this bird. Either he caught on from watching the family or thought it up himself. At any rate he is a first class "dunker".

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

Edited by EDMA D. COOLIDGE

GENERAL FEDERATION

BIENNIAL AT SEATTLE, WASHINGTON. GRACE MORRISON POOLE IS PRESIDENT OF THE GENERAL FEDERATION OF WOMEN'S CLUBS. Massachusetts is honored in that one of their club leaders, whom clubwomen have long recognized for her ability and power, has attained nationwide recognition and brought to this State the glory of leadership of the nation's affiliated organization of women's clubs.

As this is being written the famous "Poole Special" is speeding from the far west, bringing home in triumph the Massachusetts delegates and clubwomen, happy in that they went as attendants of the "unopposed candidate for the presidency," who now bears the palm of victory voted to her on Thursday last, June 16th. For twenty-five years Mrs. Poole has served in the women's clubs, steadily climbing from office to office, her judgment supplemented by experience, until today she stands worldwidely known as assured speaker, lecturer, and leader. To pay her homage and wish her well is our heartfelt desire and privilege! What she has attained she deserves. Whatever heights she may reach she will honor and adequately inscribe. For, to all her characteristics of strength and wisdom and balanced thinking, she adds another, and one of the greatest boons to humanity, a delightful sense of humor and a lovable wit.

The thrill of homage which must be aboard that famous Poole Special may be imagined; all must be feeling its spell. But to those of us who have remained at home, listening from afar, there is a simple item listed in the news that appeals most strongly with appropriate sentiment, as to this homage of Massachusetts women. Mrs. Poole's home town is Brockton. Here she has served in its Woman's Club in every capacity. And it was their president, Mrs. Charles S. Storey, who acted as her aid at the Convention! How she must have been satisfied in heart and soul to act for this city that can claim with such pride and joy as their very own, near and dear, the new president that now becomes known throughout the length and breadth of the land!

That honors mean work is always realized, but that work is the delight of this energetic new president is well known. It has no terrors for her. She thrives upon it. After a ten-day session in convention, ending Saturday, the 18th, Mrs. Poole met her new official family in Board Meeting on Sunday, the 19th, inaugurating the new regime which shall head up the two million and a half clubwomen of the United States for the next three years. That evening she left for "home" where she will be for a few days before reporting at General Federation Headquarters at Washington, D. C., which will be her new "home" for the coming three years.

Her first official appearance will be before the Washington Federation of Women's Clubs on June 23rd as the guest of honor. Her July schedule will include several engagements on the Atlantic coast. She will lead the Club Institute of the Chautauqua Woman's Clubs from July 4th to 7th and will make the Fourth of July address at the Institute. On July 15th she will speak for the University of Virginia School of Public Administration. She will speak for the Massachusetts State College on July 28th before sailing for several weeks in the West Indies.

Simple statements, possibly, but amply proving her adequacy to meet and fill every situation. And as indication of the mental equipment of the woman who, in that capitol city, will view at very close range the efforts of law-makers and politicians to serve, or escape serving, their countrymen, we may scan her parting message to the 1,000 delegates, and over 3,000 clubwomen in the Civic Auditorium at Seattle on Saturday, the 18th:

"Women must make a closer and more detailed study of government machinery than ever before. With the coming of suffrage a few years ago we asked for active participation of our womanhood in the political affairs of our land. Now we are asking that you not simply vote but that you look into the housekeeping of Uncle Sam and his children throughout the land. Certainly the woman who has been trained through her club experience is well fitted for this task. We are anxious that those who come after us shall build better than we have built, but we cannot hope that that will be true unless we give them the example of law-abiding Christian citizenship. "Our foremothers gave us that heritage. Shall we fail to keep the faith for those who come after us?"

Massachusetts may glory, also, in that Mrs. Poole won the presidency without question or demur. Indicating how she has made herself known and honored by her visits over the country and her speeches before clubs, as well as her addresses on world affairs. Clubwomen, it seems, need not have feared that rival candidates might be proposed at the last moment and from unsuspected sources. On the same ticket: Mrs. Eugene B. Lawson, Tulsa, Oklahoma, defeated Mrs. Henry C. Taylor, of Bloomfield, Iowa, for the first vice-presidency. Mrs. Sadie Orr Dunbar, of Portland, Oregon, was elected recording secretary, and Mrs. Edward Hammett of Sheboygan, Wisconsin, treasurer, both with no opponents.

At the first election, there was no election of second vice-president, neither of the two leading candidates receiving a majority of the votes cast. Mrs. Edward M. Land, of North Carolina, with 94 votes was eliminated from the contest, and a second election was held to choose between Dr. Josephine L. Peirce, of Lima, Ohio, who received 275 votes, and Mrs. Clarence Fraim, of Wilmington, Delaware, who had 205 votes. Dr. Peirce being elected.

Of prime importance were resolutions adopted by the Convention. The first was most significant, being voted on June 10th, the second day of the sessions, and overwhelmingly reaffirmed the stand of this organization taken consistently for sixteen years. Mrs. J. C. Pearson, of Marshall, Okla., chairman of Citizenship, presented the resolution, that as an emergency measure, telegrams be sent to the Republican and Democratic conventions, stating that "the General Federation has been on record for prohibition since 1916; that since the adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act, it has repeatedly affirmed support of law enforcement, and that it asks the political parties to recognize the position of organized clubwomen in writing their platforms."

Mrs. Pearson referred to the years which women worked to obtain the Eighteenth Amendment, and said that the wets should be willing to work equally as hard before expecting to get a referendum.

"If the time comes that the sentiment of the people is strongly in favor of a referendum," said Mrs. Pearson, "I, as an American, will be willing to yield to them. But until that time, we should not give in to wet arguments. We must fight."

The motion was seconded by Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole. There was no discussion, and the few scattering "noes," of which there were only thirteen, as compared with the overwhelming 582 ayes of delegates, were scarcely audible in the great auditorium.

Another resolution the two political parties also were asked for a strong plank on international relations. The plank as prepared by Mrs. Ben Hooper of Oshkosh, Wis., national chairman of International Relations, called for "sincere cooperation" in efforts to substitute peaceful methods for warfare once in dealing with disputes, recognition of the Kellogg pact and immediate adherence to the World Court.

Mrs. Hooper, in her discussion of her subject, urged the women to defeat in November elections those United States Senators who oppose American adherence to the Court. She declared it should be made as easy as to go to peace as to war, and that we should not allow a handful of Senators to hold up treaties which would make war impossible. She deplored "defense of national honor" as a cause for war, saying, "the fact is that no one can hurt the national honor of any country except that country itself. The fact that some one says disagreeable things about an individual does not change his honor. He is honorable or dishonorable according to the way he behaves. The same is true of a nation."

"Energetic activity looking toward the reestablishment of methods of law and order, crushing out the threat of racketeering and lawlessness," was the resolution introduced by an appeal by Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, past president. Her motion called for both national and local work on the part of the women.

The Convention approved a resolution introduced by Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, of Brockton, Mass., for a national highway beautification program. The resolution introduced by this candidate for national president of the organization, advocated a restriction of outdoor advertising to commercial and business districts. Mrs. Poole announced that the Federation will oppose legislation introduced by the Outdoor Advertising Association in every State legislature and urged that the women support the taxation of billboards. The Convention refused to endorse the movement for a Federal Commission to control the production, distribution and exhibition of motion pictures.

Miss Maud Aldrich, of Oregon and Washington, D. C., was responsible for the proposal, but the convention decisively defeated her motion and adopted a resolution introduced by Mrs. Ambrose N. Diehl, of Pittsburgh and New York City, national chairman of films, "to raise both the ethical and artistic standards of motion pictures."

Mrs. Diehl's resolution offered the following standards for motion picture production—"respect for religion and the home; treatment of crime in such a fashion as to discourage its imitation; accuracy in the portrayal of racial and national customs and cultures; and emphatic disapproval of the picturization of drinking as a common feature of American social life and of over-sexed themes and scenes as well as of pictures that may be subversive to our national ideals of home and government."

Speaking of motion pictures, in an address at one of the sessions, Mrs. Thomas G. Winter quoted statistics, received from a Hollywood theatre manager, showing that pictures by Marie Dressler had supplied in popular favor those built on sex or gangster themes. The triumph, as she termed it, was almost purely a matter of community co-operation.

The Convention further voted to undertake a campaign to put every American family on its own economic plan, to instruct individuals in intelligent buying, and to introduce into every home a system of financial training for children.

To this end it adopted a slogan: "Save spending, sharing, saving." Plans by which women will follow their taxation dollars into city, county, state and national government were submitted to the convention by Mrs. John C. Pearson of Marshall, Okla., national Citizenship chairman. The purpose is to seek information upon which to base a program for tax reduction based upon efficiency and elimination of waste and graft.

"Excess taxation has caused the downfall of many nations," said Mrs. Pearson. "And I believe that we can render no better service at this time to our country than to see that its machinery and its laws are administered economically and adequately."

A thrill for the stay-at-home clubwomen came on Tuesday afternoon, Flag Day, June 14th, when the retiring President, Mrs. John F. Sippel, gave her address over the radio at 3:45 p. m., and also Mrs. Poole's voice came to us, presiding as first vice-president during this hour.

Mrs. Sippel gave an inspiring report of accomplishments. She likened the General Federation to a steamship, saying, "A row boat moves only when the winds are favorable; but a steamship moves all the time."

On this program Mrs. Lawson reported on the search for the oldest mother in the United States, giving the amazing statement that there have been found twenty-one over the century mark, one being 109 years of age. The oldest Club Mother is Mrs. Mary Brock, 106, honorary life member of an Alabama woman's club.

Of special interest, naturally, to Massachusetts were any activities on the part of her delegates and clubwomen. Mrs. Samuel N. Brame, president of the Newton Federation, had charge of flowers at Massachusetts headquarters at the Olympic Hotel, and Mrs. John F. Capron, president of the Newton Centre Woman's Club, had charge of hostesses.

Miss Betty Burton, of Wellesley College and Framingham, the Massachusetts Junior delegate, gave a report on the 11th, summing up what a woman's club means to girls in college. She was appointed to write a history of the Junior activities at the convention.

Our own Mrs. Fred L. Pigeon, National Education chairman, and formerly of the State Federation, addressed the women in a splendid report, to protect the schools from curtailment on the ground of economy, urging that women's clubs rise in protest.

Massachusetts, too, came in for honor when the Art committee of the General Federation declared that the outstanding work of the year had been that of the Massachusetts women, whose chairman is Mrs. Roy C. Baker, of Clinton. The prize is a yawning tiger in bronze, the work of Anne Hyatt Huntington.

Lorraine Liggett of Boston, was awarded a set of book ends of Cowan pottery for her work in the Junior class.

In the nation-wide art contest for the best community art festival held this year in the United States, with more than 30 states and several hundred communities competing. The Constitution of the Federation was amended to provide for triennial conventions and election of officers. For next year's council meeting invitations were extended to the Federation from Hot Springs, Ark., Chicago, and Richmond, Va. There will not be a convention until 1935.

Scanning the official reports, and especially that of finance, no greater proof of ability of women to handle money can be given than that contained in the report of the treasurer. Of how many individuals or business establishments can it be said that during the past year there has not been the loss of a single dollar in capital or dividend? Yet the report of the treasurer, Mrs. Edward Hammett, of Wisconsin, shows that the Federation has done a $400,000 business this year without the loss of a single dollar in capital or dividend. The income for the year has been $77,409.78 and the assets are $512,000 including the Headquarters property in Washington and a Foundation Fund of $106,000.

DAUGHTERS OF UNION VETERANS

Mrs. A. E. Cunningham Tent Two
 The next regular meeting will be held on Tuesday, June 28th, at 7:30 p. m. promptly at which time the members of G. A. R. Post No. 62, the Sons of Union Veterans and Ex-Mayor Childs will be present, also the plans for new City Memorial Building will be there for inspection.

It is urged all members be present promptly at 7:30 o'clock. On Tuesday evening of this week, a very successful whist party was held at headquarters by members and friends of Tent Two, conducted by a committee of which Mrs. Grace Carey was chairman, assisted by Mrs. Alice Beckwith, Mrs. Alice K. Burns, Mrs. Lenore Kern, Mrs. Blanche McGowan, Mrs. Nellie Morrissey, Mrs. Elsa Malloy.

On Wednesday evening, Mrs. Corabelle G. Francis, president of Tent Two, and Mrs. May G. Kidder, treasurer, attended the reception held in honor of the Department President, Mrs. Louise C. Vincent, at Grove St. Hall, Fitchburg. The secretary of Tent Two, Miss Nellie M. Osborne, of Newton, Upper Falls, is enjoying a trip in the glorious West, where she attended the Biennial meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs held in Seattle last week. Mrs. Francis was in Portland, Maine, on Sunday last, to participate in the dedication of a beautiful park there to the memory of General Clarence R. Edwards.

W. C. T. U.

At the last regular meeting of the West Newton W. C. T. U., these officers were elected for the coming year. President, Mrs. M. Millie Beardsley; first vice president, Mrs. Sarah Jordan; 2nd vice president, Mrs. Christine Gath; 3rd vice president, Mrs. Ella Hall; publicity chairman, Mrs. Edith Kimball; secretary, Mrs. Hannah Blair; treasurer, Mrs. May L. Sweet; auditor, Mrs. Elizabeth Ashenden.

1932-THE 'STAY-AT-HOME' SUMMER

For the fortunate few, the house at the beach or the country will be opened again—the vacation will be as usual, or travel at reduced rates will be enjoyed—

BUT FOR MANY OF US—

Well, we must admit that prudence, and our pocket books will probably dictate

A STAY-AT-HOME SUMMER

One enjoyment we can indulge in, however, and we shall undoubtedly do it occasionally, and that is to gather the family into the automobile and take them out to dine, at places where the rates are attractive, the food delicious, and the atmosphere homelike.

May we invite you to come out to

in North Billerica, Mass.

It is such a homey place—a real old New England home—has been in the Manning Family over 230 years—and is in a perfect state of preservation. And the food? Well, they say it's the best tasting and best served anywhere around.

PIANO CLASS PRIZE GOES TO WEST NEWTON GIRL

The third prize in the annual piano class competition held at the High School this week went to Betty Harlow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Harlow of Central street, West Newton. The prize is a scholarship for next year at the All Newton Music School. The second prize in the competition went to Jean Landon of the Angier School of Newton Centre. Her prize was a part-time scholarship at the All Newton Music School.
The competition was based on piano lessons given at the close of school hours throughout the year for a nominal charge. The judges were Albion Metcalf, George C. Maxim and Gladys Pitcher. Elizabeth Travis Behnke, winner of the Mason and Hamlin prize at the New England Conservatory of Music, gave several selections for the 200 students present. The competition has been organized by the three years by Mr. Charles R. Spaulding of the Newton Schools in cooperation with the Mason and Hamlin and Chickering and Sons piano companies.

COSTS FRESH YOUTH $55 TO THROW FIRECRACKERS

Daniel P. Donovan, 21, of 25 Hunting street, Cambridge, was fined $55 in the Newton Court on Tuesday by Judge Bacon because he threw lighted firecrackers promiscuously at Newton Upper Falls on Monday night. Patrolman Carley told the judge that he had seen Donovan hurl a firecracker from a truck towards Nellie Hirschfeld of 24 Williams street as she was walking on High street, near Oak street. The firecracker exploded near the girl's face and unnered her. A moment later Donovan threw another firecracker at an automobile in which were several persons. Carley then arrested Donovan and found in his possession several firecrackers, including two nearly 5 inches long. Donovan was fined $50 on the charge of assaulting the Hirschfeld girl, and $5 for having in his possession firecrackers over 2 inches long.

CANARIES GO A. W. O. L.

Mrs. John Van Schaick of 94 Randall Park, West Newton is a kind hearted woman who pitted canaries when she saw the little songsters cooped in tiny cages in stores. She bought many of the little birds and had a large aviary constructed at her home where they had ample room to fly about. Monday the bird discoverer an opening in the wire of the aviary and 31 of them flew out into the open spaces. Twelve came back soon after to their home and then Mrs. Van Schaick appealed to the police for assistance in recovering her pets. As a result, 9 more of the canaries which had been captured by her in West Newton and Waltham were returned to their owner. Ten of the birds are still missing.

MUST PAY $2000 FOR NOT MARRYING

In the Newton court on Wednesday Judge Bacon awarded Mrs. Delia McKenzie of Jamaica Plain $2000 damages in her suit against Samuel Truesdale, 57, of 141 Grant avenue, Newton Centre. The middle aged widow, a former Newton Centre resident, sued for $50,000, alleging that Truesdale had courted her for 13 years and last year went back on his promise to marry her. She had previously sued Truesdale for $4000 alleged to be owed her for boarding him over a period of 8 years. On this suit she was to take an appeal from the decision.

POSTAL EMPLOYEES AID UNEMPLOYED

The Mayor's Relief Committee has received a check for $705.50 as the third contribution from Newton residents who are employees of the postal service in the Boston Postal District. They have been contributing a day's pay each month.

HOLD OUTING AT STOW

The Newton Men Teachers' Association held its annual spring field day last week Wednesday at the Stow Golf Course. Over fifty were present at an enjoyable dinner which was preceded by a baseball game. Mr. Russell V. Burkhard, principal of the F. A. Day Junior High School, was chairman of the committee in charge.

Girl Scouts

Camp Mary Day

Camp Mary Day will open its tenth season Monday, June 27, with a full registration of councillors and Girl Scouts.
This year the camp has been enlarged and the group of children will number 47. The councillors and staff bringing the total number up to 63.
A beautiful new dining-hall, with kitchen, pantry, etc., has been erected as a memorial to Miss Susan Miller. Miss Miller left a sum of money to the Newton Girl Scouts in her will when she died a few years ago, and the Council thought it fitting to use the money in putting up this very much needed building in memory of her. It is situated on the shore of the pond. The girls and councillors both will appreciate this addition to camp and it has not only added much to the beauty and convenience, but is making it possible to accommodate more girls during the summer.
Miss Caroline L. Freeman will be the Director of the Camp again this year. She has held this position ever since the Camp started ten years ago. Mrs. Henry Skelton, of Newton Highlands, will be her assistant. Miss Samantha Cressley will come back as camp nurse. The camp is very fortunate in having Mrs. Ralph C. Hall again this year in charge of swimming and nature. Miss Lisbeth Leighton, who has long been identified with Girl Scouting, will be head councillor for the three cabins on the ridge. Scout Ann Cummings of Troop 20 will be Camp Bugler. Other councillors will be: Miss Mary Stewart, Miss Elizabeth Henrich, Miss Betty Goodworth, Mrs. Marguerite Taylor, Miss Rose Lind Bigelow, Miss Louise Kimball, Miss Elinor Brown, and Miss Hope Coker.
Miss Viola Dillabough will return as dietitian for the third year, and Mrs. Dillabough will assist her.

PILGRIMAGE TO MEDWAY

Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter.

D. A. R.

June 17th, 1932, was the 170th wedding anniversary of that noble and efficient woman in honor and admiration of whom the Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter was organized and named by its founder Miss Annie Sanford Head.
On July 15th with this anniversary in mind, the Chapter made its third pilgrimage to Medway to again pay tribute to her, who is the ancestress of seven of the members, who stands as representative of all those noble in the Newton Chapter containing car, fruit and stationery to each woman of the family and cigars, fruit and candy to the veteran. Mrs. Bickmore was the recipient of a quilt made by a member of the family and the Home received a generous check from the visiting organizations.

Miss Aimee Bournouff of Chestnut Hill was the Class Marshal at the 53rd graduation exercises of Radcliffe College held Wednesday. She is the daughter of Mrs. V. M. Bournouff of Chestnut Hill. Miss Madeline Cobb of Newton Upper Falls was Chief Usher.

Under their guidance the group visited the old Meeting House on Rabbit Hill built in 1813, learned something of its history, and read the tablet placed in memory of Lydia Partridge Whiting by two of her descendants and members of the Chapter, Mrs. Daniels and Miss Barger; the place where Lydia was born, an interesting old well sweep still marking the site; and the cemetery where flowers were placed upon the grave and ivory planted (1 slip from Mr. Vernon) and a prayer read by Miss Cora Cobb.

Returning to the Historical Rooms, the formal exercises of the afternoon were held, the Regent, Mrs. Albion Brown presiding.
After a few cordial words of welcome from Mr. Hickson, Mrs. Brown brought a message from the Founder, Miss Head, and greetings from Mrs. Daniels were read. Mr. Mason in his interesting way again told the story of Lydia Partridge Whiting and briefly sketched the episodes of the bicentennial pageant to be held in Medway July 2nd. An original poem to L. P. W. was read by one of the descendants, Miss Anna Thompson and also a sketch "What Did She Do" written by Mrs. Daniels.

What the chapter had done to honor Lydia Partridge Whiting was reviewed briefly by Miss Marion Dorr.

SPECIAL INFORMATION RELATING TO RED CROSS LIFE-SAVING

The Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross commencing Monday, June 27th, and continuing through July and August will give life-saving instruction at Crystal Lake under the direction of Mr. Westgate. He is a recent graduate of Springfield College and has served before as instructor here in the city. Not only will instruction be given in life-saving but in swimming as well, and it should be of particular interest to all Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts to know that there is available for them here in our city the opportunity of gaining their merit badges for swimming and life-saving. We have splendid facilities at Crystal Lake with the new bath-house under the supervision of Mr. Hermann and the Playground Department.

The American Red Cross recognizes the steadily growing importance of removing water hazards as far as possible. Today with the heightened interest in swimming and the larger attention being given to water sports in schools, colleges and organized playgrounds, the American Red Cross is doing all that it can in co-operation with other organizations to present a water safety program attractive to old and young.

The City of Newton is particularly fortunate in having so accessible and well equipped bath-house and beach as that now located on Crystal Lake. The Newton Chapter of the Red Cross hopes that Newton residents will take the fullest possible advantage of the opportunity to learn to swim better and to gain instruction in life-saving such as will be given during the coming weeks.

For detailed information, phone Red Cross Headquarters, or best of all, report in person to Mr. Westgate in charge of instruction at Crystal Lake.

SONS OF VETERANS HOLD ANNUAL OUTING

The Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War and their Auxiliary held their annual outing at the Gov. John A. Andrew Home on Washington Park in Newtonville on Saturday, June 18. About 100 guests from various parts of the state were present among them being Department Commander, Lester D. Hobson of Hudson and Department President, Mrs. Maude B. Warren of Brockton. Mrs. Etta Smith Bickmore of Wakefield presented a program celebrating the bi-centennial anniversary of the birth of Washington, which consisted of a minute, with costumes of the period of 1776, a violin solo, and a flag exercise.

Mrs. Lue Stuart Wadsworth has been president of the Home for 15 years, where one veteran and his wife and the widows of ten veterans reside. The Home which is the only one of its kind in the state receives members from any state in the Union. A pleasant feature of the outing was the gift of a work basket containing car, fruit and stationery to each woman of the family and cigars, fruit and candy to the veteran. Mrs. Bickmore was the recipient of a quilt made by a member of the family and the Home received a generous check from the visiting organizations.

JUDGE ALLEN FINDS LEACH RESPONSIBLE FOR FATAL AUTO ACCIDENT

On Wednesday Judge W. Lloyd Allen made his report on the longest held on the death of Natalie Young, who was killed when the car in which she was a passenger crashed head-on into a large truck at Beacon street, near Stone avenue, Chestnut Hill, early on the morning of Memorial Day. Judge Allen's report places the blame for the girl's death on the reckless driving of Charles F. Leach, 21, of 206 Beethoven ave., Waban, who was operating the car in which the girl was riding. The judge's report says:

"I therefore find as a fact that the deceased came to her death through the aforesaid collision, that she died from the extensive breaking of the top of her skull and that said collision was caused by said Leach driving at a reckless, wanton and excessive rate of speed on the wrong side of a straight street where the view of the operator Leach was unobstructed. It was a clear night and the road was dry.

"I find that the unlawful act of Charles F. Leach contributed to the death of the said Natalie Young."

Leach was arraigned in the Newton court on May 31st and charged with drunkenness and driving while under the influence of liquor. He was not charged with manslaughter. His case was continued to June 27.
